MOBY DICK: The Astrologer

Confidence is Back!

What a busy, wonderful month June is. The US economy is doing well, and by the middle of the month we will begin to see and feel that good glow of prosperity.

Pride in our country will be at an all time high, and confidence is back. Straw hats might even return to fashion, just so we can wear them cocked.

The President's popularity is back on the high side and growing, both because we all start feeling affluent again (Remember affluence?) And because the country has made our human rights pitch stick, and it is beginning to pay off.

Horray for us!

Surprising new ideas in housing surface, and the idea of homesteading in the inner city catches on with vivid success stories.

JUNE

4TH: In the midst of a beautiful day on which you can see the world getting better, there are serpents in the garden, lying about love.

5TH: The President, feeling brave, takes a bold initiative.

The Editor's Desk

many calls and letters from aspiring writers wanting to know how they may possibly submit material for use in Dawn Magazine.

Dawn usually assigns stories to various writers in its stable, but will still occasionally use material from outside freelancers.

The best bet is to query first, to find out if there is any interest in the story you have written — who knows, the editor might just order the piece.

Material submitted on "spec," must be accompanied by a self - addressed, stamped envelope. Payment is publication, and it usually takes four to six weeks to get replies.

Sure, I know that's a long time when you're waiting on tenterhooks for an answer, but better I should say 4 to 6 weeks, rather than have you hanging on for a reply.

Want to call your attention to the story about Transkei. When we first considered the piece, the immediate reaction was "What on earth is a Transkei?"

* * *

Had heard about the independence from South Africa — how the United Nations had rejected the country for membership in the UN, and how the economy of the country is dependent on South Africa.

But, there seemed to be a side of the story that had not been told in the daily press, so Dawn talked with the minister - at - large of Transkei, and presented his story about developments.

Every now and again we have fun with a story, and the one on Heatwave will qualify.

Here's how it came about.

Assistant to the VP Bonnie Butler — who is pretty hip on the music scene — suggested that this was the hottest group in the country today,
and Dawn has a reputation of keeping abreast of the latest trends.

O.K., we said, so Kip Branch was commissioned to write the piece, a photographer was engaged. Bonnie set up for the interview, and off they trudged to the Capital Centre outside Washington, D.C. where Heatwave was appearing.

Everything went like clockwork — except for the photographer — he never delivered the pictures. The deadline came and went still no pictures. Finally, a fellow who just went along for the ride turned in the shots you see on Page 6.

Not the greatest — but we got the story in.

Whew!
