She was feted at a celebration at 2:15 p.m. at The Keswick Home, 700 W. 40th St.

Mrs. Louise W. Jones served as emcee for a program honoring Mrs. Callaham, who was born in Amherst, Virginia and moved to Baltimore many years ago after much travel.

A musical selection was done by Mrs. Mildred B. Bryant, followed by the invocation, done by the Rev. Joseph Cashen, pastor, Falls Road, A.M.E. Church.

After the introduction of guests by Mrs. Louise W. Jones, the Occasion was given by Virgil A. Halbert, executive director of the Keswick.

Greetings and tributes were given by the Rev. Porter Phillips, pastor, Enon Baptist Church, who spoke on "The Church Family" and by Mrs. Arthur Payne; by John Cottman, Administrator, N. M. Carroll Manor and Home, who spoke on "The Home Family"; and by the Rev. and Mrs. Kelly Jackson and Mrs. Zella Washington.

Women's Workshop

The SSA Federal Women's Program (FWP) sponsored a one hour workshop on Women and Mortgage Credit.

The U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) launched this program in January 1980 in an attempt to discover whether or not there is sex discrimination practiced in housing and housing finance.

The project will eventually be piloted in 23 cities across the country.

The workshop was presented by a panel of women, who covered step-by-step, the process in buying a home.

Ms. Toni L. Ahlsi, HUD Project Coordinator described the project and one of its main purposes, which is to educate grassroots women about the housing market and mortgage credit rights.

Phylene K. Raven, Associate Broker, Skirven Realty, presented the realtor-client point of view in buying a house. She covered such items as neighborhood, price, contract negotiations, and the realtors role.

Kendall L. White, Commercial Loan Officer, Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan, talked about "Finding Mortgage Money" and discussed the different types of mortgages, mortgage lending, shopping around for the right mortgage, and women presenting themselves in the best way possible when applying for a mortgage by making sure their credit rating looks good.

Joanne C. Hovermale, Vice President and Catonsville Branch Manager, Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan, talked about "Preparing to apply for a Loan." Ms. Hovermale gave a short summation on credit rights and loan qualifications.

She stressed making positive that all requested information is provided as this will enable the loan application to be processed more quickly.

A question and answer period followed the presentations.

Robbie Wright is new drum prodigy

Little Robert (Robbie) Wright Jr., only three years old, is already making his mark in the world of music. He is a drummer.

He appeared on Channel 13's Evening Magazine on Monday, May 26, where he was an instant hit.

Robbie, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright Sr., (Cynthia) of the 3400 block of Barrypaul Rd., has been playing the drum since the age of 1.

His mother says he was taught by his cousin, Terry Newman, and has been at it with the drums ever since.

Mrs. Wright states that Robbie, aside from his exceptional talent which has surfaced at such an early age, is otherwise a typical three-year-old.

He now attends Randalstown Music Center for drum lessons. He is beginning to play jazz.

Since his television appearnace, The Pesbody has requested that he attend school there for further training in music.

Robbie also plays in a band that includes his father, on lead guitar, Kenny Jefferson on base guitar and Mrs. Wright, his mom, as singer.

Maybe it runs in the family.
