she hit the sidewalk she burst wide open. By that time the firemen arrived and soon came out of the house with the body of little Clarence. His charred body was found curled up under the window from which the two woman had jumped." The damage was confined to the third floor of the premises, which was gutted. On Thursday, members of the fire department were still investigating the blaze to determine the origin.

Robertson Life Saver

Henry Robertson, who happened to be visiting friends in a third-floor rear room, was the hero of the tragedy.

Mr. Robertson, a construction company laborer, rapped on the doors of the other apartments and even kicked open one door to save the occupants.

The bodies of the two older victims were claimed by another sister, Mrs. Isabella Bond of 236 N. Mount St. She and still another sister, Mrs. Agnes Gilbert of 1607 Edmondson Ave., are making funeral arrangements.

Funeral rites for the deceased persons have been set for 2:30 p.m. on Saturday at the Harlem Square Baptist Church, Riggs Ave. and Whatcoat St.

A wake will be held tonight (Friday) at 1607 Edmondson Ave., on the third floor at the home of a Mrs. M. Gilbert. The bodies will rest at the Metropolitan Funeral Home, 903 N. Mount St.

Council Forwards Streets Program

Okays City Purchase of Lot on Eutaw St.

Plans for connecting Druid Hill Ave with Centre St. were augmented, Monday, with the passage by the City Council of a bill authorizing the city to purchase a parking lot at Eutaw St. and Druid Hill Ave.

Acquisition of the lot will enable the city to use that area for the direct flow of traffic downtown when and if Druid Hill Ave. is made a one-way thoroughfare.

These plans, however, are being tied up by a pending court suit filed against the city by residents of Druid Hill Ave. and McCulloh St., who object to the change of either of these streets for one-way traffic.

Accept CPC's Suggestion

In passing the parking lot purchase ordinance, the council accepted the City Planning Commission's recommendation against an amendment which would have saved a portion of the lot for commercial reasons, but would have affected the AFRO-AMERICAN building at Druid Hill Ave. and Eutaw St.

Parking lot interests sought to have the traffic swing several feet south on Eutaw St. before crossing what is now the lot area.

Paul Holland, director of public works, pointed out that this plan would have bottled up traffic directly in front of the AFRO office, and the Planning Commission sustained his objection by voting against the amendement.

8,000 Idle, 40 Ships Tied Up as Waterfront Strike Goes On

As the waterfront strike entered its sixth day on Thursday it had tied up some 40 ships and caused approximately 8,000 workers, most of them colored, to remain idle.

The strike, called by the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), is being staged simultaneously with others along the East and West Coasts. Increased wages, a welfare fund and longer vacations are being sought.

Loss of pay on the waterfront here is estimated at between $50,000 to $100,000 a day and an unknown cost in the delay of movement of goods.

200,000 Tons Held Up

It was estimated more than 200,000 tons of freight is being held up in the nearly 3,500 railroad cars tied up.

The strike was called in New York on Nov. 10 and soon spread to other cities crippling shipping and causing approximately 45,000 longshoremen to stop work.

The ILA has 12 locals here, the first of which was organized in 1911. Colored longshoremen are members of six of these locals. Their chief is Jeff Davis, vice president of the Atlantic Coast division and organizer for the port of Baltimore.

No Trial Date Set for Edwards

The Anne Arundel County Grand jury, on Tuesday, indicted Thomas A. Edwards, 24, of Marley Neck, in connection with the double slaying in Glen Burnie, but at presstime no trial date had been set.

Though confined in the Baltimore City jail, Edwards will be tried in the Circuit Court in Annapolis on a date to be set by State's attorney James C. Morton of Anne Arundel county.

Meanwhile, police continue to question the suspect in an effort to clear up details.

Motive Not Established

They have been unable, to date, to find out what happened to a watch and wallet reported missing. Police also question the true motive.

It was said that Edwards became angered when the couple, Mary Kline and John H. Mahlan, almost struck him as their car sped along a Ferndale road toward a parking lane.

Edwards was indicted on two murder counts after testimony had been given by the State's Attorney Police Chief Henry J. Kriss of the Baltimore detective bureau.

The suspect is said to have confessed the double slaying which occurred on Sept. 17 to Captain Kriss last week.

CARVER ASSURED OF TIE FOR SAH CROWN

Phelps Win Over Cardozo Will Give Trainers Title

Sodie White's Youngsters Clinch 1st Place Deadlock With Clean Slate

By SAM LACY

Carver Vocational High School's football forces have clinched a first-place tie in the South Atlantic High School Conference race for 1948.

