The John C. Bailey, Jr. house stands on the west side of Main Street at the south end of the village of Quantico, Wicomico County, Maryland. The two-story, three-bay frame dwelling faces east with the gable roof oriented on a north/south axis.

Built around 1945-46, the two-story center hall frame dwelling is supported by a stretcher bond brick foundation, and it is sheathed with a layer of vinyl siding. The medium pitched roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

The east (main) facade is a symmetrical three-bay elevation with a center entrance and six-over-six sash windows flanked by vinyl shutters. The front door is framed by sidelights. Lighting the second floor are three six-over-six sash windows. The base to the roof is finished with a boxed cornice.

Attached to the south gable end is a hip roofed porch, and an exterior brick chimney rises against the wall. Six-over-six sash windows light the first and second floors, and small two-over-two sash windows illuminate the attic.

The north gable end is marked by six-over-six sash windows on each floor and two-over-two sash light the attic.

The interior was not seen.
