

SITE NUMBER: WA-V-314

ADDRESS: 22 Cumberland Street, Clear Spring, MD

OWNER/LOT NUMBER/ACCESS: St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 638/32

BUILDING DATE: 1840

St. Andrew's Episcopal Church is a south-facing, horizontally massed, one-story, three-bay x three bay, frame, freestanding, ecclesiastical structure. The building, which is set far back from the public-right-of-way on a landscaped lawn, rests on a stone foundation. The side-gable roof hold an open, frame belfry immediately at the roof line. The belfry is topped by a tall steep roof that provides a visual landmark at the west end of town. A pointed arched door is located in the center bay of the facade and is flanked by very narrow arched windows. A small quatrefoil-shaped window is directly above the door in the gable end. The side elevations each have three tall, arched windows. There is a sizable addition on the back of the church that is placed perpendicularly to the sanctuary.

The Episcopal church is noted on both the 1877 and the 1922 maps of Clear Spring. According to a history of the church prepared for the Clear Spring Historical Society by Maxine Brown and Lisa Poole, this building is located on original lot 48 which was transferred by Henry and Martha Firey to the Vestry of the Church in 1856, several years after the edifice had been erected. In 1839, the Episcopalian congregation in Clear Spring decided to erect a church, which was consecrated in 1840. Although the building was damaged during the Civil War, the decision was made not to demolish it, but, rather, repair it. The Sunday School addition dates to 1978.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic

Organization, the Development Period of Agricultural-Industrial Transition, and falls within the Historic Period Themes of Religion; and Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