Coach Sodie White's youngsters are awaiting with interest the outcome of the Cardozo-Phelps game on November 23. The reason: a victory for Phelps over the Clerks will mean a conference title for the Trainers.

Regardless of the result of that game, however, the Purple and White Baltimore city champions can do no worse than finish in a deadlock for the conference crown.

The South Atlantic Conference, like the CIAA, is decided under the Dickinson Rating System. Both Carver and Cardozo are undefeated for the season, with the former having concluded its schedule and the latter having the one game with Phelps remaining.

Don't Meet

Unfortunately, they do not meet each other.

Strangely, this year's race wound up with only the two contending teams finishing in what is known under the Dickinson System as "the first division."

This "first division" includes only those teams in a league or conference which have won more games than they have lost. Except for Carver and Cardozo, no team in the SAH can boast better than a .500 rating, meaning the same number of victories and defeats.

Can Phelps Do It?

The result is that, if Cardozo beats Phelps, which she is favored to do, both the Clerks and the local outfit will have six wins against no defeats. And all six wins will be "second division" victories for each.

Broken down under the Dickinson System, this gives each school 120 points (20 for each second division triumph), and a season average of 20.

Phelps, which has won 3 games and lost the same number, will move into the first division if she defeats Cardozo. This, of course, will knock Cardozo out of a 20 rating and will also increase Carver's because the latter will then get credit for 30 points for its victory over Phelps. Such an eventuality will drop Cardozo to a 19.17 average, and will raise Carver to a 21.67.

Taylor Brilliant as Tenn. Scores

NASHVILLE, Tenn.— Returning to the form that gained them a national championship last year, the Tennessee State Tigers rolled over Lincoln University of Missouri, 32-0, here Saturday

Nat Taylor was at his peak. He threw three touchdown passes on plays carrying for 32, 40 and 46 yards respectively. He set up a fourth touchdown with an 18-yard pass.

His most spectacular play came on the first touchdown. He threw a 27-yard pass to Joe Herndon who scored, but the play was called back and Tennessee was penalized five yards for off-side. Taylor coolly dropped back and tossed a 32-yard pass to the same Joe Herndon in exactly the same spot for a touchdown.

Taylor was not alone in stellar performance; for Herndon, Glasco Franklin and Robert Tapscott caught his unerring passes with men swarming all over them.

The Tennessee forward wall came in for its share of glory as Clarence Nails, Raleigh Wynne, Billy Dixon and John Saunders broke through time after time to smear Lincoln ball carriers for huge losses. The line also gave Taylor the time he needed to spot his receivers.

Lincoln showed three great players in Reginald Kimbrough at tackle, Leonard Mershon at center and Willian Robinson at halfback. But they were not enough to stop the Tennessee avalanche.

Hornet-Saint Tilt Holds N.C. Spotlight

RALEIGH, N.C.—The attention of North Carolina sports fans will be centered Saturday on the St. Augustine's-Delaware State College game to be staged at Chavis Park.

It will be the only CIAA game in the State, and one of the few colored gridiron attractions in the section, since most of the teams will be saving themselves for their Thanksgiving Day contests.

The Saints have attracted wide attention by fielding one of their best teams in many years. Coach Ray D. Moore, building on the work initiated by former Coach Russell Blunt, who started football on a post-war basis at St. Aug, has turned out an aggregation featuring a speedy, deceptive and aggressive backfield.

The running and passing attack, led by Raymond Miles, sophomore of Washington, D.C., has piled up 164 points and 25 touchdowns in five games. The Fighting Horses did not score against last year's champions, Shaw, though playing one of their best games of the season, and losing, 12-0.

Joe Perry Tallies, But 49ers Lose

CLEVELAND — A sensational second-half uprising completely extinguished a hot and roaring San Francisco 49er scoring machine and gave the Cleveland Browns a 14-7 victory in Municipal Stadium here Sunday afternoon before the largest crowd ever to see a pro football game, 82,769 fans.

The Browns clinched their tenth straight victory and assumed leadership in the Western division of the All-America League.

Joe Louis, in town for an exhibition boxing match with Jimmy Bivens on Wednesday, Nov. 17, participated in the automobile raffle.

