Drug Alert

We are presently dealing with a new epidemic usage on a national scale of a new drug known as Angel Dust or PCP.

PCP is 1 - (Phencyclohexyl) piperidine hydrochloride or phencyclidine.

It is sold under many different names such as PCP, Peace Pill, Crystal Hog, Cadillac, Wacky Weed, Wobble Weed, Crazy Weed, Killer Weed, Green, Dust, Flake, KJ, Rocket Fuel, Mist, Tic, Busy Bee, Goon, Ozone, The drug may be also sold as THC, Marijuana, Cocaine and LSD depending on its form.

PCP is used as an anesthetic for primates, but has been abused by humans. It is a clear liquid that can be sprayed on parsley, tobacco, marijuana or spearmint leaves and smoked or may be snorted in pwoder form, or swallowed in tablet form.

There has been no evidence that PCP is physically addicting, but it is strongly psychologically addicting.

After, smoking PCP, the effects appear within 2 - 5 minutes, peak in about 15 minutes and last about 4 - 6 hours. It may take 24 - hours to return to near normal.

In some cases it may take months to years to return to normal following prolonged usage of PCP.

Depending on the amount taken the effects of PCP are described as euphoric. Psychological effects have been described consisting of alienation, nervousness, confusion, loss of confidence, hyperactivity, depression and violent behavior. Psychotic symptoms can mimic the symptoms of paranoid schizophrenia with hallucinations and suicidal feelings.

Physically, users may suffer loss of bowel or bladder control, slurred speech, inability to walk, jerky eye movement, loss of muscle coordination, vomiting, increased blood pressure and insomnia.

In larger does PCP can induce seizures, coma and death. Death can occur either directly from the drug or indirectly by accidents, suicides or murder.

Despite all of these adverse effect PCP is one of the most dangerous street drugs being used by an ever increasing number of youth.

Anacostia's history recalled in photo exhibit

WASHINGTON
By Fab Fisher

"Anacostians in Reflections" will be the theme of Fab Fisher's photo exhibition on Sunday, Nov. 4 at the Anacostian Smithsonian Neighborhood Museum.

The event will feature a champagne opening with Councilmember Wilhelmina Rolark doing the ribbon cutting.

Among the others who are expected to be present for the grand opening are Councilmember Nadine Winters, D. C. Council Chairman Arrington Dixon (native Anacostian), former Councilman Stan Anderson, Colonel (Ret.) Tom Martin, Major (Ret.) Charles Anderson, Alice Finlayson, (president of Anacostia Historical Society), Audrey Carter Buckner (chairperson of SE American Red Cross board of directors), Donald Bell (PGR and consultant of J. Finley Wilson Anacostia Elks Lodge), Almore "Hooks" Dale (Anacostia's consultant-at-large) Aloysius "Zeke" Briscoe (director, Capitol Hill's Manpower-CETA office), and Milton Jones, retired recreation director who was extremely popular at Barry Farms in the forties.

The above named folk are all part of the exhibit, which is being made possible through a grant to Fab Fisher with appropriations coming through Dr. Charles Qualls and the ardent support of the Anacostia Business and Professional Association.

Fisher also acknowledges the financial contributions that enabled him to get the project on the road last month. Checks came in from popular sportsman Bruce Wahl, Fab's nephew Carl Netter, president of Second Baptist Church Men's Club, AFRO newspaperman, Art Carter, and Charlie Wilburn of Wilburn Hauling Co.

Also acknowledged are financial contributions from Sylvestor Claughton, Mt. Airy Baptist Church; Larry Bland, former AEDC president, and Walter Howard, president of Good Hope Merchants Association which has changed its name to Anacostia Merchants.

The checks and monies from the people above made it possible for Fisher to filter through over 800 (25-years-old) negatives two months ago. The pictures were reprinted with equipment lent by Anacostia photographer Alonzo Green. Technical advice and permission to use the Anacostia Museum came through John Kinard, the Museum's director.

However, the enormous job of printing, labeling and mounting the 8 by 10 and 11 by 14 photos for public viewing was made possible by the generous grant appropriated by the Anacostia Business and Professional Association.

