Columbia Silhouettes host Sunday Social

By Flanie L. Ross

The Columbia (Md.) Silhouettes entertained Silhouettes from the seven other Metropolitan Chapters of the Eastern Providence recently.

Billed as a Sunday Silhouette Social, the Columbia, Md. event was held to promote friendship and to improve communications.

The central theme was reflected on the front cover of the invitations in a design entitled "Silhouette Symphony" created by Doris Ligon with calligraphy by Wylene Burch.

"Silhouette Symphony" linked the names of the eight Metropolitan Chapters in a crossword puzzle design. The same design was used on the cake centerpiece, which also included the Silhouette emblem and Columbia, Md.'s trademark, the People Tree.

Upon arrival, each lady was greeted by President Joyce Estes, by Mamie Gattis, Patricia Toney and other local chapter members. As name tags were issued, the guests were asked to sign the red and white guest book.

Each Silhouette was offered the refreshment of wine or iced tea and was asked to choose two numbers to be used in a game that was planned for mid-way the afternoon.

Refreshments were arranged on coordinated tables of red and white; guests were encouraged to help themselves. From 2 to 5 p.m. salads, desserts, wines, and iced tea, supplied by members of the Columbia Silhouettes, were served as conversation and fellowship abounded.

One highlight of the afternoon was the traditional presentation by the Columbia Silhouettes of a Silhouette bracelet to the out-going president. Joyce Estes was presented this momento at the conclusion of her welcoming remarks.

Later, Lorraine Dorsey led the group of forty Silhouettes in a game in which everyone was awarded a prize.

The Sunday Silhouette Social was coordinated by the 1981 Eastern Province Planning Committee: Doris Ligon, chairman; Lorraine Dorsey, vice-chairman; Wylene Burch, secretary; Darrah Hall, Roberta Briscoe, Danese Moore, Alice Coleman, and Fern Rogers, wife of the Polemarch of the Columbia (Md.) Alumni Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, and in whose home the social was held.

Guests included Betty Mello, representing Elva Edwards, National Silhouette president, and Geraldine Fowlkes, Eastern Regional Coordinator. Chapters represented were: Baltimore, Washington, Silver Spring, Alexandria-Fairfax, Aberdeen, Annapolis, and Hyattsville-Landover.

formerly "resy" student from New Hampshire.

Those fabulous Columbia Kappa's are in the news again. The group will be sponsoring the Arena Players in "Livin Fat" Sunday, October 5th at 7 p.m. at Wilde Lake Interfaith Center.

If you arrive about 6 p.m. you'll be able to sip a glass of wine with cheese, and during intermission. The admission is $10.00. William Rogers is the very able policemarch.

Speaking of plays, if you missed last Friday night's performance of The Free Spirit Theater held at the Community College of Baltimore, Liberty Campus, you missed a treat. (cuit note) nothing but good vibrations came from the capacity audience as they chatted among themselves concerning the fine acting of the group.

The three one-act plays performed were "Man on The Mountain" and "Dividing Line," both written by the young genius and talented Dr. Percy W. Thomas, actor, director of the Free Spirit Theater in Baltimore. The third one act play was written by Reiva Scott and was called "Red Tape."

The lively group lingered until 1 a.m. sipping wine and eating cheese.

The productions will continue every Friday and Saturday night in October at the Liberty Campus. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Dr. Thomas is a former Arena player and given credit to Sam Wilson, founder of the Arena Playhouse and actors James Earl Jones and Louis Gossett for his teaching. He has appeared in over 40 plays including movies and TV commercials.

The extense artist has developed a psycho-social model of teaching drama which increases insight into character and personality development through the developing presence, learning to speak before groups with confidence and enhancing creative ability.

Dr. Thomas is teaching a six-week acting workshop here in Columbia, including students from the University of Maryland.

If you are interested in becoming a part of the upcoming workshop, please call 730-8689 or 653-3311 after 5 p.m.

Pretty Miss Gail Hilson, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Robert Hilson (Jackie) has left for Paris to do research on her Ph.D. in music history.

The scholar genius who received her BA degree from Goucher College, also received a Phi Bata Kappa Key upon graduation.

She received her M.A. degree from Yale University, where she attended with a complete scholarship. While at Goucher and Yale she was the top student on the Dean's List.

We congratulate Miss Hilson for her accomplishments and hope that her five months in Paris will be successful.

If you are at home on Sundays at 1 p.m. check out "Sunday Live" on Channel 13. The program has a new hostess. She is charming attorney, Georgia Goslee, a 33-year-old lady with seven years experience in the courts as an attorney.

She is the former assistant states attorney in St. Louis and is practicing law in Columbia and the Metropolitan area.

If her face looks familiar to you, yes, you have seen her on "Square Off" a weekly TV show also.
