DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE
This house is located east of Clopper Road, southwest of Leitersburg in Washington County, Maryland. It is situated on high ground overlooking the Antietam Creek and faces southeast. The structure is a five bay, two story dwelling constructed of coursed and rubble local limestone. The front elevation displays some cutting in its stonework, while other elevations, except for simple quoining at corners, employ rubble work. Lower story openings at the front elevation are topped with flat arches. At the rear elevation, an outline of a gable provides evidence of a one story wing, which has been replaced with a one story, concrete block addition. The windows appear to have been spaced evenly in the front and side elevations. All window frames, sills and sashes are modern replacements. The main entrance is located in the center bay of the front elevation. The door appears to retain its original framing, consisting of wide wooden members secured with wooden pegs and trimmed with quarter round. The entrance is shielded by a one bay, one story shed roofed porch set on a concrete base. The roof is covered with sheet metal and extends beyond the end walls. The eaves boxing is finished with simple molding. Relatively small brick chimneys with corbels at their tops are located inside each gable end. The house is in good condition and is located on a tract containing 124.67 acres. South of the house is a modern frame barn which replaced an earlier stone structure which burned in 1947. Further to the south is a cemetery enclosed with a stone wall. Members of the Hartle family are buried in the plot, including John Hartle, George Hartle, Susan Marker, Nancy Hartle and Jacob Hartle all of whom died in the 1850's and 60's. Other markers could not be read. Entrance to this property is now made from Clopper Road with a lane which approaches the house from the rear. There is evidence of an earlier road which passed in front of the house, and according to the present owners, such a road did exist. It may have been part of an early wagon road, evidence of which has appeared at various points along the Antietam Creek.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The area of significance of this house is its architecture. Constructed of stone in the five bay, center front door plan, it is representative of a significant number of Washington County's early dwellings. Although it is not known when the house was built, it would appear to date from the late 18th or early 19th century. The house is said to have been built by Sebastian Hartle in 1800. Sebastian Hartle died in 1840, leaving his home farm to his son, Jacob. The property appears to have been owned by the Hartle family during the 19th century and early 20th centuries.
