North YMCA children's center opens

A Saturday Morning Day Care Center will open its doors to 4- and 5-year-old boys and girls January 11, from 9-12 noon at the N. Baltimore YMCA, 35th St. and the Alameda.

Ms. Carol Roberts, director of the center, promises "many games, crafts, and other activities for the youngsters, who can be dropped off as parents do Saturday shopping."

The North Baltimore Y has other Saturday programs for older children, too. For more information, contact Ms. Roberts at 467-2564.

Lawyers hasten appeal of fighter's turndown

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Attorneys for former middleweight boxer Rubin "Hurricane" Carter and John Artis say they will appeal a judge's refusal to grant the two a new trial on their eight-year-old murder convictions.

Saying he failed to hear the "ring of truth" in claims by two key witnesses that they had lied at the original trial, Superior Court Judge Samuel A. Larner turned down Wednesday the defendants' request for a new hearing.

Carter, 38, and Artis, 29, are currently serving three life prison terms each for the murder of three persons shot to death in a Paterson bar on June 17, 1966.

Paul Feldman, Carter's attorney, said Wednesday that he was preparing an appeal to Larner's decision, and hoped to have it delivered to the state appellate division of Superior Court by Monday.

"We'll take the appeal anywhere we have to take it to get the right result," Feldman said. "If I thought going to California courts would do any good, I'd go there too."

Artis' attorney, John W. Noonan, said he too would file an immediate appeal.

Carter, on the other hand, calmly accepted the setback. "I imagined he would turn me down. I wasn't looking for anything from him," Carter said of Judge Larner.

"His (Larner's) personal views were publicized when he said I was guilty," Carter said in an interview on the now-abandoned "Death Row" in Trenton State Prison. "There were a lot of things I said about the judge in my book which were uncomplimentary."

Carter, 38, has written a book about his life in prison.

"For a person who has been involved in the legal system of New Jersey for so long I think it would be naive to think it (the conviction) would be changed," Carter said.

"There have been lies and deals involved here. If my case had been before a new judge, I would have been 50-50 optimistic."

Carter, who refuses to wear prison garb because he maintains he is innocent, was dressed in a blue shirt over a turtleneck and streaked jeans. His shoes had a spit shine and his head was clean-shaven.

He said he felt especially bad for his wife and 11-year-old daughter, who see him twice a month.

"She knows her daddy's not guilty of any crime and the same people who put him in here are not about to let him out," Carter said of his daughter.

Carter, at one time a top middleweight boxing contender and outspoken figure in the black community in Paterson, said the denial of his motion for a new trial was especially bitter for him because other persons guilty of crimes were not going to jail.

He mentioned former President Richard M. Nixon and former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

"My case is so flagrantly out of whack that no justice is forthcoming," Carter said. "I see politics being played with my life — like when the judge said why should he be deprived of this conviction."

27 MSA youngsters seek $2500 grant and 'Unsung Hero' honor

By Sam Lacy

Twenty-seven starry-eyed young athletes from MSA high schools will convene tonight (Friday) at the Hunt Valley Inn, hoping to be named the "unsung hero" of the 1974 high school football year.

The award, given annually by the McCormick Co., carries with it a $2,500 scholarship to a college of the winner's choice.

Lenny Moore, former All-Pro running back of the Baltimore Colts, will be the main speaker.

Of the five previous winners, two are black — Cyril O. Byron Jr., of Northwestern in 1970, and Robert Mosley of Douglass in 1972. Other selectees were Michael Kavanagh of Patterson, 1969; Kevin Healy of Cardinal Gibbons, 1971, and William Rider of Patterson, last year.

Among those nominated by their respective schools for tonight's award are the following:

LEROY BRADFORD JR. — Forest Park — "Known to his teammates as 'Cubby,' Bradford played both offense and defense because of Forest Park's very small squad of 22 players. 'Cubby' has played in any position where he was needed. Though he played with pain on several occasions, he never complained. He thrives under pressure, is dedicated, mature, responsible and unselfish and would do anything for his fellow man. With the help of Leroy Bradford, Forest Park showed the other teams what a small squad with a great amount of pride and heart could do."

KARLOS BYNUM — Lake Clifton — "In the two years that Karlos was a member of the varsity football team, he never missed a practice and played both offense and defense in all scheduled games. Karlos' determination to overcome a physical disability, although enduring pain and adversity, was an inspiration to all of his teammates and his coach. His unselfishness and teamsmanship were demonstrated by his willingness to learn three different positions to give the team some much-needed added depth. He inspired the team by his work and actions on the field, and he is the one man on the club whom the coaches would like to see the other players imitate."

ERIC FELTON — Walbrook — "Known at school as 'Cricket,' Eric has been an inspirational leader to his teammates, encouraging them to go all out on every play. When injured early in the season, 'Cricket' immediately began to help his substitute, either telling him what is expected of him on the field or patting him on the back for good work done. As a student and as an athlete, 'Cricket' has set an outstanding example for his schoolmates, and he is regarded as a truly All-American young man. 'Cricket' has never sought recognition that he so deservedly has earned, but he won for himself a starting position on the team and the respect of all of his teammates and coaches."

HARRY JOHNSON — Dunbar — "Harry, called 'J.J.' by his friends, doubles both as quarterback and defensive halfback. He has been a true inspiration to his teammates by being first on the field and always drumming up spirit among his teammates with a 'never-say-die spirit' despite the score. In a letter to his coach, one of 'J.J.'s' teammates described Harry as being 'someone who stood outside all the rest, someone who would try to keep the spirit up when it was down. We had fair players but not enough determination, but 'J.J.' gave it to us.' He is a hard worker and always takes that extra step to help whenever and wherever he is needed."

OTIS LEWIS — Douglass — "Usually called 'O.T.,' Otis also enjoys baseball, as well as football. He contributed substantially to the over-all team spirit by his constant encouragement to each team player whether he was a starter or substitute, and his unceasing drive on the field to help the team. 'O.T.' became an offensive starter this year and a defensive substitute after having been a defensive stalwart the year before. He accepted this challenge and change with no reluctancy at all. 'Let me play where I can help my team and my school,' he said when approached about the Change. 'O.T.'s' attitude, temperament and respect for the rights of others has impressed his coaches and teammates who unanimously selected him as their choice as Unsung Hero, teammate and friend."

WILLIAM MORANT — Edmondson — "As a halfback, center, and guard during the 1974 season, Willie was always hustling and cheering his teammates, frequently urging them 'don't follow and don't lead — let's all work together.' He was an important cog in Edmondson's pass-minded offense and frequently had to block much larger football players and he did it successfully. His teammates realize that without Willie's blocking, the Edmondson quarterback would not have been able to throw for 1,350 yards gain in nine games, and he is described by his coach as 'the finest blocker in Edmondson High's history.' His 5' 10" and 170 lb. frame left many defensive ends and tackles wondering what had hit them. Willie was injured many times but never missed a game. He works with the Upward Bound Program, has a job to help his mother, yet his extra efforts and undying dedication is an inspiration to all of his teammates."

WILLIAM SAMUEL — Carver — "Though no explanation is given, William is known to his teammates as 'Mad Owl.' He has never missed a practice and has carried out all his assignments with energy and enthusiasm, being ever willing to fill any spot where needed. William never criticized a teammate, but a smile or pat on the back was his way of saving a job well done or let's try a little harder. During the season, William played at three defensive positions, being used where he could best serve the team, but by moving to various positions he was prevented from gaining recognition at any one spot in spite of his outstanding performance game after game. He never bragged or complained about his lot, but worked hard to fulfill it."
