'Mopeds' become bicycles

Motor-assisted pedal vehicles, commonly known as "mopeds" and capable of speeds of up to 30 miles per hour, officially become bicycles instead of motorcycles in Maryland as of July 1. Ejner J. Johnson, state motor vehicle administrator, states House Bill 671, enacted at the 1976 session of the Maryland General Assembly, changes the legal definition of bicycles from vehicles "propelled exclusively by human power" to vehicles "operated by human power or with assistance of a motor . . . of less than 50 cubic centimeters . . . or less than one horsepower. "As bicycles," Johnson continued. "mopeds will not require license tags or insurance, and operators will not have to wear a hemlet.

Copeland to speak here

On Saturday, June 19, at 7 p.m., Vincent Copeland, contributing editor to Workers World newspaper, will speak on "The Rich Get Richer, as the Poor Get Poorer—How to Turn it Around," and will discuss racism and the oppression of poor and working people under capitalism. Vine Copeland is a founding member of Workers World Party. As a steelworker in the post-war period, he fought against the rigid segregation and racism that kept black workers in the dirtiest, hardest jobs. He fought for and won the enforcement of plant-wide seniority which enabled black workers to get better jobs. Because of his success in fighting workers' grievances, the bosses unleashed a vicious red-baiting campaign and fired him. In response, 17,000 co-workers walked off their jobs in protest of the firing. The meeting will take place in the downtown Central YMCA at Cathedral and Franklin Sts. Children are welcome; childcare will be provided. For more information call 366-3713.

Big Band at War Plaza

Mayor Schaefer announces that Baltimore's Big Band conducted by Gene Walker will perform in War Memorial Plaza on Sunday, June 20, 7 to 9 p.m. Outdoor performances to be held each Sunday evening until Aug. 22 (except July 4) not only will feature the Big Band sound popularized by Count Basie and Stan Kenton, but also will offer modern jazz and selections of contemporary music with a rock beat. Guest soloist with the Big Band is Luella Bright who will offer a variety of popular ballads. Audience seating is provided and there is no admission charge to these concerts.

Provident to cite doctors

Twenty-two local physicians and dentists will be honored at the Provident Hospital annual medical and dental staff dinner on Saturday, June 19 at the Bluecrest North. These physicians and dentists are being honored for their 40 years of dedicated service in the Baltimore community. Those being honored are: Dr. James Carr, Dr. McDonald Bando, Dr. Ted Phifer, Dr. Bruce Alleyne, Dr. Fred Adams, Dr. M. L. Barksdale, Dr. Charles C. Campbell, Dr. I. Bradshaw Higgins, Dr. Evan Gilkes, Dr. Richard Telinde, Dr. George G. Finney Sr. Also, Dr. Frank Sykes, Dr. J. T. Camper, Dr. George McDonald, Dr. Charles Watts, Dr. William H. Watts, Dr. N. Louise Young, Dr. Dudley Lee, Dr. McKinley Reesby, Dr. Albert LaForest, Dr. Jesse Weaver, and Dr. Walter Shervington.

Sight talks set July 7

"Seeing Well As You Grow Older" will be the topic of a talk to be given by Dr. Shaukat Kahn, at Dundalk - Turner's Station Lunch Plus Program at Fleming Community Center, Pittsburgh and Main Ave. The program will also feature a movie entitled, "Save Your Sight" and staff members of the Maryland Society for the Prevention of Blindness, a United Fund Agency, will be present to do vision screening for those participants who may wish to avail themselves of this service. Literature on cataract, glaucoma and general eye care will also be available.

18 die on Md. highways

Eighteen persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways last week, according to the Maryland State Police. Of those killed 10 were drivers, five were passengers and three were pedestrians. Four of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officers could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use. Again the week has been marred by the loss of five motorcyclists in Maryland and a total of 22 have died so far this year. Not enough can be said in regard to safety for motorcyclists. They are out there unprotected and on their own. Opponents of motorcycle helmets frequently claim that helmets hinder safety by reducing the cyclist's ability to hear. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration summarizes recent research showing that safety helmets have very little effect because, while they deaden an incoming signal to some extent, they also tend to reduce the "masking noise" of the motorcycle itself.

YMCA sets summer camp

The Central YMCA, located at 24 W. Franklin St., is offering a new day camp - Camp Ruk-A-Muk, this summer. Camp Ruk-A-Muk will run from June 28 through Aug. 20, in two week periods, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. A highlight of each week will be a trip to the Black Rock Outdoor YMCA which is on 185 acres of rolling countryside in Butler. Here the children have the opportunity to go horseback riding, participate in a cook-out and investigate nature trails. The price for each two week session is $30, plus basic YMCA membership ($10). For more information call 539-7350.

