Jack and Jill

Jack and Jill of America, Inc., Baltimore Chapter will celebrate its 30th anniversary with a 'Founders' Day luncheon tomorrow (Saturday) at 1 p.m. at Emerald Gardens. For ticket information call 578-1536 or 922-9389.

Jack and Jill of America, Inc. was founded by Marion Stubbs Thomas in the city of Philadelphia, Penn. in January, 1938. From the meeting of twenty mothers in Philadelphia, the idea of bringing together the children in a social and cultural relationship has avalanched into 139 chapters throughout the United States today. The idea spread, first to New York City in 1939; to Washington, D.C. in 1940; to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania in 1944; and to Baltimore Maryland in 1946.

The Baltimore Chapter was organized by the Cornelias, a mother's group initiated by Gaynelle Spauling. Sadie Marshall Douglass, president of the Cornelias at that time, became first president of Jack and Jill. This group of twenty-five remained intact until 1947, when the club enlarged to fifty members. This year the membership totals seventy-five.

Former presidents of the Baltimore Chapter are: Saide Douglass, Bernice Monroe, Marion Banfield, Bernice Wynn, Charlotte Mebane, Ida M. Smith, Blanche Hughes, Ruth Lighston, Grace Scott, Carolyn Willis, Helen Whittaker, Kathleen Carter, Juanita Gates, Anne Emery, Joyce Neal, and Catherine Howard.

Mrs. Marion Patterson is the current president of the organization. Mrs. Catherine Howard is chairman of the Founders' Day Luncheon.

Omega Psi Phi

The brothers of Pi Omega Chapter, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., recently held a unique Denim Discoteque Party for their annual 'Wives and Sweethearts Affair.' The party was held at the Cross Keys, Holiday Room in Baltimore. It featured the wearing a stylish denim, exquisite cuisine prepared by the brothers, the old favorites, as well as current music and dancing, under the auspices of Bob Dockins, a local radio personality; and a variety of games.

The party began with a cheese and wine sip at the homes of four brothers in different areas of the city. At 8:30 this preliminary party ended and the brothers, wives, and sweethearts converged on the Cross Keys Holiday Room for the main party. Denim was the order of dress for the evening for males and females, old and young, the petite and the gross. There were different hues of blue, canary, peach, rust, green and other colors; there were pants suits, leisure suits, dress suits, dresses and other apparel of denim to add to the beauty of the room.

Another order of the party was that the food would be prepared by the brothers, personally without the help of their wives or sweethearts. As with the dress of the evening, the Brothers of Pi Omega out did themselves in the making of their "specialties." A succulent "spread" was presented that almost transversed the longest part of the room. It included, stuffed rock fish, chili, fried chicken, steamed shrimp, ham, roast beef, liver royale d'orange and a wide assortment of vegetables, salads and desserts.

The discoteque atmosphere was expertly created by Bob Dockins of WWIN. He played the old favorites as well as the current tunes, which caused the feet of Omegadom to do the Twist, the Madison, the Bump, the Limbo, and the Boogie among others. To bring everything together, especially the people, a number of games were played during the party. These included a horse race game, a matching dance partner game, door prizes and other drawings.

ALL ABOARD — Members of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs boarded several buses last weekend en route to St. Michael's, Md. where they held their quarterly meeting. Shown chatting before boarding the bus are from L-R: Hattie Lilly and Loretta Hall.

Columbia Capers

... by Pinnie L. Ross

In one of my recent columns I made reference to Willie H. Scott, president, Scott Home Improvement Company, here in the new city of Columbia. Mr. Scott was named deputy director of the Mounted Patrol for A.E.A.O.N.M.S., Inc., (P.H.A.) instead of imperial deputy director.

His duties will be to carry instruction and information from the imperial director of Mounted Patrol, and will visit any and all temples requesting assistance from the imperial director. In addition, to his duties he will also be forming new riding and patrol clubs.

The 32-year-old Mr. Scott is a member of many different houses including the Blue House, Royal Arch, 32nd degree Masons (consistory) shrine and knights.

His business is located in a plush suite in the Century Plaza Building, also in the suite are two other black businessmen, Columbia Village Realtor, Joe Gant, Howard County first black broker and McKenneth Associates Insurance agent.

Mr. Scott is chairman of the 18th annual conference and 14th joint session of the General Conference of the Royal Arch and Heroines of Jericho's convention which will be held in Baltimore June 25-30. Co-chairpersons is Heroine Oliver Ann Evens.

The group's parade will start at the Baltimore Civic Center at 3 p.m. and end at the Masonic Temple, Prince Hall on Eutaw Place.

My most sincere appreciation goes to the many parents, friends and well wishers who called to wish us luck prior to the Miss U.S. Talented Teen Pageant held recently at Coppin State College. After the pageant there were still congratulations especially to 15-year-old Vanessa Hall who won the title of Miss U.S. Talented Teen of Maryland.

Attractive and talented were all of the 17 contestants who participated in the contest, not one but all possessed high quality, poise and charm and exhibited significant intelligence and wit.

The true value of the contest lies not in winning, but rather in enjoying the unique opportunity to become acquainted with young people of many different backgrounds, and most of all in developing a spirit of understanding, brotherhood and affection for all people.

Personally, I feel all of the contestants are real winners and should feel a sense of pride from their involvement in the Miss U.S. Talented Teen Pageant.

Darlene Robinson, one of the contestants sent this note:

"Dear Mrs. Ross,

"I am very happy I was picked to be in your pageant. I can truly say that I have learned many things such as posture, keeping a beautiful smile and regaining self-confidence, etc.

"I also can say that I have truly enjoyed myself and even if I don't win I am still a winner because you have taught us that even when you are mad, I understand why.

