Bronx wife gets ailimoy' children

NEW YORK — The Bronx wife of a wealthy Manhattan business man, who accused her of constantly associating with colored people, last week was granted temporary alimony and given custody of their two children.

In papers filed in Bronx Supreme Court Herbert Ochshorn, president of camera accessories chain, charged his wife constantly associated with colored people and with having set up a business in Harlem.

In addition to giving Mrs. Ochshorn custody of the children, Justice Nathaniel Helman granted her temporary alimony of $150 a week and $2,000 in counsel fees.

THE HUSBAND also was ordered to continue paying rent on the couple's Bronx apartment and pay tuition for their two children.

Marion O. Jones, a Harlem attorney, with offices at 209 W. 125th St., is representing Mrs. Ochshorn who is seeking $750 weekly support.

LBJ talk at UN stresses togetherness and peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(ANP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson, in his first official appearance before the United Nations General Assembly here last week, laid on the line the hopes and policies which America will follow under his leadership.

Noting that "we meet in a time of mourning, but in a moment of rededication," he declared: "We are more than ever committed to the rule of law—in our own land and around the world.

"And more than ever, we support the United Nations as the best instrument yet devised to promote the peace of the world and to promote the well-being of mankind."

Admitting that the UN, "like all human institutions" had not achieved the highest hopes which some had held at its origin, he pointed out, however, that:

"WE HAVE seen too much success to become obsessed with failure. The peace-keeping machinery of the United Nations has worked in the Congo, in the Middle East and elsewhere. The great transition from colonial rule to independence has been largely accomplished through its works."

One of his many references to President Kennedy was tied in with President Johnson's closing pledge for peace. He said:

"President Kennedy, I am sure, would regard as his best memorial the fact that in his three years as President the world became a little safer and the way ahead became a little brighter. To the protection and the enlargement of this new hope for peace, I pledge my country and its country.

Detective O'Brien that Williams had claimed to have a gun.

The coroner's report stated that Williams' death at D.C. General Hospital on Monday Dec. 23, was due to increased cranial pressure, a skull fracture and brain damage.

The coroner's jury ruled that the retired professor's death was accidental.

Assistant U.S. Attorney, John Kramer, told the AFRO that he didn't think any further action would be taken in the case.

WILLIAMS' FUNERAL will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Rankin Chapel, Howard University. The Rev. James W. Page will officiate.

The former language professor died Monday at D.C. General Hospital after being transferred there from Freedmen's Hospital.

Palmer, a proprietor a variety store at the Fourth St. address.

Police say Mr. Williams died of injuries suffered outside the store after the two longtime friends became embroiled in an argument.

Williams, who had known Palmer since childhood and had once lived two doors away from Palmer's store, was an assistant professor of German at Howard University until his retirement in 1958.

A native of Washington and a member of Dunbar High School's first graduating class in 1919, Williams received his bachelor and master degrees from Howard. Before joining the faculty at his alma mater he taught English in Wilkesboro, N.C., where he met his wife, the former Janie Key. They were married in 1930.

WILLIAMS pursued post-graduate studies in this country and in Germany. In 1927 he was a student at the University of Heidelberg and studied, 1932 - 33, at the University of Erlangen. He also attended Catholic, Chicago, and Columbia Universities.

At Howard he contributed to the German Quarterly and was a member of the American Goethe Society, the Teachers of German and Delta Psi Alpha.

He also belonged to the Oldest Inhabitants Inc. and Phi Beta Sigma fraternity.

In addition to his wife, Williams is survived by two sisters; Carrie W. McDade, of Cincinnati, and Maelan W. Easterling, of Raleigh, N.C.

150 aged patients feted at Crownsville

by Eloise Richardson

One hundred and fifty aged patients at Crownsville State Hospital were entertained at a party given by employees of the Rehabilitation Department.

These employes, who work in industrial therapy and conduct a special project in which many of these patients participate, recognize the "unattached relationship" with the outside world in many of their lives. Many do not have relatives and many have relatives who have forgotten them.