Dr. Qualls served as coordinator with contributions coming in from AEDC, 7th District Police Community Relations Office (Lt. White), SE Greater Community Hospital and all the business affiliated with ABPA. Eugene Arnold is president.

The exhibition will be the first timer for Anacostia. Pictures going on display will include the old timers, who were extremely popular and active in Anacostia in the forties and fifties.

Also seen will be photos of the former Carver theater employees Florence Matthews and her many community involved youths at Barry Farms plus some really exclusive photo treasures as the original Anacostia ACs, the Hillsdale Civic Association, Fab's original Barry Farms Clean Up and Beautification Community staff plus the teen age clubs including the Aristocrats, Los Emperados and Swedishmen. Many pictures never before seen publicly will be shown.

Members of the Anacostia Historical Society, Anacostia Concerned Senior Citizens, Anacostia Business and Professional Association and J. Finley Wilson Anacostia Lodge will be among the hosts to answer questions regarding the Anacostians seen in the pictures. For informatin regarding the forthcoming exhibition at the Anacostia Smithsonian Museum, call Dr. Qualls at 678-2558.

The fate of Safeway No. 966 in Anacostia is still in abeyance with a closing date slated for December.

Regarding the "task force" which is passing out flyers and staging meetings intermittently, this is not the original task force that staged a successful protest to keep the Safeway open. Those leaders from the Good Hope Merchants Association withdrew in their attempt to get someone with finances and expertise to take over the Safeway. Their reason was lack of togetherness and personalities conflict among the ANC, community workers and involved business folk.

National Youth Enterprises withdrew its proposal all together. However, the task force is still calling and staging meetings but these appear all in vain with lack of togetherness being the primary issue.

Regardless as to anyone's sense of reasoning, it must be realized that no independently operated store or business can take over the Safeway store and continue to bring the competively low "chain store" prices, quality and service that are presently in operation.

Let's face it. We have stood by silently and watched the "super market rip-offs," and now we are up in arms because the owners are acknowledging the operation as unprofitable.

The story printed last week and the week before in this column regarding the forthcoming liquor store on Good Hope Road still holds true. At the first anniversary party of Mr. Kelly's, the two Herring brothers who own the building housing Spyia's Discount Trophies and Kinlow's Campaign headquarters are busily renovating the upstairs for business occupancy. Nothing was mentioned regarding the gentlemen's other ventures.

However, in last Saturday's daily, a full page spread picture story showing Cleveland Herring as one of the liquor store businessmen downtown who is being forced to relocate because of the Civic Center construction work. Simply put two and two together.

Pat McCullum has a closed sign on her Mac's Fashion Shop (the proposed liquor store spot) while she seeks relocation. The Slye Carry-Out Shop next door will open next month with Tony Crooks, James and Barbara Griggs as the managers.

Jock Hickman, who has the spot on the other side of Mac's Fashion, is busy renovating the living quarters above the former book and record shop. He intends to be the only business person who will live over his business which he will open after Christmas.

Last Saturday was officially acclaimed "Sweetest Day" but the hoodlums were everything but sweet in Anacostia's business area. They pried open the plexiglass windows at the newly opened Sylvia Record Shop and made off with the records, tapes and whatever stock available. Cardell Shelton's windows at the Unusual Auction shop were broken and the thieves were caught trying to stack up the loot on the sidewalk. All this in honor of "Sweetest Day."

Bobby Lane, sports moderator for all the DCSSL ball games, was presented the "Fab Award" by popular "Buckwheat" Turner of Stonewall AC at the full house DCSSL Awards Dinner. Bobby Lane was highly eligible for the honor because he excels in the practice of good sportsmanship and all the fellows and girls alike, love and respect him for his sense of fairplay.

Anacostia's Satellites, the champions of DCSSL, walked away with all the top trophies which was a great honor in memory of the Satellites' late manager-Chief Harris.

Rodman's Pharmacy, located in the Fairfax Village shopping area (several doors from the burned out Camelot Club) has been converted into a co-op shopping store. The newly converted spot brings food shopping within walking distance for those in Fort Dupont.

