AFRO Clean Block, war on rats

By Ida Peters

The 6th Annual AFRO Clean Block Campaign is underway today (Friday) at McCulloh Homes Auditorium, Druid Hill Avenue and Dolphin Street.

Captains and co-captains representing housing projects, inner-city and suburban-blocks, renters and home-owners are meeting with city officials as consultants to discuss the problems in their blocks and rid them of trash, litter, rats, stopped up sewers and other neighborhood problems.

The fact that blocks will be cometing for $6,000. in cash awards, 1,000 Colt Tickets, movie passes, Oriole tickets and AFRO Honor Flags is not the main issue in the AFRO Clean Block program.

The AFRO AMERICAN Newspapers have sponsored the Clean Block Program as a public service, spurring large federal grants so that existing community groups and grass roots neighborhoods will learn how to get help from city government for which they already have paid taxes.

AFRO Clean Blockers are already aware of rats in their neighborhoods. For the past ten years, rats have been a major complaint of inner-city residents.

It has done no good to point out to city residents that Baltimore is a seaport town, that rats are being disturbed by subway construction and by the building of Harborplace.

The AFRO Clean Block program has been telling city fathers for 10 years that rat control methods are inadequate.

When city fathers have advocated using plastic trash bags, AFRO Clean Block has always said that city officials, landlords, renters and home-owners should follow city law and require every householder to have metal trash cans with legally prescribed cans and lids.

How can we expect a generation of young people to follow the law when city fathers try to flaunt the law with the excuse that money is tight and the city can get along with two men on a trash truck instead of three to save money.

Rats we have. Dogs we have. Continued use of plastic bags means we have littered alleys and streets.

AFRO Clean Blockers will put special emphasis on teaching their neighbors how to avoid rats.

Rats are fed by using plastic bags for garbage. Dog food and dog feces feed rats. After you feed your pet in the yard, remove the left-over food.

Bird seed and crumbs feed rats. Ask your neighbors to join to leave the bread crumbs off, until the rat problem is licked.

GOOD NEWS Mayor William Donald Schaefer has announced a new "Rat Squad" with 14 new rat baiters to be paid from federal CETA funds to be working soon in the Reservoir Hill and northwest target areas.

Now that the barn door is shut, as part of the citywide anti-rat campaign, the City Council is considering legislation that would require all private demolition and excavation projects to be accompanied by rat-baiting.

First Class and Softones to entertain at AFRO Clean Block opening

Sour grapes department — Now that rats are walking all over town from Inner Harbor, and subway construction, our city fathers are going to pass a law that was needed five years ago before the rats walked to Roland Park, Forest Park and Morgan Park. And if you doubt me, this reporter has seen them walking . . . right past my door at the AFRO . . . up Eutaw Street.

WELCOME — Derek Neal as "Dr. Rat", the "Rat Squad" and the Baltimore Theatre Project who have a $121,550 Community block grant program to teach early education to school children on how to fight the rat.

Right now as an AFRO Clean Blocker, this writer would settle for a federal grant to have the Public Health Service do a special kind of study on proven methods on how to kill rats.

Why? AFRO Clean Blockers have discovered that Baltimore rats seem to thrive on certain kinds of bait used in Baltimore over the past ten years and that gas has been the only proven method to kill those rats in burrows that in some blocks undermine steps, porches and live in trees.

Threshold aids neighborhood clean-up

About 125 people gathered in the streets Saturday afternoon in the 16, 17 and 1800 blocks of Charles, St. Paul and Calvert Streets to initiate that area's AFRO Clean Block participation.

Much of the work done involved removing bulk trash from backyards, as well as sweeping streets and alleys. Part of the criteria for the city's rat eradication team to visit neighborhoods is for residents to remove bulk trash and to place all trash in metal cans.

As a result of Saturday's efforts, the rat problems will begin to be handled later this week.

The entire effort was sponsored by THRESHOLD, a community correction center which rehabilitates former convicts. According to spokesperson Mary Lipton the clean-up effort was but one way to help get the THRESHOLD residents and community residents to get to know each other.

"There was a lot of opposition to us moving in here," she said, "but I feel like if we can work with the community, then we can help them with their problems and they in turn can help our residents get re-acclimatized to society."

Lipton also said that the community correction center feels a responsibility to the neighborhood.

"We feel that since we're here, we have a responsibility. We're already an organization, we have access to things that the neighborhood residents don't. We can help them to understand some things while we help our residents work in the real world."

The neighborhood has many problems, she continued. Because many of the landlords live in other cities, the tenants have no real access to getting the kind of help they need. And there is also the problem of being afraid to confront the landlords on issues that could make the neighborhood better all-round.

"Take the problem of, rats," said Lipton. "We have gone into many homes and gotten people to sign permission slips for the rat eradication team to come in and bait."

"We had a community meeting to decide to do this, and what we found out was that many of the residents were afraid to express their concerns to their landlords for fear of being evicted."

"That's where we can help. I feel we can let the residents know what they should expect from the landlords, and to know that they cannot be evicted for demanding certain things." Lipton added that the residents probably would get a lot of threats from the landlords, but that would be about all.

"It's something that they should know. Knowing what can and cannot be done to them could help this area out quite a bit, and I think THRESHOLD can be of great assistance."

In addition to sponsoring the area's clean block activities, THRESHOLD plans to take some of the neighborhood youngsters to the Inner Harbor this summer for special activities. Lipton said that as a result of the center's activities the neighborhood residents are starting to warm up to accepting them.

Julia Morgan is the director of the center.

Residents of the 1600, 1700 and 1800 blocks of Charles, Calvert and St. Paul Streets pooled together energies and resources last Saturday and cleaned backyards, vacant lots, alleys and streets. The AFRO Clean Block Campaign was begun in the area by Threshold, a community correction center located at 1702 St. Paul Street. Rat eradication teams will now begin working in the area.

One of the most effective ways to keep rats from infesting your area is to keep all trash in metal trash cans, with covers. Shown here are trash cans in the 1700 block of St. Paul.

Do you want rat team?

Do you want the rat eradication team to come to your neighborhood?

You must do the following:

1. Remove all bulk trash from your yard.
2. Put all trash in metal trashcans with covers.
3. Sign a permission slip for the rat team to come into your backyard.
4. Keep Your Property Clean!

Fun Wagons for summer

The Mayor's Office of Special Projects has announced the 1980 Fun Wagon schedule. The program will begin Tuesday, July 1 and will run to August 15.

The five mobile recreation units travel throughout city neighborhoods so that basketball, volleyball and small equipment play are available to children of all ages.

For more information on the Fun Wagon program, please call the Mayor's Office of Special Projects at 396-4891.

IN MEMORIAM

GREEN A In memoriam tribute to the memory of my loving Mother ROSINA GREEN who passed June 30, 1953 - Nothing but memories as I journey on Long for a smile of a loved one gone
None knows the depths of my deep regrets
But I remember and never forget
Loving Daughter
FLORINA GREEN TERRY

MABRY - In loving memory of my dear husband, REV. JOHN MABRY, who passed away June 30, 1979.
I have lost my soul's companion
A life linked with my own.
And day by day I miss him more
As I walk through life alone.
Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast.
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none to fill
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven we will meet again.
