CBS 'Young People's Concert' presents Dean Dixon May 23

"Participation Concert," with Dean Dixon as guest conductor and narrator, will be presented as the third of this season's New York Philharmonic Young People's Concerts Sunday on CBS.

The program, in conductor Dixon's words, will be "a new kind of modern concert form in which we — the orchestra and I up here on the stage and you out there in the audience — both participate. We work, you work — we have fun, you have fun. And we all use our ears and eyes and brains."

• • •

The "musical game" consists of six parts: visual orchestration, accumulative musical counting, composers' names, musical terms, symphonic analysis and "composer's helper."

To play the game, question sheets were distributed to the youngsters in the audience at Philharmonic Hall when the broadcast was taped recently.

• • •

The music of five composers — four of them classical, the fifth modern — was utilized by Dixon to illustrate the musical quiz. Heard on the program are "The Bureaucrat" from Shostakovich's ballet "The Bolt," the allegro con brio movement from Prokofiev's Clasical Symphony, the allegretto scherzando from Beethoven's Eighth Symphony, excerpts from Haydn's "Farewell" Symphony, and "Presto" from Serenade for Orchestra by Ulysses Kay.

Roger Englander is producer-director of the New York Philharmonic Young People's Concerts.
