Ann Leonard House
St. Michaels
private

1842-1845

The Ann Leonard house, evidently built between 1842 and 1845, is one of the oldest original dwellings on St. Mary's Square. The chain-of-title for this property indicates that Ann Leonard financed the construction of this story-and-a-half frame house shortly after her purchase of "Lot 31" in 1842. Three years later, Ann Leonard had died, and the property, sold by Jeremiah and Rebecca Leonard for $400, was purchased by Thomas Keithley. The Keithleys retained title to the house until 1936, however they sold the south end of the lot in 1853 to Robert Lambdin. Roland C. Plummer and Lena A. Plummer purchased the house and corner lot in 1936.

The exterior of the three-bay frame house has been reworked with the addition of dormers in place of the original six-pane windows that lighted the second floor. Also, when the house was covered with artificial siding the exposed brick firewall on the east gable end was obscured. Additions have extended the house to the south. Despite the changes the house contributes to the historic nature of St. Mary's Square.

Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

Historically known as the Ann Leonard house and currently referred to as the Plummer house, the story-and-a-half frame house stands at 410 St. Mary's Square in the center of St. Michaels, Talbot County, Maryland. The house faces north with the principal gable oriented on an east/west axis.

Probably built between 1842 and 1845 the story-and-a-half frame house is supported by a minimal brick foundation, and it is sheathed with a layer of artificial vinyl weatherboard siding. The gable roof is covered with asphalt shingles. Attached to the west gable end is a slightly shorter story-and-a-half wing, and to the rear modern additions have been attached.

The north (main) facade is a three-bay elevation with a center replacement door sheltered by a gabled stoop. The flanking six-over-six sash windows are marked by louvered shutters that have been applied to the house. The second floor, now lighted by gabled dormers that interrupt the cornice, was originally illuminated by six-pane windows.

The east gable end is marked by six-over-six sash windows on the first floor and six-pane windows that light the second floor. Rising through the gable is an interior brick stack. Before the house was remodeled, a brick firewall was exposed between the first floor windows. The gable end is flush and trimmed with a plain bargeboard.

The west end, on the other hand, is largely covered by the contemporary story-and-a-half wing that displays similar details. Six-over-six sash windows and six-pane windows light the first and second floor, respectively. A story-and-a-half wing extends to the rear and attached to it are modern additions.

The interior was not seen.