Community involved people on the co-op's board of directors include Zeke Briscoe, Barbara Hagan, Lillian Chatmon, Mildred Hanahan, Nelson Johnson, Ernestine Powell and Robert Whiting.

Councilmember Wilhelmina Rolark, accompanied by Calvin Rolark, was the principal speaker at the annual Athletic Awards Banquet of Barry Farms Recreation Association at the Savoy School auditorium in Anacostia last Friday. Freddie Saunders, a native of Barry Farms, who is currently assistant director of D. C. Roving Leaders program, was on hand to congratulate the young men who served as leaders and coordinators of the program.

Carlton Reed, president of BFRA, Irving Brady, vice president and Maurice Hammond, treasurer, were cited for their leadership and helping to keep the young men involved in active sports instead of roaming about idly and getting into trouble.

Coaches and assistants in the Barry Farms Recreation Association include popular young sportsmen as George Goodman, Sheridan Terrace, Wade Brown, Parkchester, Charles Nelson, Sumner Road, Jerome Lewis, Guiding Light, Jerome Brady, Stevens Road, Mark Cauley, Miles Rawls, Maurice Shorter, Kevin Van Dykes, Andre Hammond, Steve Williams and Robert Powell.

D. C. Council Chairman Arrington Dixon will be the guest speaker at the Nov. 10 meeting of the Anacostia Historical Society which will be held in the auditorium of the St. Philips Community building.

The Over The Hill Gang will stage a big reunion nip and sip at the St. Luke's Party Room in N.E. with John Redman, Marie Offutt, Thelma Offutt, Evelyn Barton, Charles McCoy, Alfred Stewart, Pie Offutt and Delores Simpson among the hosts.

