Special Inaugural reception had no 'special' invitations

By Marie Phillips-Cooke
Reflections Editor

I'd like to believe that the reality of the affair held on Inauguration night made an impact—of some degree—on those 1,000 persons who attended. The affair, despite some of its minor imperfections, was a cultural experience . . . it made history.

Black folk—it didn't matter who—from every socio-economic level were invited to attend the special Presidential Inaugural Reception "on Capitol Hill" in the famed Caucus Room of the Cannon House. There was no "special" guest list—it was a People's Inauguration" reception, a concept handed down from then President-elect Carter's group.

The affair was coordinated by black folk who included a committee: Erma D. Perry, chairperson; Lillian B. Jones, Dell Henson, Charles Harvey, Alice Press, Dave Watts, Johnnie Stubbs. Also, a public relations - advertising firm: L & H Associates (Louise Johnson and Helen Stafford). And, some special assistance from Congressman Parren J. Mitchell and his staff and James "Diamond Jim" Sears.

A program comprising of local and national artists whose talent was shown in the way of dance, song, prose and poetry was lead by noneother than Mary Carter Smith.

THROUGH THEIR EFFORTS—The Special Maryland Presidential Inaugural Reception was attended and received by nearly 1,000 supporters last Thursday evening in the Caucus Room of the Cannon House in Washington, D.C. Accolades go to Mary Carter Smith, left, who served as mistress of ceremonies, and Erma Perry, chairperson of the special reception committee.

IN THE CROWD—Here are some of the guests who attended the Special Maryland Presidential Inaugural Reception held last Thursday night in the Caucus Room of the Cannon House. From L to R: LL Governor Blair Lee and Tamara Jones, 13, who served as a hostess that night; Seat Pleasant, Md.

Mayor and Mrs. Henry Arrington; Helen Stafford, a partner with L and H: Associates, the firm that handled the arrangements for the affair, and Alberta Scroggins and Congressman Parren J. Mitchell.

LOTS OF MINK — The Rev. Edna Green Isaac of the famed gospel singing group, the Green Singers, entered the inaugural reception in her full-length mink coat which topped an orange and gold gown. The Rev. Mrs. Isaac gave a gospel salute at the affair.

Speaking of women. . .

Ms. Brown promoted at Advance Federal

Zelma A. Brown, an employee at Advance Federal Savings and Loan Association for three and one half years, is the newest officer of the firm. She was named administrative officer at the board of directors meeting on Jan. 19.

For the past two years, Ms. Brown has been administrative assistant to Advance president, Dr. W. O. Bryson Jr.

In her new post, she will assist in the overall administration of the association, with the responsibility for lending, savings, payroll, and other general duties assigned by the president for whom she will act when he is absent.

Just 26 years old, Ms. Brown began with Advance Federal as a management trainee in 1974, working out of the association's main office at 1611 W. North Ave. (near Pennsylvania). When the Northwood branch opened the following year at 1405 E. Cold Spring Lane (near Loch Raven), she was assigned there as assistant to the president.

A graduate of Edmondson High School, Ms. Brown holds a degree in business administration from Morgan State University.

Of her promotion, Advance president Bryson said: "This elevation of Ms. Brown is in line with Advance Federal's policy to promote qualified persons from within the association. We are pleased with Ms. Brown's progress, and feel confident she will render even greater service in her new post as an officer of our association."

With the promotion of Ms. Brown, Advance Federal now has five female officers: Claudia Dennis, assistant vice president, is manager of the Northwood branch; R. Phyllis Rhuebottom, and Carrie M. Young are assistant secretaries, Beatrice F. Golder is executive assistant, loan officer.

The only female member of the association's board of directors is Dr. Beryl W. Williams, Dean of the Center for Continuing Education at Morgan State University.

Do you know a dynamic woman — an outstanding community leader, church worker, businesswoman, mother, club woman — who is great in her own right? The AFRO wants to know about her. Send a brief biographical sketch and black and white glossy picture (or we can arrange to take a photo of her) to: Speaking of Women, c-o AFRO-AMERICAN NEWSPAPER, P.O. Box 1897, Baltimore, Md., 21203. Sorry, pictures can not be returned.

Local Pan-African event a Turner Society project

(Special to AFRO)

The first major Pan-African event to be held in Baltimore will take place across the city on Feb. 11 and 12.

This "Pan-African Liberation Weekend" is being sponsored by the Henry McNeil Turner Society, an organization within Bethel A.M.E. Church, pastored by the Rev. John R. Bryant, at Druid Hill Avenue and Lanvale Street.

Working closely with the Society are the Student Government Association of Coppin State College, Dr. Andrew Billingsley, President of Morgan State University, and Congressman Parren J. Mitchell.

The weekend starts off on Friday, at 7 p.m., produced and photographed by independent film maker Robert Van Lierop.

"A Luta Continua" (Portuguese for "The Struggle Continues") is about the successful revolution in Mozambique against the Portuguese.

"O Povo K Organizado" (The People Organize) deals with the aftermath of the revolution.

Van Lierop will appear and speak on the films.

The Coppin State College auditorium will be the scene of the screening. A $2 donation admission will be charged.

Beginning at 8 a.m. on Saturday, is the Pan-African Liberation Conference, which will be held at Bethel. The conference will feature a variety of African diplomats, representatives of African liberation groups, and black American scholars, and activists, on African affairs. This event will continue until 5 p.m., with a break during which a free lunch will be available. The conference cost is $5.

On Saturday night, Morgan State University and Congressman Mitchell will co-host a "Solidarity Reception" in honor of the ambassadors to the U.S. from 20 African and Carribean countries. The reception will last from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., and will be in Morgan's Refectory.

Congressman Charles Diggs, of Detroit, chairman, House subcommittee on African Affairs, will also attend the reception. The admission is $5.

A package ticket to all three events will cost $10 and any amount paid is a tax-deductible charitable contribution.

Further information can be obtained from R. Simon, Registration Comm. HMTS, P. O. Box 10477 Mt. Washington Station, Baltimore, Md. 21209.

(The next article on the Pan-African Liberation Weekend will feature more information on the Henry McNeil Turner Society and Henry McNeil Turner, the first serious Pan-Africanist).
