DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This two story brick building as a cornice that is almost identical to 440 Race Street (Revco). There are five windows across the second story, each with a segmental arch above. The facade is fairly plain with the exception of two recessed rectangles above the upper windows. Between the first and second story is another cornice with large dentils.

This building was constructed in 1919 and is not particularly significant in itself from an architectural or historical point of view. It is one of many surviving late nineteenth and early twentieth century commercial buildings in downtown Cambridge whose first stories have been remodeled, but whose upper stories remain relatively unaltered.
