Huge field enters Morgan golf meet

Success of the second annual the Mel Keldin Student Union Morgan Alumni Golf tourna ment was assured last week with the announcement that a Mar 2 mael are the following huge field is lined up for the tee-off on Saturday morning, May 2.

Over 100 golfers from various sections of the East are set to vie for the choice of prizes awaiting the close of the four mile at Carroll Park course. Play is scheduled to commence at 7:30 a.m.

THE TOURNAMENT, which is sponsored by the M. A. for chapter, is part of a nation wide program designed to stimulate interest and activity in the General Alumni Association of Morgan State College.

According to Emma L. Bowie, chairman of the golf committee and director of the tournament the field will be divided into flights and will be scheduled for teeing off in three-somes.

THE DAY long affair will be concluded with a buffet supper and awarding of trophies to

Morgan edges H.U. golfers

Morgan State College's golf team, coached by Emory Coleman, squeaked by Howard University 7½ Monday afternoon at the Mount Pleasant Course here.

Coleman turned in a fine card of 82 for his 18-hole effort.

THE BEARS were talking their usual game in as many starts having previously defeated Lincoln University by a margin of 8-1. They encounter the Lions next Tuesday in a return match at the Rock Manor Club in Wilmington, Del.

Comprising the Morgan team in addition to Coleman are William Hall, Charles Bris

Eons cop 1st place in STA Opening Shoot

Under exceptional weather conditions, the Eastern Skeet and Trapshooting Association opened its 1959 shooting season on the grounds of the Six Point Gun Club, Inc., at Coatesville, Pa., Sunday, April 19, 1959.

The hundred shooters representatives from the 10 clubs composing the ESTA parties paled. The 5 - man team of the Falcon Rod and Gun Club, Inc., of Baltimore, Md., won the top honors with a total point score of 235, just a scant six points above the Patuxent Rod and Gun Club of Sandy Spring, Md., 229 points.

With Deep Sea Anglers and Hunt Club Inc., of Washington, D.C., taking 3rd place, the Eastern Club representative won the majority of top honors.

In the doubles event, James F. Weiss, of Vandyke, won with 43 out of 50. Handicap winner, Leyton Weston, led a field of 38 participants scoring 46 points out of a possible 50.

Waters of Falcons and Dr. Charles F. West of Deep Sea Anglers tied for high run each breaking 40 out of 50 birds.

The Tyler Rod and Gun Club, Princeton, N.J., will host the next ESTA shoot, May 19th. James F. Weiss is president.

Ducks overhaul McDonogh by 7-6

Heeding coach Mack Payne's pleas to "just hit the ball," Douglass High baseballers came from behind to nip McDonogh, 7-6, Tuesday afternoon.

The victory was the first for the Ducks in Maryland Scholastic Association play although it was not sufficient to lift them from the cellar of the Division I race.

Trailing, 6-4, going into the top of the sixth inning Douglass began "rolling" the ball, as Payne suggested. They scored three times to take the lead for good.

SIX McDONOGH errors combined with six Douglass hits, proved the undoing of the Macs. Two of the Duck hits, though were solid blows, one a double by Brooks and the other a triple by Adams.

Injured Bears believed ready for Penn Relays

By SAM LACY

PHILADELPHIA — Coach Eddie Hurt and a 20 - man squad from Morgan State College arrived here last night (Thursday) and bedded down early to await Friday's opening on the 65th annual Penn Relays at Franklin Field.

A well - rounded aggregation of Golden Bear runners will compete in six varsity (and one freshman) relay events and five individual tests.

COACH HURT appeared optimistic in spite of the gloom that had hung over the Morgan campus all week as a result of injuries to two of the Bears' key relay men. His optimism was undoubtedly due to the fact that the athletes involved seem to have responded to treatment and are expected to be near par physically.

Muscle strains were suffered last Saturday by Lou Smith and Nick Ellis, mile relay leadoff man and anchor respectively, and they had caused much concern in the Golden Bear Camp all week.

"They came around nicely the latter part of the week," Hurt told the AFRO, "and it looks as though the kids will be ready when we need them. I'll probably do a little shuffling to take some of the weight off of Nick though, so that he'll be up to his race for the mile."

ELLIS, all - round ace of the Bears, was slated to run the anchor leg on all three of the big relay events, the 440, 880 and mile. He and Smith both suffered their injuries during the running of the Queens relay championships in New York last weekend.

The sudden change in temperature, the heavy rains and the condition of the track have "put them about killed us up there.

Nick's injury undoubtedly kept us from winning the mile relay. We were leading on the anchor leg and Nick was running within himself when he felt the pain in his leg.

"HE IMMEDIATELY pulled up and jogged the rest of the way to get third. It's probably a good thing that he did, since he didn't hurt himself more seriously. Just the same, he had me worried, though," the Morgan coach concluded.

Both Smith and Ellis "ran hard" in the team's final tune-up Wednesday at Morgan's stadium, and neither showed any signs of distress.

As a safeguard against trouble, Hurt plans to withhold Ellis from the 440 and 880 relays, and use him only in the coveted mile event. This is the title that has eluded the Bears since 1950, in spite of the fact they have had powerful entries in the race each year.

A NEW method of lining up the field for the mile championship of America is being used this year by Relay Carnival officials. The top - rated six teams will be bracketed for the feature event, which is the last on the two - day program.

While selection of the six will not be made until tonight (Friday), it is generally conceded that the race will find Morgan, Villanova, Pittsburgh, Manhattan and Southern Methodist toeing the mark. The sixth entry is expected to be chosen from a list of possibilities including Michigan, Abilene Christian, Penn State and Florida State.

