c. 1900-10

The former Tyaskin post office is a small single-story, weatherboard frame structure that stands on the side of the road in the center of the village. The two-bay, gable-front frame structure dates from the turn of the century and features a steeply pitched roof and a one-room plan lighted by two-over-two sash windows. The Tyaskin post office was housed in this structure during the first half of the twentieth century. A long-time postmaster and his wife, Reed and Sylvia Larmore, occupied the two-and-a-half story cross-gabled house that stands on the same lot.

Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The old Tyaskin post office is located on the west side of Tyaskin Road in the center of the village of Tyaskin, Wicomico County, Maryland. The single-story, one-room plan frame building faces east with the gable roof oriented on an east/west axis. The old post office stands alongside the road in front of the Reed Larmore house (WI-325).

Built around 1900, the single-story, one-room plan frame structure is supported by a low brick pier foundation, and the exterior is covered with plain weatherboards. The building is covered by a steeply pitched asphalt shingle roof.

The front (east) wall is a two-bay elevation with a side entrance filled with a partially glazed early twentieth century door. The adjacent bay is pierced by a two-over-two sash window. The edge to the roof is finished with an extended eave, and the soffits remain open. The plain rafter ends are exposed.

The north and south side elevations are marked by single two-over-two sash windows centered on the wall surface. Rising against the back wall is a single flue brick stove chimney.

The interior was not seen.

A long-time postmaster and his wife, Reed and Sylvia Larmore, occupied the two-and-a-half story cross-gabled house that stands on the same lot.

The buiding deserves listing in Category A, since it is an unusual survival of a now rare type of building, and it contributes to the early twentieth century character of Tyaskin.
