

ful ceremony, and during the whole course of his life, he exhibited a manly fortitude of mind, and a truly Christian resignation of spirit, to the will of his Maker. On the Friday following his remains were attended to the place of interment by a numerous and respectable body of the inhabitants, whose feelings, on that occasion, testified a sincere respect and affection for their departed fellow-citizen. His talents and integrity in the high office he held, have added reverence and honour to his name. As a husband, a parent and a master, he can only be described by those who have experienced his virtues in these capacities. His affability and constant cheerfulness of temper, which the anguish of a painful disorder could never quite extinguish, and not often interrupt, endeared him to his acquaintances. In a word, the public and private virtues of this valuable man render his loss a subject of real concern and importance to his country, of deep affliction to his family, and sincere sorrow to his friends."

To the FREEMEN of ANNE-ARUNDEL COUNTY.

GENTLEMEN,
THE near approach of the election, has induced me to notify, that I shall not be a candidate to represent you the ensuing year.—In doing which, permit me to return you my sincere thanks for the repeated marks of confidence with which you have honoured me.—At present, I am persuaded, that the establishment of the new constitution has rendered the happiness or prosperity of the people of Maryland very little dependent on those internal regulations which remain within the limits of state legislation.—Under these impressions, I could entertain no hopes of effecting any measures that could materially promote the public interest, and my private business requires my immediate attendance elsewhere.—Should, however, any future occasion occur that may require the free opinions and determined conduct of the friends of the American revolution, I beg leave to assure my fellow-citizens of Anne-Arundel, that I will be among the foremost to offer my services, and solicit again the honour of their suffrages.
