Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

This small turn-of-the-century dwelling faces east onto Calvert Street. It is a one-story two-bay-long shotgun house constructed of wood framing with weatherboard siding and six-over-six double-hung sash windows. The facade is two bays wide. There is a concrete stove flue built onto the exterior of the north side. The gable roof is covered with asphalt shingles. The house looks as though it is patched together from salvaged materials.
