Description of Property and Justification: (Please attach map and photo)

Constructed just over 50 years ago, in 1950, there is nothing to distinguish the old Johnsville School building architecturally from any other school building constructed in the period in Carroll County; and this building has suffered sever alterations of the front and rear elevations when the windows were replaced and the fenestration pattern altered by closing in some openings and creating others in different places. Its sole claim to significance can be from its likely status as the last segregated black school building constructed in Carroll County, and there is little or nothing to the building that would suggest that this was a black school.
