DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This house is located south of Reid Road just west of the Western Maryland Railroad in Washington County, Maryland. It is situated on a slight slope and faces east.

The dwelling is a two story, five bay brick farm house set on stone foundations. A one story modern addition extends to the rear or west. The entire structure has been painted white. Bricks of the front elevation are laid in Flemish bond while the rear and side walls have American or common bonding with generally five courses of stretcher bricks between rows of headers. Flat arches of brick are present above the window and door openings.

The arrangement of windows and doors in the front elevation is unusual. Two windows are grouped at each end of the front wall. The main entrance is located between two windows in the second bay from the north end of the front wall. A belt course or protruding row of bricks extends across the front elevation just beneath the second story windows. This course may have helped to secure a one story porch roof. Windows and doors have narrow frames finished with a bead at the inside edge. Some windows are flanked with pairs of louvered shutters.

The roof is covered with modern asphalt shingles and terminates with a barge board set directly against the end walls. Brick chimneys with corbels at their tops are located inside each gable end. The house appears similar to another Eshleman homestead located north of Reid Road (WA-I-225).

A frame bank barn is located east of the house and a modern dairy barn stands north of the house. The property contains 109.871 acres, part of "Spriggs Paradise."

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This mid-19th century farmstead has for its entire history been the home of the Eshleman family, and is believed to have been built by Joseph Eshleman during the 1860's. The property has been a working farm for many years having been subdivided from a large plantation, "Spriggs Paradise" during the first half of the 19th century.

Peter Eshleman is said to have come to Washington County from Lancaster County, Pennsylvania with his wife Mary in 1831. They purchased a farm near the intersection of Reid Road and the Marsh Pike (WA-I-215). In 1846, Peter Eshleman bought this farm from Joseph Emmert (IN1/713). Emmert had earlier purchased the farm from John Reynolds and his wife Mariah Sprigg who had inherited one third of her father's 1,754 acre estate, "Spriggs Paradise."

Peter Eshleman sold the farm in 1855 to his son Joseph, the presumed builder of the house for $9987. (IN10/712). The property has descended through the Eshleman family to the present.