The decorations and the beauty of the greens and their fresh aroma did give warmth to the atmosphere of the rooms and these aged men and women were delighted with the goodies prepared for them.

They were served ice cream, candy canes, fruit cake, cookies and punch and all during the afternoon, Mrs. Lillian Rawlings, music therapist, warmed their hearts with beautiful Christmas music. It was a wonderful sight to see the flicker of joy on the faces of most of these patients. Here are some of the remarks they made.

"I think it's nice. Makes you more lively and makes you feel you are wanted."

"Very nice of employes to give a party for us when we can't go home. I thank them all so much, and wish them a merry Christmas and happy New Year."

"Get tired of settin' 'round all time with nothin' to do. The party made us feel much better."

THE party is an example of what volunteers from various communities can do to make these human beings happy during their hospital tenure. It is hoped that such activities will be brought to them by organizations and individuals throughout the year.

Those who spearheaded the party were Victor Wilkerson, supervisor of the special project employes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGowan, Miss Semola Seegers, Mr. Bernard Plummer, head of industrial therapy, Mrs. Vivian Brooks and Mrs. James Carwiles.

Others who assisted the group were Mesdames Bertha Woods, Anne Bey, Bernice Keller, Bettie Fuller, Pearl Fuller, Louise Wilder, Stella Taylor, Misses Mary Lou Springer and Stella Collins and James Braxton.

THE SENIOR Choir of Eastport Methodist Church, for a number of years, has brought to the Annapolis public, a program of Christmas music of the highest calibre.

A highlight of the program presented on last Sunday evening featured excerpts from Handel's "The Messiah," featuring the baritone recitative and aria, "Thus Saith the Lord" and "But Who Shall Abide," sung by the Rev. Rufus S. Abernathy, minister of the church.

The tonal qualities of his voice were good and he showed that he had acquired a rounded out breath control along with good diction.

The choir sang "He Shall Feed His Flock," "Glory to God," "Unto That Teliest Good Tidings" and "The Hallelujah Chorus." There was precision in the singing of the various parts of these difficult but beautiful numbers by the choir and it is to be commended for a good rendition of the entire program.

The old English melody, "Greensleeves," "Infant, Holy, Infant Lowly", a Polish air, "Gentle Mary Laid Her Child," written in the 14th century and "Carol of the Little King" varied from the usual Christmas music of American carols.

Cousins' "Glorious Everlasting" and Beethoven's "Hallelujah Chorus," two unusual arrangements in anthem style, were other numbers which called for great coordination of voices and tones. The choir showed ability in the attack of the beginning of the renditions as well as the interspersion of new tones within each song.

Miss Henrietta Thompson, Minister of Music, and director of tre grocp, did all the accompanying as organist.

She did two concert renditions on the organ, compositions of Bach, Fantasia on "In Dulci Jubilo" and "Toccata Finale."

Members of the choir are: Sopranos: Katherine Chase, Mary Crowdy, Magdalene Duvall, Lena Hopkins, Helen Johnson, Jacqueline Parker, Melville Pergerson, Charlotte Smith, Adele Thompson and Jacqueline Thompson;

Altos: Geneva, Brown, Leona Carroll, Sarah Hilton, Lucille Little, Mary B. Thompson;

Basses: R. S. Abernathy, Springfield Chase, Cornelius Johnson; Tenors: Charles Brown and Solomon Turner.

ADA wants LBJ to spell out goals

WASHINGTON

"ADA looks to the Presidential messages in the New Year to spell out in detail his efforts to translate goals into reality."

Americans for Democratic Action National chairman John H. Roche, made the comment on President Johnson's speech on outlines for a broad attack on poverty and civil commitment to a constructive policy for world peace.

"We are under no illusion that it will be easy to achieve these goals," Roche said. "Though the needs are great and clear, the barriers of opposition and obstruction are formidable. Yet it must be said of all these goals what the President said of one of the civil rights:

"The endless abrasions of delay, neglect and indifference have rubbed raw the national conscience. We have talked too long, done too little, and all of it too late."
