This is a very large house constructed at different times. It is seven bays long. The right three bays are circa 1750 and the other four date from the early nineteenth century. The house is set on a very high basement. The door (in the old section) is reached by a very high stoop. The first story windows in the old section are 6/6 while those on the second story are tiny narrow 4/4 sashes. All the windows in the later part are 6/6. The basement has segmentally arched windows. There is a chimney enclosed in each end wall of the house. The old section has very elegant Georgian panelling. There are two ~~corner~~ cupboards in the front first story room flanking the fireplace. There is also old panelling in the upstairs rooms.

George Washington may have stopped at this house, <sup>as he mentioned</sup> ~~many~~ times.
The town is <sup>Warwick in his diary.</sup> ~~was~~ then called Warwick.

It has been ~~rest~~ restored, but slightly altered in the process.
