DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Mullen House is a two story brick structure three bays long by two bays deep. The brick has been laid in American bond on all sides except the facade (running with stone headers). In each gable end is an inside end chimney. The window sash is 4/4 on the facade and 6/6 in the gable ends. There is a cellar with stone walls. The floor joists are exposed and are log. The flooring is random width pine. There is a central stairway in the middle bay opposite the front doors. In the rear of the building is a winding stairway. The attic flooring is marked in Roman numerals. The Shutters on the first and second floor are lowered and there is a screened-in front porch. The roof is covered with slate and has a box cornice with cove molding.

A small clapboard addition has been built onto the rear of the building which has a porch and stove chimney. This house is almost identical to the Conrad House in Calvert.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The house was built in the early 19th century and was probably built by the same man who constructed the Conrad House in nearby Calvert. The Mullen House is one of the earliest buildings in Zion and, also, one of the few brick structures. Owners are interested in preserving the exterior appearance.
