R.S.V.P. With Marie

By Marie P. COOKE
Reflections Editor

Retirement is a time for rejoicing. Marion Smith, the Roland Park Junior High music teacher, called it a "celebration" on the invites she sent asking co-workers and other friends to a retirement party for her husband, Ralph J. Smith.

Over 150 persons gathered at their Hilton Road home on Sunday afternoon. Ralph retired June 30, after 23 years in the Baltimore City schools, his last year as assistant principal at Patterson High.

Previously, he had been assistant principal at Douglass High and math teacher and head of the math department at Dunbar High. He began in the school system after he received an honorable discharge from the Army. He held the rank of major and was on active duty in World War II and Korea.

The Smith children, Sidney, a graduate of Boys Latin, now employed by a trucking firm; and Susan, a Western High student, were present for the event. The honoree's sister, Mrs. Richard Perry (Laura), was here from Englewood, N.J.; a brother, Huestis Smith and his wife, Irma, were over from D.C.

Other Washingtonians present were an aunt, Mrs. Carrie Washington; and cousins, Walter B. Sanderson and Ronald Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Premdas, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin and Jessie Perkins.

Masons In Europe

Maryland's Prince Hall Masons' Grand Master Samuel T. Daniels is leading a group of the order's leaders who left Baltimore Thursday for a two-week trip to Europe. He is accompanied by Mrs. Daniels (Gladys).

They will participate in two Prince Hall district conferences in London and in Heidelberg, Germany with members attending from Brussels, the Netherlands and Italy.

The Maryland Masons, including members of the Order of Eastern Star, on the trip are: Grand Worthy Matron Ruth Terry, Grand Worthy Patron Charlie Smith, Grand Conductress Olive Ann Evans, District Deputy Grand Matron Bernice Boggs, District Deputy Elizabeth McCall;

Also, Assistant District Deputy Grand Matron Gladys Lyles, Past Matrons Ruth Fauntleroy, Theodosia Wilson and Lila O. DeShields;

And, Grand Senior Warden Marion W. Barkley, Grand Secretary Kenneth H. Fauntleroy and Grand Trustees Rudolph Leonard and William L. Morton, who is accompanied by his wife, Betty.

Lawn Party

Sunday, July 3 saw many friends of Edna R. Crittenton joined together on the lawn of the Dandridge's — James and Eleanor — Wabash Avenue home to share in her birthday celebration. Out of town guests were from New Jersey and Philadelphia. There was no end to food, refreshments and good times. Edna is a supervisor with GSA Social Security, Woodlawn.

She was welcomed into the ranks of "senior citizen" by Audrey C. Taylor, Alice J. Moulton, the Lloyd Wells, Millard and Delores Murray, James and Georgia Jackson, Edith Miles, Dorothy Johnson, Will and Juanita Graham and Louise D. Littlejohn.

Thanks To God

Think you have troubles? Read on: — Josephine (Josie to friends) Key has her share, yet she called to say that things could be worse and she thanks God her brother did not die in that fire in her home.

She was referring to the Monday evening blaze at the Liberty Road residence where she lives with her young daughter, Rosa. The brother, Roger Welcome, suffered severe burns and is hospitalized.

Because of fire damage, Josie Key called to say that the fund-raiser she had planned for this Saturday has been cancelled. It was to have been a "Hlangani" (get together) featuring her native South African dishes for the Henry McNeil Turner Society of Bethel AME Church.

Ops, We're Sorry

The addition to the omission: In our July 2 edition, there appeared an article, "Putting him — her through," beautifully written by our dear friend Mildred Nelson. It was concerning the Morgan State University Evening Student Council that recently held a banquet where graduates cited that person who had been the most supportive in their achievement. We omitted these graduates and their honorees:

Homer A. Ervin Jr. and Mrs. Dorothy M. Ervin; Vivian Glass, Warren C. Glass; Patricia Harrington, Willie M. Bell; Henry Higgs, Mrs. Ann Higgs; Barbara A. Hill, Mrs. Bertha C. Holley; Michael Howie, Mrs. Anne Howie; Mildred Johnson, Mrs. Georgia E. Morgan;

Curley D. Jones, Mrs. Gilbert R. Jones; Iris Jones, Mrs. Lillian Hall; Paulette McAlily, Mrs. Ethel Fields; Katherine McCaskill, Mrs. Sarrella Mooring; Jesse E. McCoy, Ms. Joyce C. Jones; Barbara McGlotten;

Herbert McClotten Jr.; Iona B. McKnight, Preston McKnight; Charlie Oaks, Mrs. Ida Oaks and the Oaks family; Agnes W. Reaves, J. C. Reaves; Franklin Thompson, Mrs. Pamela Thompson; Doris Verrett, Mrs. Rachel Robinson;

Gloria Webb, Mrs. Mary Etta Carter; Marguerite A. White, Richard White; Marjorie Wilkins, Mrs. Constance Vaiden; Andrea E. Yates, Larry L. Yates; James W. Young, Mrs. Ophelia Young.

