Piano teachers meet at home of founder

By ADAH K. JENKINS

The Piano Teachers Activity Group held its opening meeting of the season at the home of the founder, Mrs. Gwendolyn Lassiter.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Davis, former president of the Maryland branch, Music Teachers Association, and a member of the national board, was the speaker.

A number of practical problems such as memorization, rhythm, stage fright at recitals and student concerts, were discussed.

The fall program of the Activity Group, will include a workshop for the member piano teachers and parents on Oct. 27 at Ames Church and a recital by elementary students on November 17th.

At the meeting were Mrs. M. Cain, guest; Mesdames Mildred Bryant, Alma J. Caswell, Florence Carter, Lentha Clark, Norma Frank, Josephine Turner, Gwendolyn Lassiter, Annie L. Williams and Gladys White.

A PLANNING MEETING in interest of the forthcoming Baltimore Symphony season was held Sunday in the meeting room of Sutton Place.

Richard B. Steeper, general chairman of current ticket drive, presided. Dr. Peter Adler, conductor and musical director of the symphony, recounted his experiences in New York, where he helped pioneer the opening to all artists of a national TV network one ratic productions.

He related the history of getting Leontyne Price, who had made her operatic debut in "Porgy and Bess" on a televised presentation of the opera "Tosca", with its impassioned love scenes.

He noted that the gifted soprano so impressed NBC officials at her audition that she was engaged—with the understanding — that her

Morgan group plans for annual affair

The M. J. Naylor Chapter of the Morgan State College Alumni Association is sponsoring its 6th Annual Benefit Card Party Saturday, Nov. 16, at the Masonic Temple 1205 Eutaw Place 8:00 p.m.

The General Alumni Association of the College is now engaged in a campaign to establish a Loan Fund which will enable some bright but needy students to continue their education.

This effort by the Naylor Chapter is in support of this drive which has realized nearly $30,000 of its $50,000 goal.

he was responsible for the venture.

The success of "Tosca" resulted in nation wide acclaim.

Dr. Adler declared "My approach is that an artist is an artist. However, I consider the audience as important as the talent and I believe that the Symphony cannot exist without the talent of all as well as listeners from all segments of the population.

"The Baltimore Opera which is integrated," the maestro added, "was encouraged by us to open chorus and cast to all".

ALSO SPEAKING was William Boucher III, acting president of the Symphony Association. In addition to members of the Symphony Board and ticket campaign committee also in attendance was Dr. R. Hayes Strider, head of the Music Education Department at Morgan State College; and Mrs. Genevieve H. Harris.

The 68th season of the Baltimore Symphony will open Oct. 1-2 with Yehudi Menuhin, violinist, as soloist. On Oct. 15-16 Leon Fleisher, Baltimore and New York pianist, will play.

Howard University Choir, conducted by Dean Lawrence, will appear 2-3 and Leontyne Price will sing March 10-11.

There is a special plan for benefit blocks of tickets at all concerts, which will enable organizations to add to their funds. Inquiries concerning this and the mid-week and Saturday Pop Concert series, as well as the youth and children's concerts, may be direct to Mrs. V. Nealy and her staff at Symphony Headquarters, 120 W. Mt. Royal Ave. or call 727-7300.

Annapolis DOINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

Mrs. James Marchand in West St. extended entertained informally on Sunday. Dr. and Mrs. William E. Reed and daughter, Edwarda, of Greensboro, N. C.

The Reeds were enroute to Nigeria, where Dr. Reed will direct a two - year program in agriculture for the Nigerian government.

Dr. Reed did similar work in Monrovia, Liberia and at A and T College in Greensboro.

It was while Mrs. Marchand was visiting in Nigeria on tour with Delta Sigma Theta Sorority in 1962 that she met the Reeds, who entertained her along with others at that time.

Among those who dropped in to greet the Reeds on Sunday were Miss Clara Beverly of Columbia Beach, who had worked as a nurse with Dr. Reed in Liberia, Mrs. Albert I. Cassell of Washington, president of the American Society for Nigeria, Mrs. William H. Richardson, Dr. and Mrs. J. Alexander Wiseman, Mrs. Pinetta Crampton, Mrs. Joyce McManus and daughters of Arundel - on - the-Bay, Miss Mary Wiseman, Miss Lilyan Burrell and Messrs. Louis T. Harding and J. E. Bullock of Washington.

CHURCH ACTIVITIES are now getting their fall programs underway, which means many of our citizens in Annapolis are busily engaged in planning programs constantly at this time.

