GIRL FRIENDLY DELEGATE

NEW HAVEN—Miss Delores May Johnson, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of 168 South Genesee St., was a recent delegate to the national and worldwide assembly of the Girl Friendly Society held in Bronxville, N.Y. at Sarah Lawrence College.

Miss Johnson represented the Diocese of Connecticut. Her election took place at the spring conclave of Connecticut Diocese held in Hartford.

Strolling The Avenue

Trust the COMEDY CLUB to know a good thing and the latest in point is the Jolly Jax Trio which has been held over for another week at the popular nitery.

With plenty of emphasis on rock and roll, spiced with liberal traces of humor the Jax are doing, a tremendous business for the club and are in the words of the entertainment trade a "hot item."

These are the gentlemen who struck a gold mine when they discovered that all the "Mickey Mouse Song" needed to make it as attractive to adults as to small fry was a change of tempo.

They did just that and had a hit record on their hands. You can hear the song, in the original form, at the COMEDY Club, as well as many, many more.

No admission and no cover charge. The COMEDY CLUB is the place to go.

TOPS IN FOOD and drinks is the GARRISON LOUNGE at Clifton Ave. and Garrison Blvd.

For the family, or for anyone seeking a wonderful meal, there's no place like the GARRISON. There's a lovely dining room in the back with soft lights and romantic music. You'll like the GARRISON.

There's quite an attraction at the Coliseum Restaurant, 1857 Clifton Ave., where you can enjoy top notch food and drink. On Wednesday night they have a special, any drink for 50 cents. Why not drop on in.

THE U.S. AND Municipal Employees will have their fourth annual beach and party night at Sparrow's Beach on Saturday, July 27.

There will be a talent show with a week's engagement in a Washington night club for the winner. Things start happening at 7 p.m. and continue until 2 a.m.

Sounds like a wonderful way to spend a Saturday night.

One of the fastest rising young vocal quartets today are the Diamonds, talented recording stars who will be appearing at SPARROW'S BEACH on July 21, (Sunday).

The Diamonds have catapulted to popularity via their smash hit recordings such as "Church Bells May Ring," "Love, Love, Love," "Ka Ding Dong," and "Soft Summer Breeze." Their many appearances on the Arthur Godfrey Show have also enhanced their popularity.

Although they were all born in or near Toronto, Ontario, the boys didn't meet until the quartet was actually in the process of being formed.

Individually, they are: Dave Somerville, lead; Ted Kowalski, tenor; Bill Reed, bass, and Phil Levitt, baritone.

That's what you will be hearing at SPARROW'S BEACH on Sunday.

CARR'S BEACH WILL be host to the Royal Guards today (Friday) and on Saturday will play host to the National Postal Alliance.

Sunday will see an entertainment bill filled with such names as Clyde McPhatter, Lloyd Price. In the cool and comfortable Bengazi Lounge will be Johnny Sparrow and Rura Bailey.

THE RED FOX Fulton and Pennsylvania Ave., is offering a chance for young talent to be heard.

From Monday through Thursday musicians and singers who want to play music in the modern way are invited to bring their instruments and voices to the RED FOX and join in the fun.

Out of this will come groups to be hired by various clubs so if you have any musical talent hasten up to the RED FOX.

1,000 attend July festival of Elks

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va.) 1,000 members and friends of the Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World gathered here for the annual July 4 Elks celebration in memory of John Brown, the outspoken abolitionist of the 1850's.

Guest of the Independence Day festival was Archie Alexander, well-to-do engineer and architect of Washington, D. C.

Introduced by public relations director Charles P. McClane, Mr. Alexander warned "we must be up and doing to meet the competition of the age."

* * *

COLORED PEOPLE have been recipients of charity for so long, he said, that we are better catchers than pitchers. Now is the time to produce." President of the North Carolina Elks Association, the Rev. K. P. Battle, delivered the sermon of the day.

Elks listened while gathered under the shade of the pear orchard where the radical Brown munched fruit as he planned "rebellion" almost a century ago.

A reported split in the ranks of Elkdom was denied by Perry W. Howard, grand legal adviser. He stated the group wouldn't organize a new IBPOEW lodge.

Previous disclosures made mention of disgruntled factions within the IBPOEW allegedly led by Trezzvant W. Anderson which were interested in effecting a split.

* * *

A MEMBERSHIP increase during the administration of Robert H. Johnson was reported by Mr. McClane. Grand Exalted Ruler Johnson himself asserted that Elkdom was in good stead as the order entered its 60th year.