40,000 masons expected for confab

Over 40,000 members of the Royal Arch Masons and Heroines of Jericho will be attending the general grand conference of the organization scheduled for June 24-30 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Activities for the four-day event include keystone ball, June 26; street parade, June 27; and a banquet set for June 28.

To be hosted by the Maryland chapter, the 14th joint conference will be attended by participants from across the country and the Bahamas.

Master Masons, having been well established in their meritorious endeavors decided that it would be fitting and proper to form an auxiliary enabling their wives, daughters, mothers, sisters and widows for extra protection unknown to the general public, hence the Courts of Heroines of Jericho was organized over 100 years ago in Baltimore.

There were three courts, namely Zerrubabbel Court No. 1, instituted in 1848; St. John's Court No. 2, instituted November 7, 1889; and Emmanuel Court No. 4, instituted in 1913.

However, since these early days, the members of the Heroines of Jericho, have set apart three additional Courts in this state. These three Courts are: J. Murray Ralph Court No. 5, Dobson Court No. 6, and Rosa J. Richardson Court No. 7.

Today, these six courts carry on the work projected by Rahab Grand Court, participating in charitable doctrines, civic and educational functions in and around this city.

The Heroines of Jericho Degree, dates back to 1450 B.C. It is the oldest and most perfect of all female degrees. The Royal Arch dates back to the building of the second Temple of King Solomon.

Currently, the organization is fortunate to have as its principal leadership Heroines and Companions who possess humility, sincerity, capabilities and unstinted devotion for Rahab Grand Court.

The officers of Hiram Holy Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons P.H.A. are:

Louis Alton, Grand High Priest; Ronald Reid, Deputy Grand High Pirest; Irwin Okedas, Deputy King; Elijah Brown, Grand Scribe; John Baynard, Grand Secretary; Luther Jackson, Treasurer;

Glen Burnie housing owner cited for discrimination

The Department of Justice has obtained a consent order prohibiting housing discrimination against blacks by the operators of the 154 unit apartment complex in Glen Burnie in Anne Arundel County. The agreement and a civil suit against Glen Ridge Apartments, Inc., were filed in U.S. District Court in Baltimore.

In essence the suit charged that the defendent has steered applicants on the basis of race from all white to integrated apartment complexes and pursued a policy and practice of discriminating against persons on the basis of race and color in violation of the Fair Housing Act of 1968.

According to Dickens Warfield, president of Baltimore Neighborhoods, Inc., (BNI), a local civil rights agency, the Justive Department investigation and action was triggered by a BNI complaint alleging that the discriminatory practives included "steering".

Under the consent order the defendant is premanently enjoined from discriminating against any person in the rental of an apartment because of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

The defendant in addition to keeping certain records and reporting to the court for two years and taking other action must:

Make known on all signs, billboards and at the rental office that all dwellings will be rented on a non-discriminatory basis.

All advertising for apartment vacancies shall include the slogan "equal housing opportunity."

Defendants employees and agents must become familiar with the Court Order. Failure to comply could cause demotion suspension or dismissal.

Manintain a list of current and expected vacanies to be available for all applicants and inquirers. A monthly list of vacanies must be sent to BNI and the local NAACP Chapter.

Seven victims of discrimination must be given the opportunity to move from Glen Mar Apartments. Moving expenses of up to $100 per move will be paid by the defendant.

Don Miller, associate director of BNI said "to my knowledge, this is the first known legal action by the Justice Department against an apartment complex in the Baltimore area."

Mr. Warfield encourages individuals who feel they are being discriminated against in seeking housing to contact BNI at 243-6007.

MASON LEADERS who will be hosting the upcoming June 24-30 conference of the Masons at the Lord Baltimore hotel are from left Grand Most Worthy Joshua Luther Jackson, Grand Most Ancient Matron Edith A. Mosby of Rahab Grand Court, Heroines of Jericho; and Most Excellent Grand High Priest Louis W. Alton of Hiram Holy Grand Chapter of RAM.

Mathias sets hearing on juvenile crime

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Md.) Will conduct Senate hearings June 22 in Annapolis and June 24 in Baltimore on juvenile crime in Maryland.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, former president of the Johns Hopkins University, who served as chairman of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, heads the list of witnesses.

Others scheduled to testify include state and local youth services and law enforcement officials, members of citizens organizations and private groups that work with youthful offenders, and young people who have been in trouble with the law.

The Annapolis hearing will begin at 9 a.m. June 22 in the Judiciary Proceeding Room of the House of Delegates Office Building.

The Baltimore hearing will begin at 9 a.m. June 24 in Room G-30 of the Federal Office Building in Hopkins Plaza.

