

WHISTLE STOP — The state of Maryland is comparatively small. Yet Joseph Tydings has managed to put in nearly 50,000 miles of travel to meet voters in every corner of the state. To do it he has used all modes ception of horseback. Here he poses on rear platform of his B. and O. Whistle Stop Special train which he used on a day-long tour of Western Maryland last week.

FRIENDLY GREETING — Mrs. Mae Harrell, president of the Shiloh Baptist Church usher board and Deacon Alfred Cheeks greeted the candidate and staff assistant Frank Ellis when they stopped in to meet the congregation. After urging his listeners to help help LBJ in office, Mr. Tydings noted that their late pastor, the Rev. Timothy Boddie, died on the same day that President Kennedy was assassinated — Nov. 22. "President Kennedy literally picked this country up and brought out the good in all of us. You must help President Johnson continue," he said.

UNITY PLEDGE — Despite recurring rumors that many high-ranking state Democrats will secretly work for the election of GOP nominee J. Glenn Beall, leading party officials publicly plugged for the election of Democratic standard bearer Joseph D. Tydings at recent Young Citizens for Johnson and Humphrey banquet. Incumbent Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, guest speaker, left, Mrs. Marcia Moylan Jr., co-chairman, and Gov. J. Millard Tawes were among head table guests at the affair where all candidates and officials urged support for Tydings.

TEENAGERS FOR TYDINGS — This youthful trio, William Nance and Misses Annie DeShields and Terry Carey, chat quietly while waiting to hear candidate speak at a party rally. "Our youth," he has said, "represents this nation's most valuable resource."

'AMENS' AND APPLAUSE — Enthusiastic applause follows brief speech of candidate at the Friendship Baptist Church where he said the election of President Lyndon B. Johnson and Hubert H. Humphrey is "absolutely" necessary because they will continue the type of leadership given by the martyred President John F. Kennedy while Republican Barry Goldwater is seeking to "bring out the worst in us by setting brother against brother, section against section and playing on hate, fear, and racism." The pastor, the Rev. Preston Johnson, is in the pulpit.
