STROLLING the AVENUE

Sometimes a guy has to travel half way across the country to get a break and that's the way that things went for Tommy Mosley, the youngster with the romantic voice who is currently singing at the CLUB CASINO.

An engaging fellow with a winning smile and a warm personality, Tommy was setting the record straight on his career this weekend at the CASINO as in the background Pete Martin and his music makers were getting ready for the downbeat that would set off their first number of the night.

"I was in Fort Worth, Texas, singing at a club when I tried out in the Horaee Heidt competition," Tommy recallled.

What happened after that was just a little short of amazing. Tommy walked off with top honors and right into a seven months' connection with the Heidt aggregation that took him across the face of the country and into the hearts of countless fans.

* * *

SINCE LEAVING Heidt, Tommy has been going at things as my has been going at thngs at a single and is doing a mighty good job as witness his current work at the CASINO.

Next thing in line is a recording date with strings in the background that should give his career quite a boost.

Tommy is a native of Baltimore and started singing in 1948 when he came out of the Navy.

Some night clubers may remember him under the name of Otis Mosley, but whatever the name, the guy has talent and his technique with a ballad gives the CASINO a wonderful attraction that deserves repeat visits.

* * *

THE CLUB itself, as usual, is tastefully decorated and you are always assured of receiving the best in refreshments, service and entertainment.

It's a perfect place for relaxation, and they even have a parking lot for the customers.

So this weekend why not visit the CASINO and listen to Tommy and the music of Pete Martin with such talent as George Muldrow who plays a lot of sax and Willie Woodley who beats a lot of drums.

Walked into the CLUB TIJUANA Saturday afternoon just as the regular jazz session ended, and there was Joe Mazer sitting at one of the tables eating what appeared to be chopped liver as he spoke of what a wonderful time the patrons had at the session.

Every Saturday sees the Inter-racial Jazz Society sponsor another of these top-notch sessions with the best of talent. This week the jazzsters will be the Sinbads and that means a terrific session.

* * *

BEFORE WE left, we had the chance to talk with Miss Mildred Anderson who walked into the club wearing a saucy little white hat and her usual smile.

Miss Anderson, who made a name for herself with the Bill Doggett group, has just completed a stint in Buffalo.

Her voice is as wonderful as ever. Backed by the Eddie (Lock Jaw) Davis group, she is sensational!

Miss Anderson says she is convinced that the current popularity being enjoyed by rhythm and blues number is here to stay, because as she puts it: "They swing."

* * *

SHE HAS a current record out by the title of "I Didn't Have a Chance With You," and in the offing is another recording session.

The patrons of the CLUB TIJUANA, one of the prettiest in town, are really going for Miss Anderson's vocalizing and after hearing her you can understand why.

Behind the bar are Ellanor Smith and Marie Bailey. Waitresses incude Thelma Rita, Willa Mae, Clara and Myrtle. That hat check girl is Jean.

Wouldn't be fair to close out these notes about TIJUANA without a mention of the amateur show on Monday night that gives local talent a chance to show their wares and to compete for a week's engagement at the smart TIJUANA.

* * *

FLINK JOHNSON rode by on Druid Hill Ave., the other afternoon and passed on the information that he was opening that night at CHICK'S LOUNGE, Baltimore and Greene Sts.

No newcomer to the music business, Flink is a man of many songs who is able to shift from the strains of rock and roll to the semi-classics without batting an eyelash.

A great artist and entertainer, Flink is a welcome attraction at CHICK'S Lounge.

If you hear the sounds of calypso drifting from the SPOT MUSICAL BAR on the Avenue, you can make book that the man responsible is Cornell Muldrow, a 22-year-old pianist who sports a goatee and plays the piano and sings at the same time.

* * *

A PRODUCT of Baltimore, Cornell has already put in three years at Morgan State College as a music major and plans to return in February.

Meanwhile, he is at the SPOT and doing a tremendous job. One of his top numbers is a thing he calls "Little Bamboo" with plenty of rhythym and catchy lyrics.

It's a product of his own fertile imagination which leans toward the Afro-Cuban style.

Cornell comes from a rather large family, six boys and five girls. His sister, Anna Lee, was a student at Juilliard in New York and his brother, George, plays saxophone with the aforementioned Pete Martin group. Cornell's group really moves and provides a lot of entertainment. Filling out the outfit are Eugene Gross and Charles Thomas, drummers.

UP AT RICTOR'S RED FOX LOUNGE, sweet Ethel Ennis scored another of her accustomed smash hits last weekend with a personal appearance at the club where she got her start.

