DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE
Wilson farmhouse is similar to the Kral House on the adjoining farm and the Wainwright Farm near Rhodesdale. It is three bays long and three bays deep with a pedimented gable facade. Across the facade is a one story porch built in the early twentieth century. In the pediment are two oddly shaped windows resembling two sides of a lunette window with the center filled. The house is built on a brick foundation and has two chimneys on its back gable. The walls are covered with asbestos siding. The eastern bays of each side are doors. All the windows have 6/6 sash although the first story windows are taller than the second story. Behind, west of, the structure is a four bay, one and one-half story wing which has had part of its roof raised to create a shed dormer.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This building belongs to the group of late Federal style farmhouses which were built in the 1830's or 40's. It is a better designed house from the exterior, though the floor plans are similar, than the Kral House. Research on the structure may reveal that its owner/builder was an important figure in the community.
