Jackie Blackwell is first black Md. female at Naval Academy

by Martha Thorn
Special to the AFRO

The U.S. Naval Academy may be hard, but Midshipman Jackie Blackwell still finds it easier than trying to hold a job and going to school at the same time.

The first black woman from Maryland to enter the academy, Jackie is a 1975 graduate of Western Senior High School in Baltimore who attended the Community College of Baltimore before entering the Navy in December, 1977.

Since then, Jackie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hurley Blackwell, of Baltimore, has gone through boot camp in Orlando, Fla., and graduated from BOOST (Broadened Opportunities for Officer Selection and Training) in San Diego, Calif. As part of this program, she took courses at the San Diego Community College.

Comparing Plebe Summer, the period of rigorous military indoctrination for academy freshmen, to her experiences at boot camp, she said, "There, the day ended. Here, our training never ends.

"During the summer, we didn't always like the hours of drill that went into practicing for a parade, but realized that without them, the parade wouldn't be possible. Likewise, sometimes we resent the amount of work that goes into preparing to be an officer, but we realize it's necessary."

Jackie has sometimes found herself frustrated at the academy.

"I'm not doing anything different academically," Jackie says, "but it seems harder because I don't have as much time to devote to my studies. At other colleges, I may have had three classes a day and the rest of the time to study. Here, I have those classes plus professional training and sports."

Jackie has also become involved with fencing, tennis, the Black Studies Club, Chemistry Club, Antiphonal Choir, and Women's Glee Club.

The biggest adjustment that Jackie had to make when she entered the academy was overcoming the age difference between herself and her younger classmates.

"If I had been a year older, I Wouldn't have been admitted to the academy," the 22-year old freshman said. "It was a big change for me. Most of my classmates were 19 and right out of high school. Most hadn't been away from home before.

"On the other hand, I was used to having money and an apartment, and being independent. I was also accustomed to studying and working hard.

Once a pharmacy major at the Community College of Baltimore, she is now pursuing her interest in chemistry at the academy.

"When I first entered the NAVY, I wanted to be a hospital corpsman," she explained. "but all those positions were filled.

Besides getting a bachelor of science degree, Jackie hopes to make her career as a Navy pilot, hoping someday to fly Navy jets. "Flying one of those planes should be a real challenge," she says.

That, however, is in the future. Right now, Jackie is determined to stay at the academy and do her best.

She says, "The academy is hard, but I could never quit. Sometimes I hear people talking about quitting and going home, but to me, that's not an alternative.

"I can always go home, but if I give up this opportunity, I can never recapture it."

IN THE NAVY — Baltimore native Jackie Blackwell went to several colleges before deciding to try for the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis. She is the first black woman from Maryland to enter the Academy.

ATHLETIC — Jackie Blackwell is involved in fencing at the U.S. Naval Academy.

STUDIOUS — U.S. Naval Academy Midshipman Jackie Blackwell is majoring in chemistry, one of 18 majors available at the academy.

Hilton Court landlord goes to court for 400 housing violations

By James M. Abraham
AFRO Staff Writer

The latest in a series of electrical fires which have plagued residents of the Hilton Court Apartments, located in the 3300 block of Hilton St., struck the home of Mrs. Eva Bishop, Tuesday, April 29.

According to Mrs. Bishop, she and her husband smelled something burning, and upon investigation, found that a fan had started in their electrical system.

"When my husband pulled the plug out of the wall," said Mrs. Bishop, "there were sparks and flames coming out of the socket."

Since the incident, the Bishops have been without electricity. Their electrical system was turned off by the Baltimore Gas and Electric Company, Tuesday, and they have had to do without light since then.

According to city fire Department Capt. Patrick Flynn, the fire was not the first one reported in the apartment complex. He says several additional electrical fires have been reported.

But electricity is not the only service the Hilton Court tenants have been deprived of.

Frances Gibson, a third floor tenant, told the AFRO that she actually had to place a bucket outside her window to catch rainwater last week.

"Sunday night, I went into the kitchen to turn on the water, but I got no water," she stated.

She said that she then checked with several other residents, who either had low pressure in their pipes or no water at all.

"So in order to get some water I sat this bucket outside on the balcony to catch rainwater. I had to boil it the next day so that I could have some water to wash up before I went to work."

The building's landlord, Frederick J. Levitan of Owings Mills, has refused to talk with reporters, and repeated calls to his office produced a busy signal, his secretary, but no Levitan.