The Browns, capitalizing on a kick-off fumble, took first blood, scoring a six-ponter a few minutes after the opening gun when Otto Graham, the elusive quarterback, raced fourteen yards around right end into pay dirt after finding his potential receivers covered. Earlier Graham had unsuccessfully flicked a short pass to Marian Motley on the first play of the game.

Perry Scores

The 49ers came back later in the opening period, scoring up their sole marker when Joe Perry, former Compton Junior College star, shot into the end zone from the two-yard line to climax an 80-yard downfield march.

Perry was the hero of the comeback, snaring two of Frankie Albert's jump passes for a total of 14 yards and then smashing 5 yards through the strongest line in pro football on two tries of his own. He accounted for two first downs in the downfield drive and when he bolted through the Brown's line for the score, he received a huge ovation.

Motley a chief target of the 49ers, carried the pigskin 20 yards on the kickoff for one of his best gallops of the day.

Bob Mike, 220-pound right tackle, who formerly played for Florida A. and M. College and UCLA, saw service for the 49ers as did Horace Gillom, former University of Nevada star, as offensive left end for the Browns.

AFRO score sheets gave Motley, the leadgue-leading ground gainer, only 26 yards for 9 attempts while Perry picked up 38 yards in 10 tries.

Six Play Leading Roles as NYU Falls to Rutgers

By JOSEPH N. SEWARD

NEW YORK — Yankee Stadium was the scene of a lot of football on Saturday when New York University played host to a power-laden Rutgers University eleven before a sparse crowd of 10,000 fans. Rutgers won, 40-0.

Three colored athletes saw regular action for each side, with the Rutgers triumvirate of Hank Pryor, Harvey Grimsley, and Hank Pryor stealing the spotlight. Pryor, flashy left halfback for the Scarlet, scored two touchdowns and was easily the best runner on the field.

The NYU trio of Stan Taylor at left halfback, Phil Cox at tackle, and substitute guard, Al Hopewell, were outstanding factors when their team held tenaciously in the first half, allowing the heavily-favored winners only one score.

Pryor Scores First

Rutgers scored the first time by getting the ball in the initial stanza with Pryor covering the last 19 yards on an end sweep. Taylor returned the ensuing kickoff to his own 28, and then sprinted around right end for 23 yards, but that was the total NYU offensive for the first half.

Pryor was on the receiving end of a 40-yard aerial from quarterback, Frankie Burns, which placed the ball on the hosts' 6, and a sensational punt return, also by Hank, put the ball on the NYU 23, but on both occasions, one of Hammerin' Henry's teammates fumbled. So Rutgers left the field at halftime with a scant 6-0 margin.

The pattern of play in the second half started off much like the previous 30 minutes as the Scarlet again scored the first time she got her hands on the leather. Pryor got off on a 13-yard gallop during the drive that covered the distance in six plays, all on the ground.

The third Scarlet score came four minutes later, when Pryor snagged a Burns aerial in the end zone. The play, which covered 10 yards, climaxed a 50-yard march. A Burns to Grimsley pass play, in which Harvey scampered into the end zone, only to be called back for stepping out of bounds on the 9-yard marker, covered 30 yards and was the highlight of the drive.

Four minutes later the Jerseyites scored again as the game took on the proportions of a rout. Bucky Hatchett caught his first pass this season when he leaped high to take a 17-yard Burns pass on the NYU 37. Hatchett, a rangy end, was one of the leading pass receivers in the East last season, but injuries and his mother's death have kept him on the sidelines most of the current campaign.

Pryor followed up Buck's reception with a 10-yard dash, and three plays later Rutgers had scored on a 22-yard pass play, Burns to Winkefried. Pryor's sub, Dick Cramer, scintillated 30 yards as the fourth period got under way and the Scarlet led, 34-0, over what was by this time a wilting violet. Pryor, still pressing hard, set up the final score of the afternoon with a 28-yard punt return in which he avoided just about every player on the NYU team before being pulled down from behind on the New Yorkers' 30. A pass lateral play scored for the Scarlet a few plays later.

New Yorkers Good

Cox and Hopewell played well on the NYU line, and the former was its key member. A colored end was used sparingly by the Violet. The boy, George Stark by name, dropped a pass, recovered a fumble and then dropped two more passes during his brief stay in the contest.

Taylor, the Violets' best runner, has been subbing for another colored star, Bill Payne of Jersey City, but Payne was out this week with a banged-up ankle, so Taylor got his chance. And a good job he did, too, even in a losing cause.