Also, William Faison was the coordinator of the affair; Dr. Beryl W. Williams is dean, Center for Continuing Education.

Baby Shower

Mrs. Dennis Parrott (the former Miss Kathy Owens) was recently showered with baby gifts by the faculty, staff and students of the Mordecai Gist Elementary School, Granada and Oakley Avenues.

The proud mother-to-be received everything the baby, who is expected to arrive in October, will need for his first years of life.

Mrs. Parrott is a graduate of Towson State College and is a six-year sixth grade teacher at the school. She is the daughter of Ms. Alice King and the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Cora Parrott.

Columbia Capers

By Pinnie L. Ross

This columnist has attempted to give you some insight on the New City of Columbia in my previous two columns. Today's column is the last series of columbia, titled, "Columbia 1977," a view of where we are today.

Where we are today is where Columbia will always be. We are located on 22 square miles of land. We are 22 miles north of the nation's capitol and 17 miles southwest of Baltimore. We are the only city in the USA with a distance so close between two major cities.

Like some cities around the country, the people in Columbia are somewhat well off and well educated. We have 5,700 single family homes occupied, and about 3,200 townhouses and 5,100 apartments and condominiums. We have about five per cent of apartments for low and moderate income families.

There was a survey taken and it was found that about 14,000 households have a medium income of $25,400, with 40 per cent of the families having two salaries. The survey also showed that nine of every 10 household heads have attended or completed college, over 40 per cent have had post-graduate training; their median age is 34 years, and 16 per cent of the households are black.

Three quarters of the 26,000 adults work in professional or managerial positions. According to a survey data taken in 1973, 20 per cent of Columbia workers are employed by the federal government, 20 per cent labor in education, 8 per cent in health care.

We have 11 elementary schools where 19,000 kids walk to each day, three middle and two public high schools built here within the past 10 years, six cooperative nurseries, seven day care centers and two montessori schools.

Fifty-eight per cent continue their learning beyond high school. They can attend four different institutions: Howard Community, Antioch, Loyola College and Johns Hopkins University.

There are two religious facilities, called The Interfaith Centers. They serve 11 major congregations, including a Catholic parish.

Columbians are served by a Visual Arts Center, several theater groups, dance companies, a pavilion, for large concerts, two cinemas and several film groups.

For physical fitness, residents have two golf courses, three lakes, 17 pools, 50 tennis courts, an athletic club, a roller rink, an ice skating rink, a bowling alley and a horse center. Columbians can stroll, jog or bike along 28 miles of pathways on 1,000 acres of open space, 9,000 acres of playgrounds.

It has been predicted that the most dramatic developments will occur downtown. They include a central library, expansion of the Cross Keys Inn, and the Mall will triple its size to two million square feet.

Today, Columbia has about 45,000 residents. "It is the people of Columbia who have produced the community and the spirit which we celebrate," says James W. Rouse, who had a vision of a New City and it came true.

Jean Moon, editor, Columbia Flier, "A city is not buildings. It is people. If Columbia is better than anywhere else, the credit goes to the people who have been building the community since the day they arrived."

No promised land, no next America — just Columbia.

Catonsville Notes

... by Liz Williams

"Sympathy" cards to the family of the late Dr. Preston Grant (Mabel). Memorial services were held for him on Tuesday at Madison Street Presbyterian Church. Dr. Grant is survived by his children, Linda Guess, Minnie Grant and J. P. Grant III and his sister, Mrs. Azalee Hoffman.

"Sympathy" cards also to the family of the late Margaret Williams (Edward) of Suter Road. Funeral services were held for her on Wednesday in Eldersburg. Mrs. Williams is survived by her children, Dorothy McClellon, Deidre and Shelia Williams.

Cards also to the family of the late Viola Scott. She is survived by her sister, Alberta Nelson (Randolph) and brothers Frank (Beatrice) and John Scott. We oldtimers remember the Scott family from Falls Road.

