ALSO MRS. LOUISE T. HOLLOWELL, Morris Brown College, Atlanta; Rev. Hugh Jansen, Interdenominational Theological Center, Atlanta; Mrs. Clara B. Jenkins, Shaw University, Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. Addie S. Mitchell, Morehouse College, Atlanta; Richard M. Turner 3rd, Stillman College, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; and Mrs. Dimorah Esteva, Xavier University, New Orleans.

They are doctoral candidates at the following 14 graduate schools: University of Chicago, Connecticut, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh; Catholic University; Columbia University Theological Center, Atlanta; State University; Tulane University; Union Theological Seminary and North Carolina State College.

The 1963 - 64 UNCF Faculty Fellows are pursuing advanced study in a variety of fields: mycology; zoology; anatomy; sociology; English, Spanish; physics; music; music education; student personnel administration; education; science education; health and physical education.

The program was made possible by a $400,000 grant to the College Fund by the General Education Board to provide financial subsidies to UNCF college professors who are already candidates for Ph. D. degrees.

South African bias theme of new play

NEW YORK — (ANP) — Because the government of that country adheres to a strict policy of apartheid (or complete separation of the races), anything related to integration in South Africa commands considerable attention.

That is why a play integrated cast based on several short stories by white South African author Alan Paton, is currently receiving wide publicity. The cast consists of 24 colored actors and one white performer.

The play, titled "Sponono," was staged last December in South Africa with the cooperation of the Union Artists of that country.

Greyhound unveils new Fair fleet

NEW YORK — A sleek fleet to keep people off their feet was introduced in a preview by The Greyhound Corporation of the vehicles that will provide the official transportation for the 1964 New York World's Fair.

The preview was attended by press and broadcast representatives, Greyhound and World's Fair officials, and travel representatives, at the Flushing Meadows site.

M. C. Fralley, President of The Greyhound Corporation, said that it will be "our objective to see that no visitor to the Fair becomes tired for lack of transportation."

The four vehicles described by Mr. Fralley comprise the basic units in a fleet of more than 300 which will be placed in service over the 646 acres of the big exposition.

The fleet represents approximately half of a $10 million investment in the New York World's Fair by The Greyhound Corporation.

The "Escorter" is for the Fair-goer who wants privacy and personalized service, open-air and freedom from fixed-route travel. It seats up to four sightseers comfortably where no obstruction can interfere with the view.

The "Glide-a-Ride" provides service for 60 passengers. It is a three-coach, open-air tractor-trailer running on rubber tires. Gleaming white with comfortable golden contour seats, the train may be entered and left at the seat rows, separated by ample spacing and a center aisle.

Rapid transit service will provide a quick method of moving between widely separated areas of the Fair. Fair-goers using this service will ride in new air-conditioned transit buses equipped with air suspension and picture windows.

NEW TREAT — The new frozen peas and potatoes with cream sauce is used in this brunch, lunch or supper dish. Layered celery and carrot salad is the accompaniment. See accompanying recipes.

Junetta Jones in Baltimore concert

A program including operatic arias, oratorios, German lieder, and spirituals, will be presented by Baltimore-born soprano, Junetta Jones, who was a winner in last spring's Metropolitan auditions, in her home-coming concert on Sunday, Oct. 20, at 8:30 p.m. at the Jewish Community Center, 5700 Park Heights Avenue.

The concert will launch the Jewish Community Center's 1963-64 music season which will include instrumentalists, dancers, folk musicians and a musical lecture - tour, "From Tel Aviv To Baltimore."

• • •

MISS JONES, one of the winners in the Metropolitan auditions held this past March, as well as a winner in the Met's New England regional auditions, is graduate of both the Peabody Conservatory and the New England Conservatory of Music.

She has appeared locally with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, as "Bess" in "Porgy and Bess," has sung solo with the Peabody Orchestra conducted by Elliott Galkin, and with the Peabody Choral group with Ifor Jones, conducting, and has appeared in concerts at the Peabody, Hood College, Morgan State College, and Coppin State College.

She began her operatic work under Boris Godolfsky, head of the Opera Department at the New England Conservatory of Music, sang with his Opera Theatre in Boston, and also studied under him at Tanglewood.

