

and then consult you. I hope you mean to do as I requested and christen your Boy. I wish you would If you know any of your mother's friends tell them that I shall not let him go into another ship, he is my wife's son - and does not eat the Bread of Idleness he is a clever Boy - I like him much I wish my wife was here I shall have an opportunity of promoting some of my friends - before I send word with me if I could get hold of him - Winton Bradford. I consider as my justice but I cannot expect to assist many.