"Get Well" cards to Mrs. Vernie Clash, mother of Janet (Alfred) Woolridge and Edith Rohoblt (Ernest). Cards also to Mrs. Eunice Hall, mother of Dr. William Hall, Albert Jr. and Audrey Coleman. Cards to Charles Matthews, brother of the late Marie Gibson, father of Lillian Slade and uncle of Charles "Skippy" Gibson. Hopefully, at this writing, Rebecca Quille will be at home. She has been confined to Baltimore General Hospital for several weeks.

Mrs. Florence E. Tarter, mother of Clarice Watts (Reginald), Clifton (Doris), Charles (Maurelta), Glen (Gwen) Ruth Scott (Ernest), Earl and Russell (Margaret) is in Provident Hospital. Mrs. Tarter celebrated her 89th birthday on June 21. Let us remember this lovely lady with "Get Well" cards and belated birthday cards.

Among the known sick in our community are: Charles Matthews, Sally Nelson, Agnes Allen, Grace Steward, Louise Carter, Julia Williams, William Harris, Mamie Williams, Timothy Johnson, Wayne Hebron, Melvin Johnson, Margaret Ebb, Joanne Thomas, Walter Reynolds, Frances Coe, Edna Wainer, David Blackwell, Mary McCormick, Arthur Welling, Margaret Williford, Beatrice Kane, Helen Kent and Cassandra McDonald. Please remember them with your prayers, a card, a phone call or a visit. I almost forgot — Mrs. Violet Watson and Mrs. Hattie Smith, who are now at home after having been in the hospital.

A Salute to Erla McKinnon, "Career Woman Of the Year," was given by the faculty, students and parents of Harford Heights Elementary School No. 36, at the closing of the school year. Family and friends and former co-workers filled the auditorium to salute our friend, Erla. Friends of Erla's are planning a gala affair for her on the 29 of July at Martin's - West. This "gal" deserves all the salutes and honors that can be bestowed upon her.

The Jackson and Johnson Memorial Unit No. 263 of the American Legion Auxiliary, Dept. of Md. Inc., endorsed Delores Coates (Jerome H.) for the office of dept. historian and presented her name at the 1977 state convention which was held in Ocean City, Md., in June. Cornella Randall (Robert) headed the delegation as the delegate-at-large. The following delegates chosen were: Mary Marner (Salvador), Elizabeth Barnes (Joseph) and Delores Coates (Jerome). Leola Watkins served as an alternate. We hope that all of them had a most informative and enjoyable convention.

Visiting us for five days was Bertha Owens (William L. "Billy") from Atlanta, Ga. She really loved our community and Baltimore City, including the Inner Harbor, Fells Point, Federal Hill, Fort McHenry, Little Italy, the Chesapeake Bay and "Bubbling Brown Sugar." Many of you met her son Michael who is a senior at Morehouse who visited our community several years ago.

Bertha's other son, Clinton, is a social worker in Atlanta. Bertha is with the Finance Dept. (Dept. of Education) and her husband is with Housing. Her in-laws, Larry and Judy Perkins, came to Catonsville on Sunday to spend the afternoon with her. Larry is a senior accountant with Zerox in Va. and his wife, Judy, is a claim adjuster with All State Insurance Co. Larry and Judy were very much impressed with the Catonsville community as we took a tour last Sunday. Whenever you have out of town guests, take them on a tour of our black community. They will be really impressed. We have so much to offer.

Glen Burnie YWCA activities

This summer in addition to swim classes for children 18 months to twelve years at the Friendship International Hotel, the YWCA Glen Burnie Center lists many other activities for youngsters.

Teens, pre-teens, and elementary school youth can receive individualized instruction in mixed media as they work with [illegible] instructor John [illegible]. Ten to fifteen [illegible] may find Cake [illegible] for kids a [illegible] way to learn to be creative.

Kids' Craft Club on Monday mornings will help six to 12 year olds use their imaginations in scrap-art projects. Tennis for kids (8 to 13 years) will be taught Thursday mornings starting July 7; and a brand new Y Teen Club (for those 12 and over) will meet weekly.

Pre-schoolers kindercamp began, June 20. An outdoor experience directed mornings only by Mrs. Kathy McGurk, a professional in early childhood education. Kindergym, an hour of structured physical activity to help 2½ to 5 year olds develop co-ordination is also available. A Mother and Child Outing Club devoted to excursions to points of interest, is a new addition to the summer schedule.