Mathias is the ranking minority member of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee, which is holding the hearings.

The purpose of the hearings, Mathias said, is "to examine the juvenile crime situation in Maryland and the federal role in helping the state and local governments with their programs in this area."

Witnesses scheduled to testify in Annapolis include Warren Duckett, State's Attorney for Anne Arundel County; Ted Lucas, assistant Maryland Secretary for Juvenile Services and Mental Retardation.

Young to speak at black seminar

Cong. Andrew Young will be the keynote speaker for the opening session of the 1976 Summer Institute for Afro-American Culture, being held at the University of Maryland — College Park, June 20 through July 2.

"The Black Experience in America: A Retrospective" is the topic of the two-week Institute, which will focus on a 200-year assessment of the history and culture of Afro-Americans through lectures, panels, films, and dramatic presentations by distinguished scholars and artists.

A graduate of Howard University and the Hartford Theological Seminary, Cong. Young was a leader in the civil rights movement of the Sixties as a close associate of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. In 1972 he was elected to the United States House of Representatives as the first black Congressman from Georgia since Reconstruction.

Other guest speakers for the Institute include John Bracey, Thomas Cripps, Charles T. Davis, David Driskell, Gladys-Marie Fry, Addison Gayle, Louis Harlan, Robert B. Hill, Jacob Lawrence, Edward Margolies, Julian Mayfield, Dorothy Porter, Benjamin Quarles, and Darwin T. Turner.

A highlight of the Institute will be a panel on school busing, Friday, June 25, at 8 p.m., with panelists Mona H. Bailey, James S. Coleman, Derek Bell, Al-Tony Gilmore and Charles V. Hamilton.

Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee will make the final presentation of the Institute with "An Evening of Black America," July 2 at 8 p.m. (complimentary tickets are required).

All events will be held in the School of Architecture auditorium.

Teen pageant, one of most noted in country; Vanessa Hall crowned queen of local contest

MD. WINNER—Vanessa Jeanette Hall, 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Eleanor G. Hall, won the crown of Miss U.S. Talented Teen Maryland on Sunday at Coppin State College.

By Marie P. Cooke
Reflections Editor

Since its inception some six years ago, Hal Jackson's Miss U.S. Teen Pageant and Revue based out of New York City has gained the reputation of being among the top ranking productions in the field.

The national production has achieved recognition outside of the country and this year plans to take its state winners (some 40 or more) to the U.S. Virgin Islands for the national competition.

Jackson, a New York radio personality, and his wife, Alice, a former TV producer, produce the pageant on a full-scale, year-round basis.

Originally it was known as the Miss Black Teenage America Beauty Pageant with the national competition being held in New York.

The Maryland franchise holder is Pinnie L. Ross, owner, operator of Pinnie's Charm Studio in Columbia. Mrs. Ross, a professional fashion model and instructor, is an active civic worker and a regular columnist for the AFRO (Columbia Capers). She is a specialist in the field of pageantry, having coordinated several throughout the state.

Mrs. Ross acquired the Maryland franchise this year from the Jacksons. In previous years, however, she sponsored the pageant only in Howard County.

Two of her county winners won the state contest and went on to New York. One year she had a national winner, Edna Hill of Columbia.

Rules and regulations for entering and participating in the state - national contest are strict and prospective contestants must meet the requirements as said by the Jacksons.

Some 17 teenage girls, ages 13-16 competed for the Maryland title on Sunday at Coppin State College. The contest concluded a weekend of pre-pageant activities, including a press preview and parade and some five weeks of preparation.

Each contestant participated in four areas, namely the preview, appearance, personality and achievement; performing talent and was graded accordingly by a group of noted judges.

Following the third segment, performing talent, some five semi - finalists were selected—and the competition grew greater and more tense. Each was asked a specific question and graded on the answer given.

This year's winner is Vanessa Jeanette Hall, 15, a ninth grader at Northern High School. She is the daughter of Mrs. Eleanor G. Hall of Kirk Avenue and someday hopes to become a lawyer. Her sponsor was George Boyd, manager of the Fabulous Friends Plus One.

Vanessa's performing talent, a dramatic reading, held a black bicentennial theme. She will give the same presentation at the national contest in July.

Runners-up were: Jackie Harris, 15, of Annapolis, sponsored by Bob Matthews, Archway Ford and the Stanton Community Center in Annapolis; Carlene Walker, 15, of Baltimore County, sponsored by her family; Darlene Robinson, 16, Baltimore, sponsored by her family, and Yolanda Woods, 14, Baltimore County, sponsored by Charles Grant.