Levitan met with a group of residents at the headquarters of the Welfare Rights Organization a week ago, and told them that he could not afford any repairs to the building.

But he did ask the tenants to cut off their rent strike. The tenants refused, and now Levitan faces possible rent withholdings.

But he also faces criminal charges for more than 400 housing code violations, according to Mary Gardner, an assistant state's attorney.

His trial will be held on Tuesday, May 6 at 9 a.m.

The new Chevrolet Caprice for 1980. We made it right for more family mileage.

New technology is what makes the Chevrolet Caprice a great family car for the '80s. A standard 3.8 liter V6 engine offers the highest EPA gas mileage estimate ever in a full-size Chevrolet.

That gives you 450 miles estimated driving range and 650 miles estimated highway driving range. The greater the driving range the fewer the fuel stops. The Caprice's new aerodynamic shape and easy rolling tires contribute to its impressive fuel economy. Even though Caprice has been reshaped, it still offers six-passenger roominess, ride and comfort. It even has more useable trunk space than last year. Plus new anti-corrosion protection and engineering advances that make it a great family car to own. See one now at your Chevrolet Dealer. We think it is right for the '80s. You will too.

Remember: Compare the boxed estimated mpg to the "estimated mpg" of other cars. You may get different mileage, and range, depending on how fast you drive, weather conditions, and trip length. Your actual highway mileage and range will probably be less than the highway estimates. Driving range estimates were obtained by multiplying the EPA mileage estimates by the car's 25 gallon fuel tank capacity. The new Chevrolet is equipped with GM built engines produced by various divisions. See your Chevy dealer for details.

School board gets grant to fight vandalism

A program to reduce and prevent vandalism in the city's public schools has begun with the help of a $67,000 grant, school officials announced this week.

Dr. Robert. Lloyd, assistant superintendent for pupil services, said the money was made available through the Federal Law Enforcement Assistant Administration for the pilot project which is the first of its kind in Maryland.

Under the program, six elementary schools, one in each school district, were selected for programs to instruct students about the adverse effects vandalism has on the schools and the community.

The Property Owners Association of Baltimore Inc. and The Greater Baltimore Board of Realtors have joined the extensive anti-vandalism campaign by presenting the school system with two educational films on vandalism.

The films, "Clubhouse" and "Writing on the Wall," will be used in the classroom during the 1980-81 school year.

Irvington, Johnston Square, Grove Park, George Street, Woodhome and Lexington Elementary were the six schools selected for the Pilot program.

"We're trying to get at elementary youngsters to do preventive work before they get to junior and senior highs where the most vandalism is," said Lloyd.

Recently, city schools have been hit by a rash of fires that have done minimum damage in school facilities.

Three men shot during argument

Three men were shot April 29 following an argument near Dunbar Senior High School. Police report Otis Smith, 32, Ronald McCullough, 28, and Johnny Flemming, 24, were shot around 2 p.m. and the cause of the argument is not known.

Smith was shot in the stomach and was in serious condition at Church Home and Hospital at AFRO presstime. McCullough was in satisfactory condition with a gunshot wound in the left shoulder.

Flemming was in serious but stable condition with a wound in the stomach at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Police are still investigating the case and were searching for a man about 6 feet tall who was wearing a black jacket and white hat. No arrest had been made at AFRO presstime.

IN MEMORIAM

CARTWRIGHT — In loving memory of my dear daughter and loved one, ALICE B. CARTWRIGHT, who passed April 30, 1979.
No farther away than a picture
A smile or remembered phrase
Our loved one lived in memory
So close in so many ways
For how often does the sunset
Bring nostalgic thoughts to mind
Of moments of our loved one shared
And days now left behind.
BELOVED MOTHER & FAMILY

MITCHELL — In loving memory of our loved one, ALBERT J. MITCHELL, who passed away May 1, 1977.
Somewhere above this troubled world,
Safe beyond all grief and care
Our father and loved one rest in heavenly peace.
God grant someday we'll meet him there.
THE FAMILY.

MORTON — In loving memory of my dear friend, THOMAS E. MORTON SR., who passed away May 2, 1979.
God made lots of beautiful things;
Sunset and roses and trees,
Birds and starlight and loyal friends,
And, after He made all these,
He gave to the earth a gift more rare,
More loving and more true.
Of all God's gifts the one most rare,
A loved one, dear as you.
Your Devoted Friend,
MADGE R. CANNON.