"I have also made many new friends through your friendship. I have a little poem to show my appreciation.

"Roses are red, violets are blue, angels are sweet and so are you.

With Love,
Darlene Robinson

"P.S. Thank you again for everything you have done. I am very sorry to see you go. I hope sometime in the near future I will meet you again."

The Columbia Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., will celebrate its annual May Week celebration Saturday, June 26 at 12:30 p.m. at the Hunt Valley Country Club, Route 40. Guest speaker will be Chapelle Armstead, Eastern Regional director.

Thought for Today: "Life can only be understood backwards; but it must be lived forwards." Soren Kierkeguard.

Have a nice day!

Hints For Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

June is the traditional month for marriages—a time when so many young people join hands to become one. Then, after the excitement and festivities are over, come the realities of daily living.

The glamour of being a bride slowly fades as she takes on the role of a wife and begins to cook and wash dishes. One problem immediately arises: most young wives do not know which products to buy when they begin housekeeping.

LUX LIQUID LEAVES HANDS SMOOTH AND SOFT

Every time I discuss the choice of a dishwashing detergent with young homemakers, I always make sure to tell them about LUX LIQUID.

I explain that LUX LIQUID not only cleans dishes, but leaves your hands smooth and soft looking.

Whenever I go to a bridal shower, one of my gifts is always a bottle of LUX LIQUID. It never fails to promote conversation.

I then explain how LUX LIQUID can help the bride-to-be avoid rough, red hands. It's good to reassure all of them that hands that do dishes in LUX LIQUID look like hands that do not wash dishes at all.

One thing I really like about a bridal shower is that it makes you remember the day when you, too, said, "I do."

WISK RUNS RINGS AROUND OTHER DETERGENTS

It is always appropriate to talk about home laundering in this column. That's because this is such an important subject for all women—new brides, established housewives and single women as well.

The first thing I told my husband after we were married was that I could not get his shirts clean. But today, with permanent-press fabrics and WISK on the market, I've changed my mind!

WISK is a truly dependable product to use on shirts. Take it from me, it will remove ring around any collars—an especially tough problem for most men.

But that is not all this heavy-duty liquid detergent does. WISK gets your whole wash real clean, too.

WISK should be called "the miracle product" because it does such a great job of removing so many other problem stains in the family wash, too.

What's more, last week Richard used it to clean off our porch cushions that had been left out all year.

That bright red bottle with the WISK label is one that should be found in all well-stocked households. It's worth every cent and more, too.

WISK not only removes rings around the collar —it runs rings around most of its competitors, too.

CLOSE-UP TURNS EVERYONE 'ON'

If you have been watching the CLOSE-UP commercials on TV lately, you might get a better idea why June is the month for marriages. The girls are so often talking to each other about dates and how they can attract the opposite sex.

CLOSE-UP is a toothpaste that certainly can help any woman or man get to the altar sooner. It gets your teeth white and also contains a real mouthwash that keeps your breath fresh.

CLOSE-UP is one of the best buys you can make. It's good for men as well as women because it allows anyone to be "up close" without being offensive.

CLOSE-UP toothpaste is good tasting, too. That makes it even better for close-up situations whenever they occur.

This mouth freshener comes in a tasteful red and also a green mint gel that turn everyone "on" instead of "off."

The TV commercials stress, and I certainly agree, that CLOSE-UP contains real mouthwash. So keep your breath fresh, and put your money where your mouth is by buying CLOSE-UP toothpaste!

It's never too late to start taking care of your personal appearance.

LIFEBUOY'S THE SOAP FOR ACTIVE PEOPLE

All of my discussion in this month's column has been centered around married people. Now I want to tell you about a recent conversation with a friend of the family who happens to be a salesman —and also a bachelor.

A few Sundays ago he came by for brunch and started to talk about, of all things, the importance of good grooming and cleanliness.

"Inez, what about that LIFEBUOY soap I always see around your house?" he asked. "Is it really good?" I immediately asked Richard to get him several bars to take home with him.

We told him he could be sure LIFEBUOY soap would remove all the dirt and sweat that accumulate on his body as he spends so many hours each day on his busy schedule at sales calls. His heavy schedule, always on the go, keeps him constantly under much pressure and strain. LIFEBUOY is just what he needs for a whole day's protection.

He smiled and said, "Thank you, Inez. As you know, I've got to keep fresh-looking and clean all day."

Now it was my turn to smile. "Just be careful. Once you start using LIFEBUOY, some young lady might find a way to lead you down the aisle of matrimony," I chuckled.

I recently read some interesting tips on protection tactics for women that I would like to share.

As women we daily must face the threat of rape or other physical assault. And, as women, we have been taught to be passive and accepting. Our only defense is to scream.

The obvious method of protection is self-defense training for all women, but until each of us can realize this possibility, there are several precautions we can take:

— Make sure your entrances and stairwells at home are well lit.

— Have, and use, strong dead bolt locks on all doors and windows.

— Have your key ready before you enter your home or apartment building.

— Set up an alrm or alerting system with your neighbors.

— Always ask a serviceman, repairman or deliveryman for identification before you let him in.

— Never open your door to a stranger.

— It's good idea to have both a peephole and a strong chain on your front door.

Outside the home women should follow these precautions:

— On the street, try to wear clothing that allows you to move as freely and quickly as possible.

— If you find yourself in danger, yell "Fire" rather than "help" or "rape".

— Carry a whistle in your hand or wear one dangling from your wrist. (Sometimes a whistle can save you when your vocal chords fail.

— Always keep your car doors locked.

— Check the back seat before getting into a car.

— Carry road flares for emergencies.

— Never pick up male hitchhikers.

If you're walking down a dark street, walk near the curb and away from
