Scholar-Athlete dinner a most worthy event

By SAM LACY

One of the high points of the Maryland scholastic sports program will be reached Wednesday night when the annual Scholar-Athlete Dinner is held for the eighth time at the Eastwind.

Youngsters from 63 area high schools who boast records of excellence in the classroom as well as high performance on the athletic field, will vie for the honor of being designated as the most versatile of the lot.

The Scholar-Athlete award, which carries with it a $2,500 college scholarship, is funded by the National Football Hall of Fame Foundation in conjunction with the Baltimore Chapter of the Quarterback Club. It is designed to call attention to the youth whose achievements are smothered by the publicity which more often goes to the rebels of their set.

For this reason, the Scholar-Athlete citation is one of the most sought-after of all the honors placed in competition for boys in their senior year.

Twelve of the young candidates are shown in this AFRO display.

Their names were submitted to Robert K. Norman, chairman of the selection committee, with brief resumes of their academic and athletic performance while in school.

Ben Daniels is the Glen Burnie High School nominee.

As a scholar, young Daniels ranks sixth in a class of 588, holding a grade point average of 3.7 of a possible 4.0 score. A member of the National Honor Society, he served two years as treasurer of the Varsity Club.

He was a two-way end, leading the team in receptions and standing out as a defensive ace. Daniels was a member of the varsity basketball team for two years, and holds school records in track — in the long jump, triple jump and high jump.

Lawrence Onley shows a classroom average of 92 percent in the college prep course for his three years at City, which places him in the upper 20 percent of his class.

He was a starter on the football team for two years and played four different positions. In his spare time, Lawrence serves as a volunteer coach for young boys attending the recreation center near his home. He also plays tennis.

An all-purpose regular on the football team and it's co-captain in his senior year, Stewart Monroe is the nominee from Forest Park.

Stewart, aside from playyears, competed on the lacrosse varsity for two years and a basketball letterman in his junior year.

Academically, young Monroe carries a B average and ranks in the top fifth of his class.

Poly's Kent Davis carries a 92.7 average and ranks in the top four percent of a class of 563. His teachers are enthusiastic about his work as a senior in the engineering option of the Advanced College Preparatory Course.

Young Kent played fullback on the 1970 MSA conference champions for Poly; was an outfielder-catcher and hit .318 for the varsity baseball team, and set several school records in swimming.

George Jones, representing Douglass, is a member of the National Honor Society, of Merits' Who's Who, and of the Distinguished Students for Scholarship Excellency. He ranks in the top tenth of his class, is the president of the Student Council, member of Upward Bound and of the Scholarship Club at Douglass.

Athletically, George was quarterback-linebacker on the football team, and was recipient of outstanding-swimmer honors for the 1969-70 campaign.

Mergenthaler Vocational nominated Wayne Frazier, a 3-year regular on the football team, a member of the wrestling varsity for a similar period, and a weight entry for the rack team.

Ranked in the upper 10 percent of his class, Wayne is president of the senior class, president of the Varsity Club, and a member of the Student Advisory Council on the Mayor's Committee on School and Governmental Affairs.

Carl Lockley of Edmondson, shows a college board score in excess of 900, ranks in the top tenth of his class and maintains a B average for his three years in the classroom.

He has engaged in varsity competition in football, track and weight training, and, according to his coaches, never missed a practice or game in three years at Edmondson. Additionally Carl serves as a Sunday School teacher, scoutmaster and as a block captain in the Annual Clean Block Campaign in his neighborhood.

Northern's Herbert Clinton captained the school's championship football team, playing both offense and defense. He also served as captain in varsity track.

He is ranked in the top 10 percent of his class, and in the top three percent in his college board scores.

Antonio Biondo has been on the Honor Roll at Archbishop Curley throughout his four years in the school. He shows an average of 91 generally, belongs to the National Honor Society, Chemistry and French clubs, and serves as a laboratory assistant in chemistry and physics.

Athletically, Antonio was an outstanding member of the football varsity from his freshman year.

Glenelg's Ralph Dawson was a member of the National Honor Society in his first and second years, and is a candidate for an upcoming certificate. He stands 30th in a class of 248.

Young Dawson captained the Glenelg football varsity for two years, and was chosen all-county for both offense and defense in the last season.

An honor student during his stay at Dunbar High, James Yarborough is that school's nominee. He graduates in June in the top five percent of his class.

In three years on the Poet eleven, James played both ways at guard. He also competed in JV basketball and track.

Burton Sklar's name has been submitted by Northwestern High. He carries a 2.6 average in a possible 4.0 score, and ranks in the upper fourth of his class.

He was a regular on both offense and defense for the for two years on the lacrosse ten, and was a member of the JV swimming team.