The CLOVER CLUB has the music of the Seven Imperials; Irving Bean is at the CLUB ASTORIA; Jerry Nelson is at JONES' COCKTAIL LOUNGE, and it's the Two Jacks and a Jill at the Garrison Lounge, 3403 Clifton Ave.

Of special interest to all the Social Security workers is the fact that every other Wednesday night at the CLUB PAREE on Pennsylvania Ave. near Clifton, is Social Security night.

That means you get a double drink for the price of a single which we think is a pretty good idea for Social Security workers and for everybody else who likes a good time, and that includes just about everybody.

Live music is at the club on Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Serving you will be such lovelies as Sylvia Lund, Tolla Brown, Gloria Gross and Gladys Owens.

In case you have wondered what all that activity is that you have seen at Fulton and Baker Sts., its the extension to the FULTON LOUNGE and the grand opening has been set for Dec. 11, 12 and 13.

CLUB CAIRO at Vincent and Cairo Sts., is under new management; CLUB 511 has Dottie Stearns; pleasure is the keyword at the CROSSROADS, Fulton and Pennsylvania, and the COMEDY CLUB is offering its floor show and planning to bring in big name acts on a weekly basis at the start of the year. That's it. Have fun.

Two stories win caller top Newstip week award

Again this week, alert Newstippers used their telephones to snare checks which will certainly come in handy around this time of year. Tiptop tipster is the man who called in two tips, on the death of a longshoreman on the job and on an automobile accidents; he collects $7.

The next highest award, $3.50, goes to the first caller on the rag factory fire. Checks for $2.50 are paid for tips on: the baby who died after an operation for a hole in his heart, and a two-car accident in the 1700 block of McKean.

Two-dollar checks go out for these tips: three members of the same family celebrating Christmas anniversaries, and a fire at 1037 N. Broadway.

* * *

THE FOLLOWING tips get $1 each: Bus - truck crash at North Ave. and Druid Hill; two-car crash at Presbury and McKean; girl hit by auto on Arch St.; second call on Warner and Lee St. fire, and the fire on Carrollton Ave.

You too can collect a nice check for Newstips. Whenever you see something of interest, just call the AFRO City Desk and say: "I've got a Newstip."

Numbers to call for Newstips are: MU. 5-6015, 6016, 1812 and 1813. If no answer, call LA. 3-2811.

THERE'S A LUCKY picture in this and every edition of the AFRO. Look for it. If you head is circled, you can collect $5 cash by calling at AFRO City Desk before the next edition is out.

Moments Musical

A festival of religious music marked the opening of the annual "Religion in Life Week"

As the presiding officer, James H. Carter stated "the event is in no sense a competitive one, but rather, one of a happy series of contrasts."

Following the meditation and invocation by Dr. Richard McKinney, chairman of the week, the festival opened with anthems by the Har Sinai Temple Choir, conducted by Cantor Henry Cooper.

The works were sung in Hebrew, with translations given before each number by the Cantor. The singers concluded their part of the program by singing the traditional Hanukah (Feast of Lights) hymn known as "Rock of Ages" (not the Christian version). This was sung in observance 9f a festival which is observed by persons of the Jewish faith in December.

* * *

AS IS traditional in the temple service, a solo by the Cantor marked the beginning of each anthem.

Although there were moments of tenderness and warmth, expecially in the "Toras Adaonay" (The Law of the Lord), the music was, for the most part, majestic and awe-inspiring — a fitting tribute to the One God, Jehovah. All of the works were accompanied by Edward C. O'Dell, at the piano.

The Morgan State College Choir, conducted by Clarence Henderson, sang a modern setting of "By The Waters of Babylon" (Philip James); the well known "Lamb of God" by Bizet, and two spirituals, "Jacob's Ladder" (Wilson) and "Good News" (Dawson).

The folk songs, although in rather elaborate scoring, carried the warm, persnal appeal of evangelism.

Bizet's work was an excellent example of religious music which was influenced by the operatic standards and structure of the romantic period in music history.

* * *

"BY THE Waters of Babylon' which was sung with exquisite phrasing and contrasting expression, follows the modern trend of blending text and music.

The St. Gregory Catholic Choir of eight young men, directed by Edward Smith, presented a group of plain chants in honor of the season of Advent, which began last Sunday.

Mr. Smith explained that the "plain chant" is the official music of the Roman Catholic Church and that the melody follows the meaning of the words, with no attempt to make concert music.

