DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Two significant buildings, a three-part, two-story frame Victorian farmhouse and a frame tobacco barn, compose this farm. The three-bay east-facing house includes a perpendicular ell to the rear, followed by a one-story section. Gabled roofs cover all three sections.

The facade's entrance appears in the right-hand bay. Six over six sash windows occupy all other bays in the first two section. A small modern window lights the last, or "kitchen", section's north side. Plain flat boards frame each window.

A hip-roofed porch covering the facade features turned posts and decorated brackets. Interior brick stove-flue chimneys heat the main section's south end and the ell's west end. An exterior brick chimney appears at the west end of the kitchen. The house may have a side-hall, single-parlor plan. Lapped weatherboards sheath the house.

The barn stands about 100 yards southwest of the house. Its gable roof runs north-south, parallel to the farmhouse roof. Horizontal, slightly irregular weatherboards cover either gabled end. Sheds springing off just above the eaves line cover the south and east elevations. The top half of the sheds is sided with vertical boards, with an open area below. Square posts supporting the sheds stand on concrete blocks. All roof surfaces are covered with standing-seam metal.
