DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This true 1½ story frame house is built in a "T" plan. The three-bay south-facing main block is followed by a two-bay kitchen at the rear. The facade includes a central entrance, a porch, and a cross-gable. A porch covers either side of the kitchen. The west porch has been enclosed.

1/1 windows light the house. Two brick stove-flue chimneys heat the house, one on the interior of the kitchen's north end and the other on the exterior of the main section's east end.

Decorated brackets and exposed rafter feet embellish the porches. They are enclosed half-height with a solid concrete block balustrade.

Tarpaper covers the roof. Insul-brick sheathes the walls. A stone foundation underpins the main house.

A small frame shed stands north of the house.