Other contestants included: Jacqueline Grant, 13, Baltimore; Janine Coleman, 14, Baltimore County; Crystal Cummings, 14, Baltimore; Joan Thompson, 15, Baltimore; Joyce Porter, 15, Baltimore; Vanessa Williams, 15, Baltimore; Cynthia Howard, 16, Baltimore; Desiree Dodson, 13, Baltimore; Diane Ferguson, 13, Baltimore; Rochel Galloway, 15, Baltimore, Marlene Garrison, 16, Baltimore, and Cherylle Brown, 16, Baltimore.

Cynthia Howard won the Miss Congeniality award. A scholarship award was presented by Mrs. Ross to Cassandra Cobb to attend Coppin.

Program highlights included a dance performance by Rae Ross, Mrs. Ross' daughter; music by the Fabulous Friends Plus One and a message from Robin Bridgeforth, first runner-up in last year's competition. Miss Bridgeforth also crowned this year's winner.

SATURDAY PARADE—The Miss U.S. Talented Teen Maryland pageant included a weekend of activities leading up to the Sunday evening contest. Among them was an hour-long parade which began at the Fifth Regiment Armory and ended at the Holiday Inn downtown, pageant headquarters.

Cornish hens roast beautifully on outdoor grill

Cornish hens were born to be barbecued. They're plump, meaty and juicy. So their delicate flavor really blossoms out of doors. And Cornish hens go perfectly with all your favorite outdoorsy foods—from steaming hot corn on the cob to crisp, chilly salads. Once you try them served this way, you'll wonder why you never thought of it before.

They're easy to prepare. Simply salt and pepper the cavities of the hens, figuring on one hen per person. Tie the legs together, then mount the birds, crosswise, on the barbecue spit, alternating front-back, front-back. Secure them to the spit with holding forks. Then place them on the rotisserie, six inches over hot coals and turn on the motor.

As the cornish "go round," baste them every 15 minutes or so with butter for 45 minutes. Then, during the last 15 minutes of roasting, brush on your favorite homemade barbecue sauce. Or use one of the bottled sauces. They all taste delicious on Cornish, especially blended with the good taste of charcoal. You'll know the birds are done when the legs move easily at the joints.

A different twist to the same idea is to stuff the hens with canned pineapple chunks or apricot halves before placing them on the spit. The rich flavor of the fruit blended with the Cornish is a mellow treat.

You say you don't have an electric rotisserie on your barbecue? That doesn't mean you have to miss out on this backyard bonanza. Cornish hens taste equally terrific, split and broiled on the grill—about six inches over the hot coals.

First, brush the hens with butter on both sides. Then place them, skin side up, on the rack. Turn them frequently as they cook to brown evenly. And during the last 15 minutes, baste them with a tangy sauce to cook that wonderful saucy flavor in.

And anyone who owns one of the new smoker grills can prepare cornish outdoors, using the smoker

CORNISH HENS roast up beautifully on the rotisserie, steamed in foil over the coals, or simply split lengthwise and brushed with a tangy barbecue sauce.

Speaking of women. . .

(A look at what black women are doing locally.)

Do you know a dynamic woman — an outstanding community leader, church worker, businesswoman, mother, club woman — who is great in her own right? The AFRO wants to know about her. Miss Alicia Daye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Daye, (Madeline) of W. Lanvale St. is a recent graduate (June 11) of Dunbar High School.

At age 18, Miss Daye will enter the Washington College, Wash., D.C. in September of this year where she will major in Alcoholism and Drug Addiction.

A young poet, Miss Daye delivered the senior Farewell Address a few weeks ago in the form of poetry when some 380 graduates bid their final farewell to the school.

The poem entitled, "The Decision" is the young writer's favorite poem. She began writing at age 6.

"The hardships I've been through all my life are the basis for my poetry. I've got a message for young people and my writings are the best way I know how . . .," said Miss Daye.

She continued, "That's why I'm going to college to major in Alcoholism and Drug Addiction. There are too many young alcoholics and too many drug addicts today, and I've got something to tell them."

The Decision

There comes a time in everyone's life.
When there has to be a little sacrifice,
When plans are carried out with ignorance and strife.

When we must put down
the spoon
And use the knife.
When we must put away
the toys of yesterday
And learn a new game, a new way.
The games people play
aren't games at all, They're just the answer to summer when it's fall.
As we stand at the fork of our road
Our future is reaped and our ideas are sowed.

Who am I, who will I be?
My entire life rests on the decision of me.
Life's basic foundation is the clue,
How can I prepare myself, what can I do?
I live for happiness and success,
Whatever I'll be, I want to be the best,
I want to be loved and to be free;
This is my foundation, so you can see,
Whatever makes us
happy will determine
What we will be.