For having raised $147,000 for the shrine department, Detroit's Mrs. Bertha McKanlass, director of the shrine department, was lauded.

An action - packed seven-race speedway show will be on tap at Westport Stadium Saturday night, July 20. Both Hobby Division and Sportsman-Modified Class dashes are planned.

Five events are slated for the hobby drivers and two for the Sportsman - Modified auto jockeys, who have just returned to the track on Old Annapolis boulevard.

The No. 1 driver in the Hobby division is 21-year-old Neil Haight, a Randallstown mechanic. He has captured three 25-lap Hobby Derbies, plus a match race involving Derby victors, and has been in the money more times — 18 — than any other pilot at the speed bowl this season.

Much talk, no solution at session

The problem of what to do about reported sales of obscene magazines to minors throughout the city, remained as much a problem as ever, following a joint meeting of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro's Committee for Decency and a similar committee of city councilmen Tuesday afternoon in City Hall.

Everett Lane is a member of the Mayor's committee. City Councilman Walter T. Dixon, Fourth District representative, is a member of the council committee.

Neither attended. Present, though, were seven women, one teen-age boy for a while, and 31 men, including four newspapermen whose duty it was to attend.

With City Councilman Solomon Liss; Fourth District representative presiding, the hour and 45-minute meeting got off to a rough start, when Melvin Trosch, Maryland News Company representative denied a charge by Victor H. Morgenroth, Retail Drug Association member, that drug stores had to take whatever magazines dealers send them.

THINGS SOURED a bit more, when Inspector Clarence O. Forrester, head of the police department's Rackets Division, said his men had not made any arrests in sales of obscene magazines to minors, simply because they had discovered none and could find no minor to set up a test case.

Inspector Forrester added to this the statements that he had personally been on observation in a large store where he is not known, and noticed that minors paid no attention to spicy magazines, and that his office had had only "two or three complaints" from parents in a space of nearly two years.

State's Attorney J. Harold Grady agreed that the police needed a minor in order to set up a test case, but said he would not offer one of his children.

Mr. Grady also warned that the present laws covering the sales of objectionable literature to minors are adequate, and that if a solution to the problem had to be gotten, it should be gotten without tampering with these statutes.

Otherwise, Mr Grady said, a test of constitutionality might result in the courts invalidating the laws, and somebody would have to set up new ones before the two committees could start functioning again.

* * *

FRED E. WIESGAL, representative of the Maryland chapter of Civil Liberties Union, suggested that the committees were making a "mountain out of a molehill," in trying to launch their investigation.

Samuel J. Aaron, attorney for charged that the committees were trying to "force public opinion."

"As long as there are no complaints to the police," Mr. Aaron asked, "why force them?"

No comments came from the womgn present.

Mr. Liss, the chairman, took sharp issue with those critical of the efforts of the committee.

"The laws are not explicit," Mr. Liss said. "We want to look into the whole matter further. Perhaps develop something that will lead to a policing of the magazine industry by the industry members themselves."

Mr. Liss referred several times to a phamplet issued in June of this year by the National Office of Decent Literature, 33 E. Congress Parkway, Chicago.

This pamphlet listed some 200 magazines and comic books, which the organization termed either acceptable or objectionable.

If you don't know the judge—know his friends

"Judge, please don't give me a fine. I'm a friend of an old classmate of yours, Dr. Clyde Lucks down in Danville. I was a school teacher some time ago, let me off, and I'll go back home right away."

This passionate plea in Northwestern Police Court Thursday morning won a reversal of a $10 and costs fine to probation without a verdict for William J. Ivy, 35, a chauffeur of Danville, Va.

Mr. Ivy faced Magistrate Linwood G. Koger, Sr., on a disorderly conduct charge. Police testimony was that Mr. Ivy was picked up drunk and abusive in the rear of the 500 block Mosher St., and it was necessary to take him to Provident Hospital to sober him up some.

"Well," Magistrate Koger commented, "you are a former school teacher who appears to have fallen from grace. Since you seem to know one of my old classmates in Danville, I'm going to let you off this time so you can go back there and let him worry with you. Don't you come in here before me again.

There are two kinds of pollines; one says, "See how polite I am;" the other, "I would make you happy."

Politeness is like an air-cushion; there may be nothing in it but it eases our jolts wonderfully.