AMONG AFFAIRS already presented was the annual Educational Day observance held at the Mt. Moriah AME Church each year. At this time all new teachers in the county are invited to special service. This year is participants on the programs were Mesdames Cecelia Green, Rachel Brown and Mary Qeeen and Mr. Phillip Brown and Howard Nichols.

The pastor, the Rev. A. R. Powell and congregation recently worshipped with the church at Havre De Grace, the pastor of whom is the father of George Mitchell prominent member of Mt. Moriah.

The senior choir of First Baptist Church observed what it called Red Letter Day recently to celebrate the ninth anniversary of the new church building.

Beginning this past Sunday, the Men's Club of the church began an observance in honor of the pastor, the Rev. Leroy Bowman for the years of service he has rendered the church, the Rev. James Johnson, pastor of Cecil Memorial Methodist Church, was the Monday evening speaker.

Other speakers are as follows:

Tuesday evening, Rev. J. W. Duckette, pastor of Mt. Olive AME Church; Wednesday evening, Rev. Norris H. Morgan, pastor of Second Baptist Church; Thursday evening, Elder R. T. Willis, pastor of the Beacon Light Seventh Day Adventist Church. A banquet on Friday night, ends the celebration.

The Choraleers, a popular gospel singing group around town, observed its ninth anniversary at Mt. Olive AME Church recently. Guest singing groups from Anne Arundel County, Counties appeared on the Baltimore, Montgomery program.

BOY SCOUT Troop No. 515 members spent an enjoyable day recently when they attended the Orioles and Senators baseball game. William E. Brooks is scoutmaster, and the group is sponsored by the Frontiers International.

The community of Galesville has lost two of its most prominent citizens and lifelong residents of the community within the last three month.

It was in May that Mrs. Margaret Crowner died at the Anne Arundel General Hospital after a long illness. And then in September she was followed in death by her Crowner Sr.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Crowner were natives of Galesvales and throughout their lives had been members of the Ebenezer AME Church, where they served as staunch members, at the same time rearing a fine large family.

Mrs. Crowner, who loved children, not only reared her own, but reared a number of other children and helped them through school.

She was very active in civic and community affairs, having served as president of the Galesville PTA, as a substitute teacher in the school there, and was organizer of the Saving Club.

In her church she served as superintendent of the Sunday School, was a member of the Stewardess Board, treasurer of the Missionary Society and also organized the Ladies' Aid.

Her husband served on the Trustee Board for many years and also served as custodian for the building. He was also active in the community organization as chaplain of the group until his death.

These two wonderful people, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary several years ago. The affair drew numbers of people from their immediate community nearby towns and along the Eastern Seaboard.

They are survived by two daughter, Mrs. Harriet Hall, Mrs. Mary Sellman, both of Galesville; three sons, Alex, James and Benjamin Jr., Galesville; two foster children, Melvin Booze of Churchton and Miss Connie Crowner of Galesville; two somn-laws, four daughters in son-in-laws, four daughters - in-law, 23 grandchildren, 35 great grandchildren.

Mrs. William H. Richardson and Mrs. Albert I. Cassell of Washington attended the Woman Power luncheon in Baltimore on Sunday.

Man saves boy in house fire

William Ames, 55, 1731 Milton Ave., was sitting on his steps, Tuesday, when he noticed smoke coming from a windoy in the 1600 block of Milton Ave.

Investigating, he saw fire coming from a basement window and heard a boy yell at the front door of the house.

Mr. Ames forced open the door to allow the youngster to escape.

MR. AMES, who is permantly disabled, told the AFRO, that the force of the gasses when he opened the door knocked him door.

After the boy dashed from the house, Mr. Ames called the fire department which extinquished the flames.

No one was injured and subsequent investigation by the police department revealed that a six-year old boy playing with matches might have started the blaze.

Top comedy film at the Regent

Producer Hall Wallis has been responsible for the making of close to 500 motion pictures since he first entered the business in the early 19-20's.

Many of these films have been unforgettable, most have been Box Office successes and we have Hal Wallis to thank for such great pictures as "The Maltese Falcon," "Little Ceasar," "The Rose Tattoo" and "Anthony Adverse." We should also thank him for his new comedy, "Wives and Lovers" which is now at the Regent Theatre.

IT'S PARTY TIME — Van Johnson, a writer who has just become wealthy, and Janet Leigh, his wife, throw a party in this scene from the new Hal Wallis comedy, "Wives and Lovers" which is now at the Regent Theatre. Their guests include Martha Hayer, Ray Walston, Jeremy Slate and Shelly Winters.