Miss Jones, who already has an extensive repertoire, has been assigned 10 roles, some large, some small, by the "Met," including "The Heavenly Voice," in Verdi's "Don Carlo," and the first boy in Mozart's "Magic Flute," and one of the Rhine maidens in "Gotterdamerung."

Miss Jones will be accompanied by James Quillan, noted New York voice coach, and faculty member of the Manhattan School of Music where he has a class in vocal repertoire.

State Elks stress vote registration

NEWPORT NEWS, Va.— Virginia State Association, I.B.P.O. Elks of the World, met in a one-day session at Newport News, Virginia, Sept. 29.

The purpose of the meeting was to emphasize voter registration.

Roland D. Ealey, state director of civil liberties, conducted a voter registration workshop during most of the afternoon program. He said that "we have made considerable gains in the area of racial improvements within the past decade by way of favorable Court decisions and in recent years by sit-in, boycott, freedom riders and other similar demonstrations on the part, primarily, of colored youths; but our major effort nowshould be on voter registration for the ballot is the most potent weapon at the rommand of the oppressed in a democratic society."

• • •

THE MORE THAN 300 representatives from Elk Lodges and Temples throughout Virginia were instructed in a technique of registering and voting and given directives for securing other registered voters.

At the conclusion of the workshop the delegates assembled, upon themotion of Miss Alcenia Miles, daughter director of civil liberties, approved a resolution to be sent to Governor Albertis S. Harrison for legislation abolishing the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting in this State and opposing the establishment of a dual registration list of voters for Federal and State elections.

J. F. Simmons, of Philadelphia, Grand Exalted secretary, commended the association for its forthright approach to the problem of getting more people qualified to vote.

The two State Presidents, W. R. Minor, of Arlington, Va., and L. Marian Poe, of Newport News, directed the activities of the meeting. Similar workshops will be conducted in other parts of the State during the coming year.

Chi school head resigns his post

CHICAGO — The controversy over de facto segregation in the schools resulted last week in the resignation of School Superintendent Benjamin C. Willis.

The effective date of his resignation was given as Dec. 31, but civil rights leaders called for acceptance of request at once.

Willis denied that colored and white pupils were segregated in Chicago schools, standing in favor on neighborhood schools.

His "Willis Wagons," mobile classrooms, have been targets of civil rights picketing.

WHEN HE authorized the transfer of a few colored pupils to schools that offered honor courses, white parents complained of school overcrowding and Willis curtailed the program.

He met a setback when the Illinois Appellate Court ordered transfer of four students from one high school to another over his protests.

Willis made $48,000 as school superintendent and $32,000 as head of a Massachusetts school survey, giving him the title of the second highest paid public official in the nation—next to President Kennedy.

NAACP secretary is guest of honor at elegant party

By BETTY W. BAILEY
WASHINGTON

The home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hinton was the scene, Saturday October 5th, for a reception for the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Halles, honoring his appointment as Executive Secretary for the Washington branch of the NAACP.

Mr. Halles is the first full time appointee to hold down this position in the Washington branch.

The reception was given for the expressed purpose of having the NAACP Board Members and guests formally meet the newly named appointee who comes to Washington from Boston, Massachusetts. The opportunity of talking to Mr. Halles makes even more meaningful the membership in the NAACP. Mrs. Halles was presented with a corsage by the Board Members.

THE HOSTESS, looking most charming in a subtle overall print and accessories, was assisted in the receiving line by her vivacious daughter Ruth L. Hinton, an anesthetist at Howard University, wearing a black and white creation of raw silk; Sarah Fletcher, very striking in a floral print, and Mrs. Mary Moss who was wearing shocking pink.

The catered affair featured an Autumn theme in buffet style and Mrs. Blanche Carter and Mrs. Indiana Burke poured.

Among those in attendance were: H. Carl Moultrie, attorney; Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGregor, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. E. Franklin Jackson, Mrs. Ruth P. Blagburn, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cooke, Mrs. Jean Knorl, Mrs. Helen Armistead, Atty. and Mrs. Rufus E. McKinney, Mrs. Edith Debnam Bannister, Mrs. Dortrey Maultsby, Mrs. Mildred Pitt; Tilford E. Dudley, attorney; Miss Ruth L. Hinton, Mrs. Sarah Fletcher, Mrs. Imogene Wentz, Mrs. Ruth Robinson, Mrs. Indiana Burke, Mrs. Blanche Carter, Ethel B. Jackson, Emma Lancaster, Dr. and Mrs. Claude Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, and Mrs. Mary Moss.