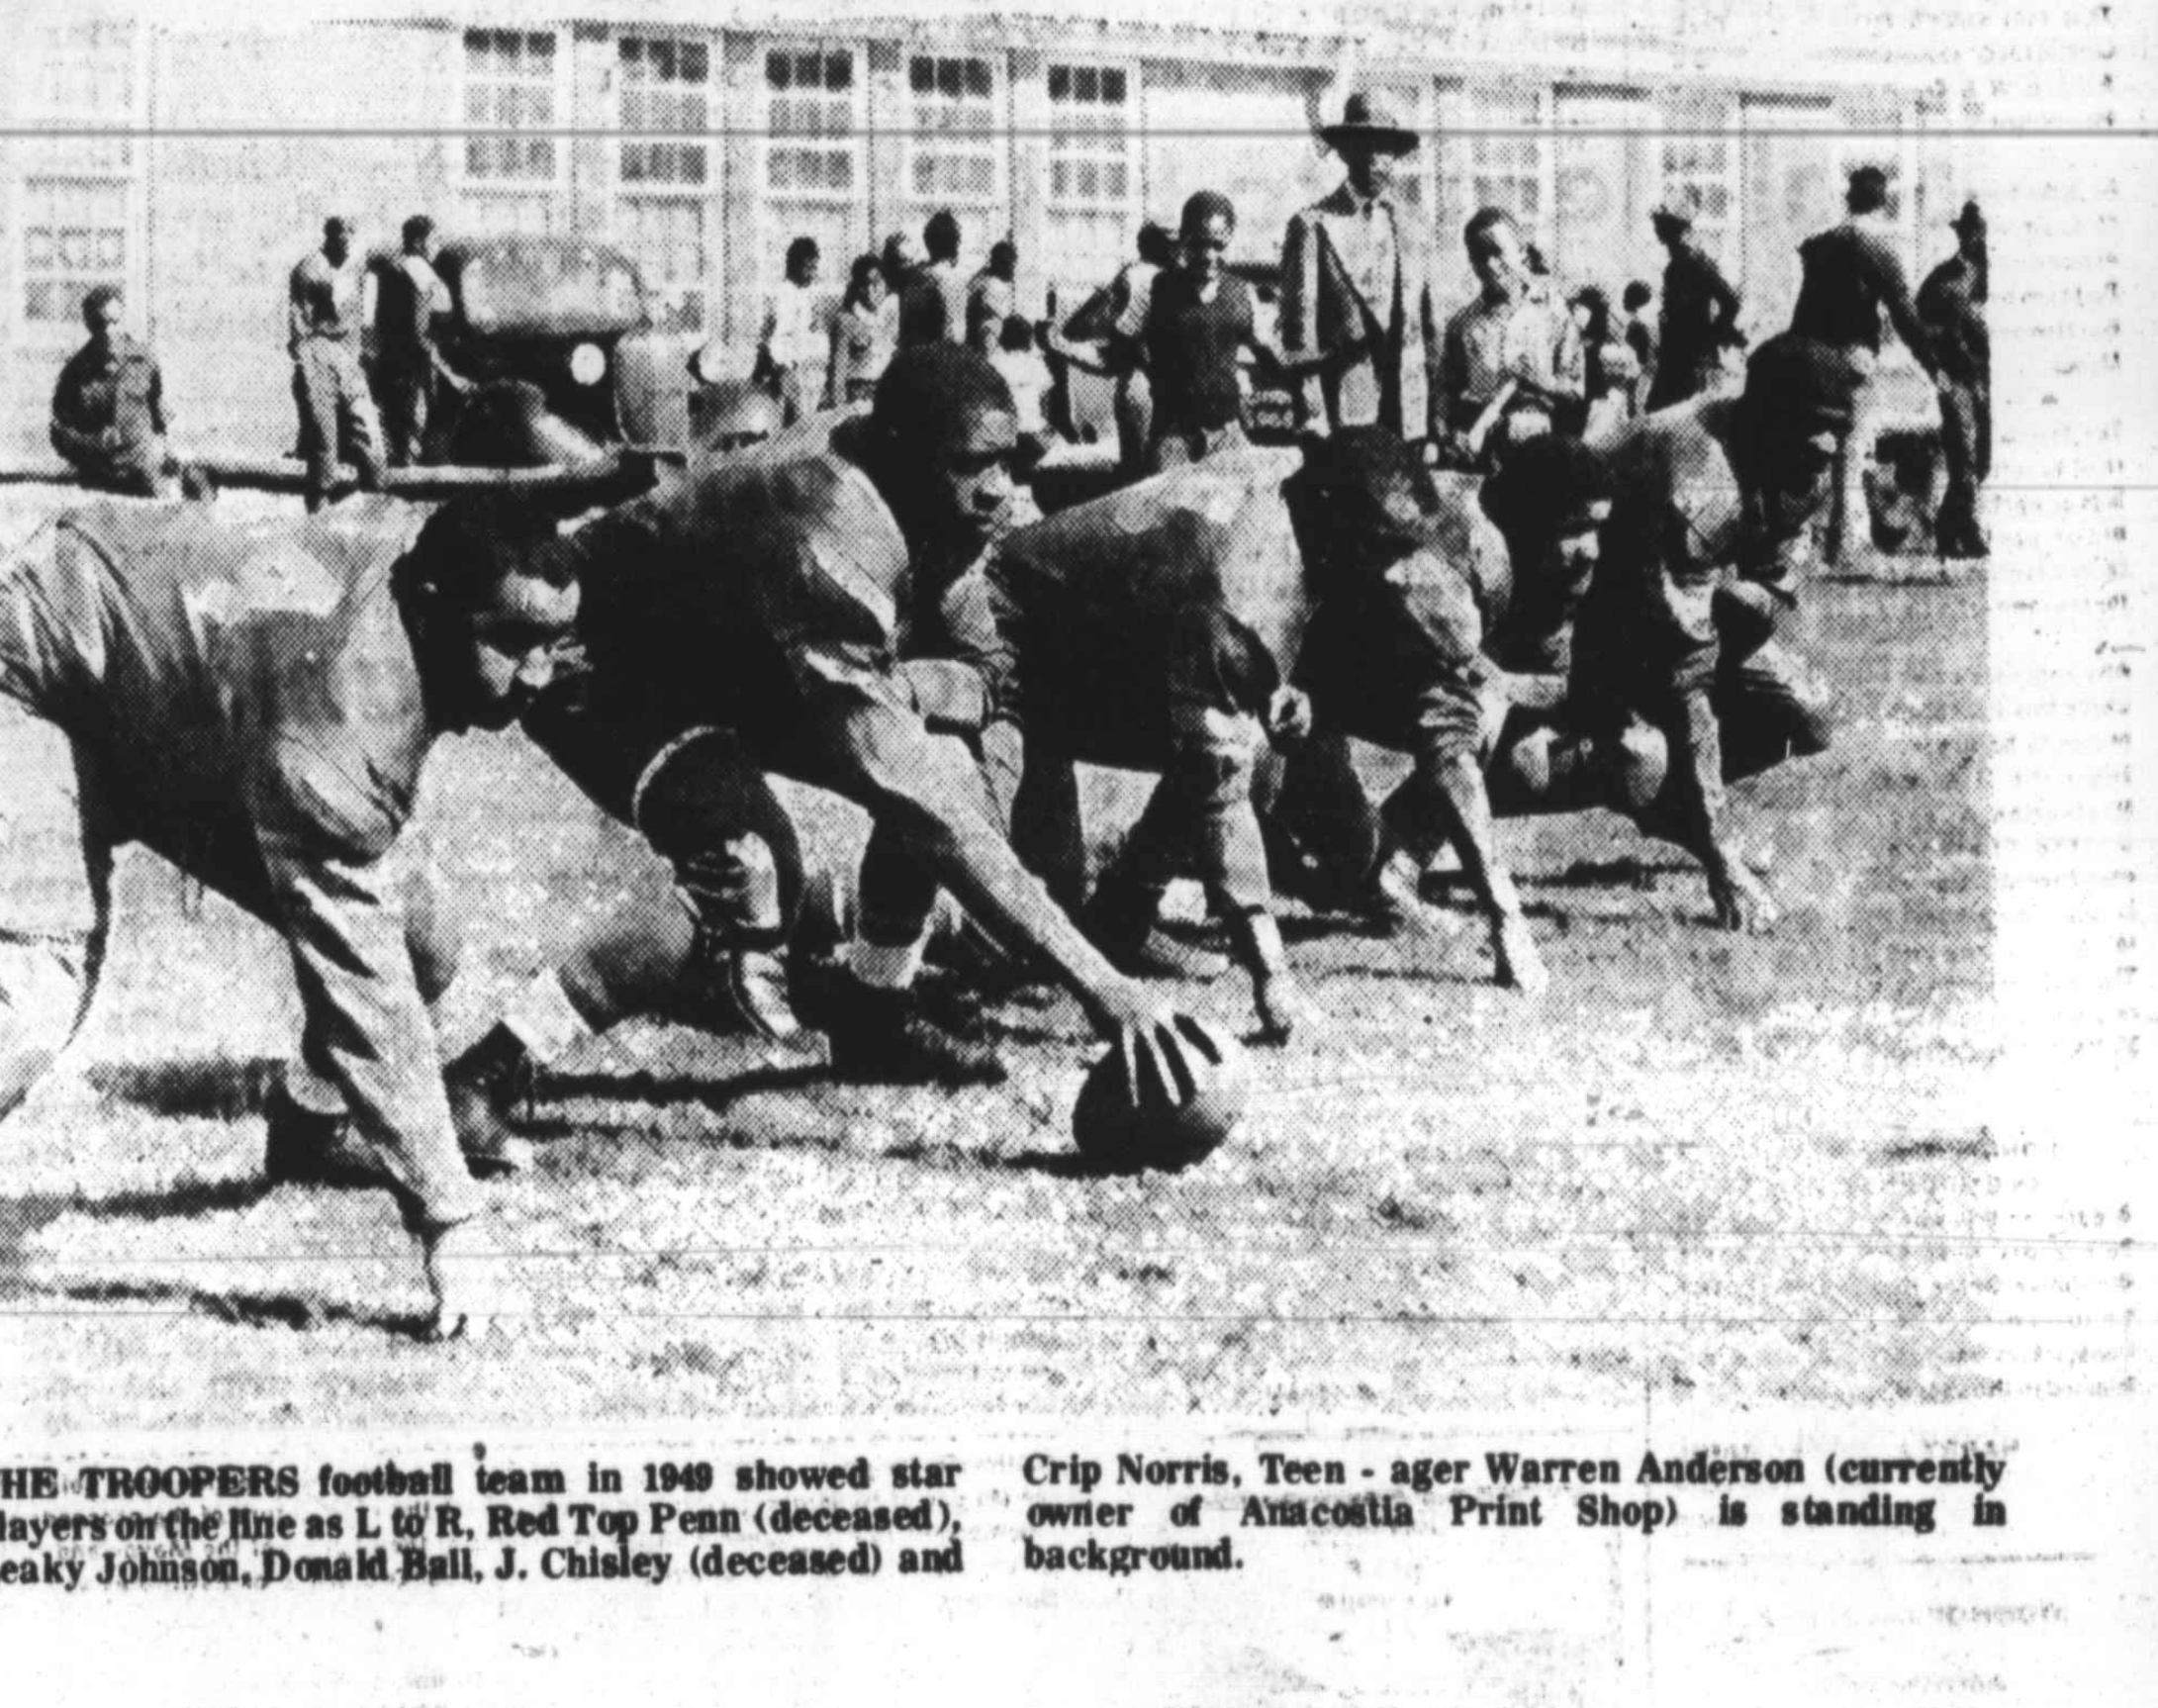
The club consists of the former employees of the Anacostia Carver Theatre and N.E. Plymouth Theatre (both closed almost a decade ago.)

