A.M.E. HOME FOR THE AGED GETS THE NEW LOOK—Completely redecorated and refurnished, the A.M.E. Home of the Aged at 112 N. Aisquith St. is now the most attractive and comfortable institution of its type in the city. The church recently spent $6,000 in improvements. These pictures were taken during dedication services last week when, in the first panel, Mrs. Louisa Coe, 95, the oldest inmate, was visited by Mrs. Sarah Sullivan and Mrs. Mary E. Moseley; and at right, Mrs. Anna Monroe, 83, got a cheerful word from Bishop and Mrs. George W. Baber and the Rev. J. M. Gibson, chairman of the Home for the Aged Committee.

IN OUR CHURCHES

As the Lenten season got under way this week, the Baptist Ministers Conference re-enacted the request that all churches be kept open during Holy Week in a national citizenship rights observance.

As proposed by the Rev. Hiram E. Smith, chairman of the civic committee, the purpose is to devote the week to prayer and fasting for suffering people in general and for the civil rights status of the colored race in particular.

President Truman, State governors, and educational, fraternal, civic and religious organizations have been asked to co-operate in the program.

Services at Morgan

Under the direction of the Rev. Howard Cornish, regular church services are held at 10:30 a.m. each Sunday at the Morgan Christian Center where the chapel seats 400 persons.

The center's 1947 income statement shows $11,635 including $5,419 from the Endowment Fund and $5,465 from the various Methodist Church conferences.

The Delaware, Washington and Baltimore Conferences of the Methodist Church, designated the entire Race Relations Day offerings collected last Sunday to the center program.

Communion to Shut-ins

Pastor of Emanuel C. C. Church, the Rev. Wilbur H. Waters has been invited by Judge Herman M. Moser to assist the Grand Jury investigation of reported police brutality, negligence and race prejudice in the neighborhood.

On last Sunday, the deacons and deaconesses of Emmanuel Church served holy communion to 35 shutins under leadership of John Shepherd. Nearly 500 communicants, including confinement cases, received the communion sacrament.

The BYPU's 13th annual Negro History Day program will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Macedonia Baptist Church, Lafayette and Fremont Ave.

Speaker will be Dr. Nick A. Ford, director of Negro Work at Kansas State College. Associated pictures, magazines and news articles will be on display. Chandler Taylor is president of the BYPU and the Rev. W. L. Clayton, pastor of the church.

Youth Program Set

Mrs. Margaret R. Ford of Little Falls, N.Y., will lead a discussion on "Baha'i—A World Program" at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Baha'i Center, 527 N. Charles St.

In more than 80 countries, universally minded young people, realizing the need for unity in world understandings have accepted the principles of the Baha'i faith working for a united world and lasting peace.

Dr. T. L. Scott of Mount Zion AME Church in Roanoke, Va., is closing out a successful revival service at St. John AME Church at 8 o'clock tonight (Friday). The Rev. Harrison J. Bryant is host pastor.

Tribute to Gandhi

The Rev. E. Adolph Haynes, pastor of Ames Methodist Church, paused during a recent Sunday morning service to pay tribute to the late Mohandas K. Gandhi.

He said:

"Coming out of his 18th fast for the liberation of his oppressed people—this indomitable benefactor, this colossal-minded Emancipator, this altruistic patriot, this 100% Christian in principal, this consistent apostle of non-resistance putting his hand over his face in a gesture purported to mean "God bless my enemy" passed to his reward.

"No wonder his disciple Nehru in desperation, the light has gone out of India.' In an address months ago Gandhi made this significant statement: 'I am not a Christian I have great adoration for the Christian Christ, but on the closest scrutiny I find him nowhere in the Christian religion.'

"Peace to his ashes. He saved others, himself he could not save."

Lenten Book Recommended

Lenten suggestions in the "Christian Century," the most widely read Christian magazine in the country recommend reading of the two "Factors in the Lenten Scene" booklet authored by the Rev. C. Baker Pearle, pastor of Payne AME Church.

The Rev. John T. Colbert and the Payne Church choir of senior voices will take part in interracial services to be held at Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church on Reisterstown Road tonight (Friday).

Miss Ruth E. Northcott, itinerary missionary to Africa, will be guest speaker at Sharp St. Methodist Church at 11 a.m. Sunday and at Metropolitan Methodist Church at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. J. Timothy Boddie, pastor of Shiloh, and members of the congregation, will make their annual visit to the community service of Morning Star Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon.