IN ADDITION to the three important relay events, the Bears have a team in the 2 - mile relay, the spring medley and distance medley races.

They also have a strong foursome going in the freshman mile.

With Ellis out of the shorter team events, Hurt is expected to run his crack sprinter, Paul Winder, at the end of his 440 and 880 quartets. These races will be led off by Pinckney McCready, with Si Keller, Lou Smith and Winder following.

LOU OR WINDER will open the mile relay test, depending on how they come out of their earlier races. Second, third and fourth spots on the mile foursome will be occupied by Tom Anderson, Hosea Smith and Ellis, in that order.

The freshman four will be, in order: Joe Bair, a young Atlantic City product; Ralph Berry, from City College in Baltimore; Sam Duncan, of Eastern High, Washington, D.C., and Lawson Smart, the fleet footballer from Houston, Texas.

SIX YOUNGSTERS will carry the Morgan hopes in the individual events on the card. Winder, naturally, is entered in the invitation 100-yard dash. Lawrence Reed and Haf Williams will compete in the 120-yard high hurdles, and Larry Buffaloe is set to try for the javelin crown.

Ronald Tate, a sophomore of considerable promise, is slated to enter the broad jump competition, and Tom Henderson goes in the high jump. Tate has leaped 24 feet in practice and Henderson is a fairly consistent 6-foot-4 high jumper.

Preakness test slated for 'Mauler' is Manassa Mauler, the colt which knocked off three of the top Kentucky Derby contenders last Saturday?

The question which has the racing world in a tizzy cannot possibly be answered before May 16 at Pimlico. That's the date for the $150,000 Preakness, first of the Triple Crown classics in which Manassa Mauler can possibly run.

The 64 - to - 1 shot winner of the Wood Memorial is not eligible for the $125,000 Kentucky Derby on May 2, and there is no provision for supplemental nominations. But he can get into the Preakness richest of the Triple Crown races, as a supplemental nominee at a cost of $10,000.

Should he do well in the Preakness he could also supplement for $5,000 to the $125,000 Belmont Stakes, third leg in the Triple Crown, on June 13.

Manassa Mauler, owned by New York restaurateur Emil Dolce, completely scrambled when he beat First Landing by three - quarters of a length in the Wood.

Fourth and sixth in his wake were Brookfield Farm's intentionally and Elkeam Stable's Atoll.

Carver ace leads MSA

Outfielder James Jackson of Carver High School, continued to lead the hitters in the Maryland Scholastic Association as they came out of Tuesday's games.

Jackson collected a single in three at-bats as the Trainers dropped a 4-3 decision to Gilman, but the effort was good enough to protect his No. 1 rating. With seven hits in 13 tries, the Carver slugger boasts a .538 average.

CLIF MELTON of City closed in on Jackson by virtue of a perfect 3-for-3 day Tuesday against Poly. It put him in second place among the batters with a .533 mark.

Next in line were Glen Dix on of Mt. St. Joe, with an even .500 on the strength of eight hits in 16 times, and Norm Knoerlien of Calvert Hall with .438 based on seven safeties for 16 at-bats.

Dixon had 2 for 4 Tuesday, and Knoerlien 1 for 4.

Gilman rally thwarts Carver bid for lead tie

Carver High School succumbed to a last-inning rally by Gilman to drop a 4-3 victory in a Maryland Scholastic Association game at Roland Park.

The loss deprived coach Charley Robinson's Purple nine of a chance to cling to a first-place tie with Edmondson and Patterson Park in the Division 2 race.

Carver's James Jackson retained the lead in batting. The Trainer leftfielder connected fro one hit in three at bats to remain No. 1 among the MSA hitters with a .538 average.

RIGHTHANDER Lewis Mitchell opened on the mound for Carver and held the opposition hitless through the first four innings. Wildness and loose play caught up with him in the fifth, however, and Robinson called on his ace, lefty Vern Merrick, to stem the Gilman attack.

Going into the seventh tied at 2-2, Carver put across a run in the top of the frame to appear on the way to victory.

GILMAN THEN came to bat to pull the game out of the fire.

Pinch - hitter Billy Shaffer walked to open the frame. Bill Strong followed with a single to right, Shaffer holding at second. When second baseman John Snead then essayed to sacrifice, the Carver defense became lax and all hands were safe, loading the bases.

Centerfielder Pete Wood, hitless for the day as the Gilman leadoff batter, rammed a single to right to tally, Shaffer and Strong.

A WIN for Carver would have meant a 3-way tie for the division lead, since previously unbeaten Edmondson was toppled by Patterson, 9-3. The Pats, like Carver, were 3-1 going into the Tuesday afternoon contests.

Results of games involving the top three teams left Edmondson and Patterson with 4-1 marks and Carver at 3-2.—SAM LACY.

Dunbar breaks ice, wins 9-2

Taking advantage of loose play on the part of the opposition and timely hitting by their big three on offense, Dunbar High School diamond-derchalked up their first win of the season Tuesday afternoon at Herring Run.

The Poets whipped Mervo, 9-2, to snap a 4-game losing streak in the MSA's Division II race.

Six of the Dunbar runs were unearned, due chiefly to six errors by the Mervo defense.

BUT IT was not an altogether tainted triumph for coach Sugar Cain's youngsters, since McKeever Brown, William Tinkler and Cliff Owens weighed in with some fancy stickwork.

Brown banged a two-run homer, and Tinkler collected a triple that also was good for a pair of Post tallies. Owens had two singles in four at-bats and they, too, were good for two runs batted in.

MARTIN GROSS, on the mound for Dunbar, hurled effectively until relieved by Joe Poindexter.

Gross, a holdover from last year, struck out six, but gave way to Poindexter when wildness threatened to hurt him in the late innings.