Ernest Williams, owner and operator of the Happy Inn restaurant on Good Hope Road, received a "Fab Award" and family name plaque presented by Fab Fisher for his surprise birthday party which was secretly arranged by his lovely wife, Sophie.

Among the guests were Norisett Taylor, Karen Collins, Marie Maynor, Darlene Terry, Peaches Collins, Peppy Collins, Ricky Williams, Alvin Green, Oscar Coates, Alma Smith, Lucille Williams, Rufus Wesley, Helen Taylor and Connie Colbert.

Also on hand saying "happy birthday Ernest" were Sonny and Jean White of Sonny's Variety and Napoleon Robertson and Al Morris of Anacostia Wine and Liquors.

WE LOVED Florence Matthews 1951 (deceased) is surrounded by her favorite youth workers at Barry Farms. In white jackets and black ties for serving a banquet are "Putt - Putt" Anderson, LaRoy Richardson, Mrs. Matthews, Dickie Heard and Otis Williams. In background Mr. White and popular "Eggie" Green.



THE TROOPERS football team in 1949 showed star players on the line as L to R, Red Top Penn (deceased), Leaky Johnson, Donald Ball, J. Chisley (deceased) and Crip Norris, Teen - ager Warren Anderson (currently owner of Anacostia Print Shop) is standing in background.

"ICKY TILLMAN and his charming young wife Margeruite" in 1951 are surrounded by a bevy of teenage friends during a party in their honor in the Barry Farms Housing project.

THE SWEDISHMEN in 1952, a club of young men, were required to wear coats and ties when they sponsored dances at the Barry Farms Recreation Center. L to R Lap Johnson (Mechanic-owns garage repair shop), George "Icky" Tillman (vocalist at Market Inn-with Kennedy Center concert coming up), Aloysius "Zeke" Briscoe (director of Manpower-CETA office of Capitol Hill), Sonny Williams (painter and bricklayer) and James Green (professional photographer).

MARQUETTE PIERCE of Anacostia's famous Lombardi Grill in 1949 greets the popular Jacques Taylor, who organized the last of the Post War big bands in Washington. Popular Anacostians seen, L to R, Cluster Pierce, Peter Rabbit, Marquette, Crip Norris, Bonnie (deceased) Jacques, Butch Battle at piano and Bubby Estep.
