A black and white photograph of a historical marker. The marker is a dark, rectangular sign with a decorative, arched top and a small circular emblem at the very top center. The emblem contains a coat of arms. The sign is mounted on a post and is set against a background of trees and a clear sky. The text on the sign is in a bold, sans-serif font, arranged in several lines. The main text describes Lancelot Jacques, a French Huguenot, and his partnership with Thomas Johnson in 1768 to build the Greenspring Furnace. It also notes that they dissolved their partnership in 1776 when Johnson became the first governor of Maryland, and that Jacques' house was built about 1766. At the bottom of the sign, it says 'STATE ROADS COMMISSION'.
