

This image shows two pages from an open ledger book. The pages are ruled with vertical lines to create columns and a horizontal line to create a header section. The left page has a diagonal line at the top, and the right page has a horizontal line at the top. The pages are blank, with no text or data entered.