The board members and their guests were both pleased and impressed with the National headquarters' selection, who promises to reinvigorate the aims and goals of the organization.

Jones, NAACP staffer, will aid local drive

William C. Jones, 40, is a tall, affable New Yorker who has been a salesman for 19 year. He has sold beauty products, typewriters and business machines.

Once, he owned his own printing shop.

Now, he is undertaking one of the biggest jobs in his career—the selling of life memberships in the NAACP.

Mr. Jones was in Baltimore, Wednesday, but he had to leave for an out-of-town engagement.

He will return to this city Oct. 16 for a two-week stay. He is a member of the executive staff of the national life membership department of the NAACP.

• • •

MR. JONES travels around the nation "instituting a comprehensive life membership program."

Mr. Jones said Wednesday that he personally will not carry out the program.

He was in town to get "a large committee of representatives, of local business and professional people, of housewives to document their stand in the fight for freedom by becoming and inducing others to become life members in the NAACP, leader of the civil rights movement throughout America."

The NAACP, said Mr. Jones has more than 400,000 members and over 13,000 life members.

"Freedom is not free," said Mr. Jones, "and the importance of the life membership is that they can stimulate our campaign."

MR. JONES said that the NAACP spent $1,880,000 last year and went a "quarter of a million dollars in the red." The money from the life memberships is divided between local and national offices of the NAACP.

Sixty per cent of the money goes into the national office, said Mr. Jones and the rest remains in the local treasury.

A life membership costs $500 and may be paid in installments.

• • •

ESSENTIALLY, Mr. Jones is a salesman.

"The techniques of selling can also be applied toward the selling of freedom," said Mr. Jones. "A good salesman must believe in his product in order to sell it."

To sell his product, Mr. Jones must travel around the nation. He has just completed trips to Chicago, where a successful life membership campaign has been completed and he has been to the states of Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi.

A life membership campaign party will be held at the home of Dr. Carl Murphy, chairman of the board of the AFRO-AMERICAN and chairman of the Baltimore branch NAACP's legal redress committee on Oct. 23.

The chief guest will be James H. Meredith, who is the first known colored graduate of the University of Mississippi.

Mr. Jones is married to the former Miss Yvonne Gibson, of New York. They have two teen-age children, Daryl and William Jones Jr.

VOTE FOR YOUR UNION
COMMUNICATION EQUIPMENT WORKERS, INC.
(INDEPENDENT)
BE SURE TO VOTE ON OCTOBER 16th

Don't be misled by the Teamster Union which represents no Western Electric workers and no Bell system workers anywhere in the country.

The Teamster Union, which spent a fortune trying to capture Western Electric Installation Department, lost that N.L.R.B. election by a vote of almost 3 to 1 early this year.

If Western Electric installers working all over the country rejected the Teamster Union they must have realized that tying up with the Teamster Union was bad for Western Electric workers.

The Teamster Union has spent another fortune for the last year trying to capture the employees of the New York, Telephone Company Plant Department.

Those Bell System employees have refused to have anything to do with the Teamster Union. They have formed a new independent union - the Brotherhood of Telephone Workers, (unaffiliated).

Eighteen thousand (18,000) New York Telephone Company Plant employees who prefer a new independent union to fight the Teamster Union that is raiding us can't be wrong.

Over 125,000 Bell System workers are now members of eleven (11) unions representing Bell System workers in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Canada.

These 125,000 Bell System workers are all in the Alliance of Independent Telephone Unions.

They have chose independent unionism for more than 25 years.

125,000 Bell System workers can't be wrong.

Over 2500 Western Electric workers in the Baltimore Works voted against the Teamster union. They can't be wrong.

The 2500 who voted against the Teamster Union include 1643 who voted for their own Union, COMMUNICATION EQUIPMENT WORKERS, INC. (Independent).

The other 1,000 will, we are assured, vote for us this time.

Several hundred did not vote the first time. We earnestly ask everyone to vote.

Every vote counts in keeping the Teamster Union on the outside where it belongs.

COME OUT AND VOTE—and vote for your Union — COMMUNICATION EQUIPMENT WORKERS, INC. (Independent).

First on the ballot.

First on the First N.L.R.B. election.

First on the run-off.
