DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

710 Market Street is a two story, three bay by one bay, detached frame dwelling with a two story, three bay by one bay ell on the rear. The house is covered with asbestos shingles, painted white with blue trim, and has a low brick foundation. A large grassy lot on the south and west containing large trees and the view of the Susquehanna River flowing into the Chesapeake Bay make the location of the house, which faces east on Market St. extremely pleasant. The dwelling was built by William Moore, great grandfather of the present owner, sometime before 1858.

The house has a three bay front porch with jig saw cutout brackets and flat roof. A two story porch extends across the south wall of the ell; it is screened on the first floor and has a simple fence rail with posts supporting a shed roof on the second.

Windows are spaced evenly on the facade. On the first floor, they were lengthened and fitted with 6/1 sash by the present owner's grandfather; they are flanked by louvered shutters. Windows in the second story, facade have 6/6 light, pegged sash like those in the rest of the house.

The main entrance is in the north bay of the facade. The door has six vertical panels with a three light ransom above. A door is in both stories of the east bay of the ell.

The main section has a gable flank roof covered with asphalt shingles and the ell also has a gabled, asphalt roof. A rectangular brick, interior chimney straddles the ridge of the south side of the roof and another brick chimney is on the center of the ell.

Interior: The first floor is a one room wide with a side hall. Closed string stairs with a simple rounded hardwood post and handrail are on the north wall of the hall. A fireplace (closed) with a plain mantel is on the south wall of the front room. In the ell are the dinning room and the kitchen.
