Colts await second shot at champion Packers Sun.

With a two - game winning string to work on the Colts will take their second crack at the rampaging Green Bay Packers Sunday in Memorial Stadium.

The Packers, who will be risking a game victory streak, are bidding for an unprecedented third consecutive N. F. L. championship. In the season's third contest the Packers overcome a 17-14 Colts lead in the final period to triumph by a 31-20 score.

The Colts' campaign since that discouraging setback has been marked by a series of superior defensive efforts, including last Sunday's 25-21 conquest of the Lions in Detroit.

"OUR DEFENSE turned in a magnificent second half job after a shaky start in Detroit," said Colts coach Don Shula.

"We held the Lions to only one completed pass and two first downs in the second half - and we had that strong rush going for us again. I just hope that we can sustain that second half momentum for the Packers."

Actually, the Colts gained more yards on the ground than in the air. (143 to 113) for the second straight week with Tom Matte adn J. W. Lockett joining Hill as tough yardage producers.

ONE OF the Colts' chief weapons vs. Green Bay will be 39-year -old Jim Martin, the former Lion who doomed his teammates to defeat with four field goals.

The 13-year N. F. L. veteran had clicked on nine successive boots before a 51-yarddier went away in Detroit. He'd started the streak with a 52-yard shot in Green Bay.

The Colts' leading scorer with 4 points, Jim has nailed 11 of his last 13 three-point attempts and has provided a somewhat erratic offense with a tremendous lift.

THE COLTS' best offensive effort of the season will be required this Sunday if they're to defeat the Packers.

It's possible that coach Shula's troops will profit from the return of halfback R. C. Owens and flanker Jimmy Orr to full - time duty. After sitting out two complete games with a sprained knee Jimmy saw brief service in Detroit. R. C., reactivated last week, was not used therefore gaining more time to recuperate from his automobile accident injuries of early July.

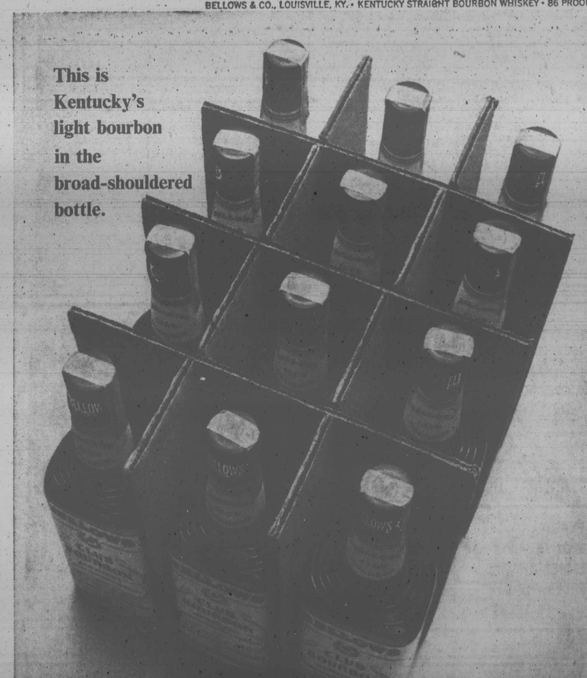
BELLOWS & CO., LOUISVILLE, KY. • KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY • 86 PROOF.

This is Kentucky's light bourbon in the broad-shouldered bottle.



Makes a great case for it.

This bourbon has a light touch. But it doesn't forget it's from Kentucky. You won't, either. Here's why. We use one-quarter inch char in every barrel—only #1 Government inspected grains—only charcoal-filtered water—distill it twice—age away one gallon in every five (to insure smoothness). Uncommonly fine flavor... unexpected lightness. Bellows Club Bourbon. $4.36 4/5 qt.

TOTAL DESTRUCTION — The morning after an explosion and fire rocked the Walbrook Bowling Alley, this is the scene of desolation that greeted those passed by. The cause of the fire is still under investigation.

—Firebug

imagine what had happened."

CONTRARY to earlier reports that the place might have been the target of a "bomber," John S. Knoerlein, chief of the fire Investigation Bureau, told the AFRO Wednesday:

"Up to the present time we have found nothing to indicate that any outside agent caused the explosion."

He theorized that the steel beams supporting the roof of the one-story brick building expanded as a result of the intense heat caused by the flames. The expansion, he stated, possibly caused the walls of the building to collapse

The fire might have been underway when the bowling lanes manager, John B. Price, left the alleys at about 1:30, Chief Knoerlein continued.

The AFRO visited the scene of the blast Wednesday and noted that the steel beams were twisted and bent and found it hard to believe that the remaining binders had at one time housed 24 bowling alleys.

THERE WAS nothing left to even suggest that the ruins had been a resort for bowling enthusiasts for many years.

The fire, which set trees afire and caused the evacuation of a nearby apartment house, took firemen until 2:34 a.m. to bring under control.

Storm drains filled with leaves caused the water being poured on the flames by fire-fighters to flood the streets, police said.

If you know anything about the origin of unexplained fires, please contact the Fire Investigation Bureau of the Baltimore Fire Department. Call MU 5-2440.

TROUBLE IN STREET—An accident at Arlington Ave. and Lanvale St., Monday afternoon, produced t his scene. Firemen were called to use hoses to wash away gasoline.

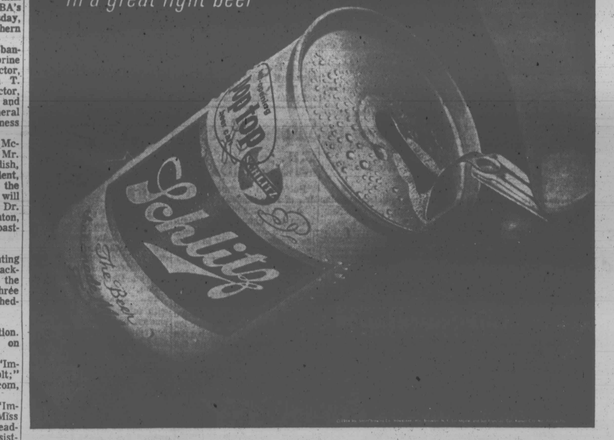
real gusto in a great light beer



New Schlitz PopTop can. Tried it yet?

Greatest idea since the beer can itself. Just pull... pop, and pour out the gusto. Real gusto, real easy. Be good to yourself. Pop open a Schlitz soon.
