

OFFICE OF THE
COMMISSIONERS FOR OPENING STREETS,
HOEN BUILDING,

BALTIMORE, April 30, 1908.

JAMES H. SMITH, ESQ.,

President Board of Commissioners.

For Opening Streets.

SIR:

With some unimportant exceptions, I have completed the work of deciding which thoroughfares in the City of Baltimore that have the names the same as or similar to others, should, in my opinion, retain their present names, and also of suggesting new names for the remainder. A list of about 1,000 such thoroughfares is hereto appended (List I). In the first column are the present names; in the second, the section where the thoroughfare is situated, taking Baltimore street and Charles street as the divisional lines; in the third, the proposed future names; and in the fourth, my reasons for changing or retaining the present names, as the case may be. In determining which thoroughfares should, in my judgment, retain their names, I have been guided largely by considering their relative extent, as well as by priority and official character of designation, as shown by a consultation of ordinances, plats, maps, etc., bearing upon the subject; while, in suggesting new names, I have considered names of neighboring property owners, past and present, and of public and private buildings in the vicinity, and also former or alternate names of other thoroughfares of which they form a direct or disconnected continuations. Where there is obviously a special reason for changing, or recognizing an official change in the name of one or more of a group of similarly named thoroughfares, the reason for retaining it in the case of the other is given as "duplication removed."

Herewith I give likewise a list of about 200 thoroughfares having more than one name for different parts or continuations thereof (List II), and a list of about 250 thoroughfares having more than one name for the same parts or entire lengths (List III). In each of these lists are four columns; first, the names of the thoroughfares in alphabetical order; secondly, the sections of the city in which they are located; thirdly, their alternate names; and, fourthly, the proposed future names, selected with a view of having one name only for each thoroughfare or continuation thereof throughout its entire extent.

To these three lists I have added a fourth (List IV), comprising suggested names for the numbered streets in the western part of the city. I have thought it advisable that there should be but one series of numbered streets within the present city limits, namely, those north of and parallel with North avenue, as for these there seems to be some reason from the fact that their names indicate the number of streets north of Baltimore street, and that thus the numbers of the houses on the north and south streets crossing these numbered streets correspond with the designations of the cross streets themselves. Consequently, it has seemed desirable to choose new names for the north and south numbered streets beginning with First street (next west of and parallel with Bentalou street) and including Twentieth street near the present western boundary of the city. Similar considerations have induced me to change the names of the numbered avenues in the northern and northwestern parts of the city (brought in by annexation), especially as there are sets of numbered streets and avenues also on the eastern outskirts of the city in Canton, although not actually within the area of the city itself.

Trusting that the suggestions contained in these four lists may prove acceptable to your Board, as well as to the City Council and the citizens of Baltimore in general, and may help to remove, at least in part, the existing confusion and annoyance caused by the numerous instances of duplication in the street names of the city, I am,

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM H. BRUNE.
