DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Milestone No. 9(10), until sometime before 1950, marked Mason and Dixon's ninth mile west of the initial stone at the northeast corner of Maryland on their West Line. Originally, 24 monuments were set along the present Cecil/Chester and Lancaster county boundary (1 double crownstone at the corner set in 1768; 4 crownstones and 19 milestones in 1766). Of these, 3 crownstones and 17 milestones still stand; but, ^{the visible portion above ground of} No. 9(10) is not amongst them, having been broken off and gone by the time of the 1950 field inspection, and the base, probably still extending some 2' below ground has not yet been located. By the time of the 1979-82 field inspection, neither the site (base) nor the missing top had been found.

The area here is rural, rolling farmland interspersed by deciduous woodlands, sparsely settled. The site ^(now obliterated) is about ^{the scattered settlement of} 1/2 mile northwest of Lombard, Maryland; about 1/2 mile south ^{east} of the crossroads settlement of Chrome, Pennsylvania; about 600' due east of the Weaver house on the east side of PA T-320; in a cultivated field about 400' south of a deciduous woods. Until the site is redetermined through a resurvey by the National Geodetic Survey, the site cannot be seen; and the below-ground portion of the monument is thus unmarked.

Assuming the below-ground portion remains in place, and probably in reasonably good condition, there should be about 2' still unexposed, and probably surrounded by about a cubic yard of concrete, for it was reset in 1902, at the time of the 1900-03 Resurvey of the Maryland-Pennsylvania boundary. As with all original Mason and Dixon milestones, it was a squared oolitic limestone post, ^{with a low pyramidal top and rough-cut base,} quarried and carved in England, ^{set to stand} about 3' above ground. Although the top 12" or so are now missing, which had the capital letters P on the north side facing Pennsylvania and M on the south side facing Maryland, the base ^{measure about 12" square} would still be embellished with vertical fluting and horizontally-fluted margins on all four sides, and with a rough-cut bottom about 14" square by about 12" high.

(see Thematic Group NR nomination form for a description of original milestones and the 1900-03 Resurvey method of resetting)

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Milestone No. 9(10), the top (above-ground) of which has been missing since before 1950, remains significant as an archeologic (unexposed) site and with about two-thirds of the original stone of 1766 presumed still in place below ground. Although no longer visibly marking the Mason-Dixon Line, it will when the top is located or an appropriate substitution is made, utilizing the original portion.
