DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

567 Green Street is a mid-19th century two story two bay by two bay rectangular frame dwelling with a two story, three bay wing flush with the east wall. The wing has a one story frame addition on the rear. The dwelling is covered with clapboards that are painted yellow and faces south on the corner of Green and North Stokes Street.

A three bay porch with a scroll bracketed shed roof supported by chamfered posts extends across the front of the house and the wing.

Windows are arranged symmetrically on the facade. They contain 6/1 light double hung sash throughout the house except in the attic gables and on the rear, where they have 6/6 lights.

Two entrances are on the front elevation; one door is in the west bay, main section and the other in the east bay of the wing. Both doors have glass in the upper panel and three light transoms above them. Scroll bracked hoods shelter the east and north elevation entrances. According to an old photograph, the center bay, west elevation-now a window, was a door with a ^{semi-circular} hood over it.

Both the main section and wing have gable flank roofs covered by asphalt shingle. Two brick chimneys with conbeled caps are on the east side of the main section roof.

The house has a spacious yard at the rear running back to an alley.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Charshee House was built c. 1850 by Bennett Charshee (1822-1902). Charshee, a carpenter by trade, advertised in the Madisonian, a local newspaper, in 1856 " Steam sash, door, shutter and frame manufactory, moldings and pilasters.... Ives and Charshee". Sometime after that, he became an agent for the DuBois Lumber and Planing Mill (see HA-1118), and in his later years was active in local politics, serving on the City Council.

The house itself is a two story two bay wide frame structure with an almost identical but lower wing on the side. It is situated on a corner and resembles another earlier dwelling with a side wing (HA-1102) which is located a few blocks from it.
