DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Ames Methodist Church is located at the northwest corner of the intersection of Maryland Route 474 and Sennett Road in Hobbs, Caroline County. It is a small frame church in the Greek Revival style, probably constructed during the mid to late nineteenth century.

The one story structure has a gable roof with the east gable being the main facade. There is a central doorway with a double chamfer door frame, large two pane transom and pointed arch wood lintel. The box cornice with serpentine molding returns at the corners. The building is three bays deep with tall vertical 4/4 pane windows, flat molded wood lintels, and green louvered shutters. A low one story modern wing is built across the back of the church.