Two of the oldest chants used at the service of benediction were sung "O Salutaris Hostia" (O Saving Victim) and "Tantrum Ergo" (Down in Adoraion Falling).

The purity and simplicity of the unison "plain chant" had an austere beauty that was more striking than the counterpoint of "Veni, Emmanuel," a traditional hymn of Advent.

* * *

THE PROGRAM closed with an array of strikingly contrasted offerings, ranging from the counterpoint of Praetorius' "Lo How a Rose E'er Blooming" and a Bach chorale to "Little Innocent Lamb" (spiritual) and the anthem, "O Praise the Lord" (Araensky).

These were admirably sung by the Baltimore Singers, conducted by Gerald B. Wilson.

Perhaps there is no greater musical statemtnt of the conviction of Protestantism than in the German chorale, of which "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" is an excellent example.

Greetings from the faculty were extended by President Martin D. Jenkins, honorary chairman of the week. The student vice-chairmen, Miss Yvonne Fisher and Fielding Gentry were introduced.

The executive secretary of the project is the Rev. Howard L. Cornish, director of Morgan Christian Center.

THE THIRD concert in the "Magis of Music" series, sponsored by The Women's Association of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, took place Monday evening at the Pennsylvania Avenue Branch of the Enoch Pratt Library.

The near-capacity audience was welcomed by Mrs. Henry R. Granger, co-chairman of the program committee. The concert featured the Gennusa Clarinet Quartet, composed of members of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

Ignatius Gennusa, principal clarinetist, was master of ceremonies. The ensemble played a quartet by Telemann, of the early classic school; an arrangement of the "Adagio" (very slow) movement from Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetique" and "Flight of the Bumble Bee", all of which were applauded enthusiastically.

Much interest was aroused by the appearance of Percy Brown, from Douglass High School as clarinet soloist, with two members of the quartet in "Romance" and a "Rondo." Master Brown is a student at Peabody.

Elizabeth R. Hall, soprano soloist of Sharp St. Mem. Methodist Church, pleased the audience both with her performance of two spirituals accompanied by the clarinet quartet and her ease and charm of manner.

THE EVENING opened with a film "To Hear Your Banjo Play." Mrs. MacLean Patterson presented the door prize of two tickets to one of the Symphony concerts to Granville Williams.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Patterson, Miss Janet Stevens, librarian, and your writer.

Mrs. Granger announced that subsequent programs, which have been arranged by Dr. Lubov B. Keefer, are being held at various library branches throughout the city. (Announcements will be listed in our "calendar.")

CALENDAR: Sunday, Dec. 9 at 5 p.m. in the auditorium of Pennsylvania Avenue AME Zion Church, Pennsylvania Avenue near Dolphin St., The Town Choir in recital, conducted by William H. Wright. Sponsors: Nurses Unit of the church; Mrs. Lucille Anderson, chairman; Miss Plymouth McCoy, co-chairman; Mrs. Wm. Valentine, pres.; Mrs. Rose Dowdy, sec'y; Rev. G. M. Edwards, pastor.

Friday Dec. 14 at 8:30 p.m. at Douglass High School, Gwynns Falls Pkwy and Pulaski Street Winter Concert by Baltimore City Orchestra and Chorus.

Announcement has been made by Earl F. Forman, superintendent of the Municipal Bureau of Music, that, due to the illness of Harrison M. Dodd, the orchestra will be conducted by James O. Jones and the chorus by Almira Miller.

Mr. Jones has been a member of the Baltimore Orchestra for some years, having served as concertmaster. One of his compositions was played by the orchestra some seasons ago.

Miss Miller is also a veteran member of the group, having been the accompanist for both the orchestra and the chorus. She is on the staff of the music department of the Baltimore public schools in addition to her duties as organist at Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church.

* * *

IN KEEPING with the spirit of the season the chorus will sing well known carols. The entire program will be in a lively vein with selections from the famous Gilbert and Sullivan operas and from the Broadway Success "My Fair Lady."

Hansonia L. Caldwell, brilliant child pianist, will be the soloist making two appearances in words by classic, romantic, modern and contemporary composers.

The concert is free to the public.

Wednesday, Dec. 19 at 10 a.m. in the Hurt Gymnasium at Morgan State College, the annual Christmas Musicale, featuring the College Band, Choir and Dance Group.

Sunday, Dec. 16 at 4 p.m. at Fellowship House, the annual Hanukah-Christmas celebration, with the 40-voice Bob Haffenden Chorale and Cantor Benjamin Grobani.
