Ellicott City
Private

This small 1 1/2-story frame building had a stone chimney in its west gable end, with an exposed chimney back. Two bays wide, it had a door in its east bay and a small 6/6 window in its west. It had a fairly wide space between the east side of the door and the end of the building, making it look like almost three bays. The west gable end had two small windows in the attic level flanking the chimney stack.
