Big Sisters host fundraiser

If you wanted a lovely way to enjoy a rainy Saturday you should have joined the Baltimore Chapter of Big Sisters Inc. at their Luncheon-Card Party held on Oct. 25.

The Forum, Primrose Ave., was filled with guests who had come in spite of the torrential rains outside and who were in bubbly spirits.

Iris Williams, president, presided. Dr Charlene Cooper Boston welcomed all and Lilyan Slater led everyone in prayer.

A verbal tribute in memory of late Big Sister Mrs. Helen Mae Fox Chamberlain, was paid by the Rev. Marie Braxton.

While guests feasted on a delicious luncheon, models (from among the Big Sisters) aired stunning fashions from the Dulaney Shoppe, Towson, in a mini-fashion show, with Curt Anderson, program director WWIN Radio, moderating.

Cathryn Stanford made the Big Sister's scholarship award presentation, which went to Diane Long, a graduate at the top of her Dunbar

Miss Long has already completed two college level courses at Boston University, where she is presently enrolled.

The assemblage was sadly reminded that their previous year's awardee, Valerie Perdue recently died of a cardiac arrest.

On a lighter note, the guests were thrilled with the fabulous door prizes awarded by Big Sisters Ernestine Press and Doris Wiggins to lucky ticket stub holders.

They oohed and aahed over fashion accessories, jewelry and millinery they received, compliments of Vi Stein of the Dulaney Shoppe.

I sat at a table for several rounds of Bingo with Betty Meads, of School No. 11; Connie Bell, SLD resource teacher, School No. 261; Annamaria Joyner, senior teacher at School No. 11; Eloise Claude and Mildred Duckwilder of Washington, D.C.; Shirley Powers of School 261, Tessie Epps and Loretta Moody, of the Northeast Middle School.

There were several winners at my table but I was not that lucky. Nevertheless it was fun to watch as winners got their lovely and useful prizes.

At other tables guests were vying for prizes at pinochle and bridge. Many walked away proudly tucking their prizes underarm. Spotted Mary C. of WWIN Radio who excitedly showed off her prize.

Goldie Moody, of New York City won the 50-50 raffle, which was drawn by Mrs. Rosetta Paige, 67 years young and looking good.

It was a fantastic afternoon — so much fun that you forget about the weather outside and just joined in the lively camaraderie of the occasion.

At other times, in addition to making a scholarship award the Big Sisters have contributed to the AFRO's Mrs. Santa Logue of Crippled Children, Kidney Foundation, AFRO Clean Block, YMCA, YWCA, Veterans Hos Hospital and the NAACP.

Bernita Fuller, vice president; Ernestine Bland, recording secretary; Imogene Douglas, financial secretary; Ida Nicholas, treasurer and Credella White, parliamentarian.

Four of the classmembers of former teacher, Ms. Mae Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hucles and Herbert Frisby were invited.

Ms. Miller and the Hucleses were ill and Mr. Frisby was out of town.

It was interesting to note that there were siblings in the class. They were: J. Hughes and Mary Carter, Raymond and Jerome Kelly, Mary and Edward Williams, Thelma and Theodore Savage, Warren and William Nixon, and the twins - Beatrice and Beulah Williams.

Several romances developed which later resulted in marriage — Mattie Tignor and William Gardner, Mary Williams and Theodore Savage, and Thelma Hopes and Samuel Johnson.

Here's a little secret. The classes of 1930 were asked to meet in the foyer to have pictures taken. They were given 10 minutes to assemble. Others went to the foyer to see them. The way they acted was the same way they must have behaved 50 years ago. They acted like teen - agers but they were so beautiful.

The class reunion would not have been possible if the following classmates had not put as much work into the planning. The Reunion Committee Officers stated that it was more fun than work.

The officers are: Alice M. Carroll, chairperson; Anita E. Hall, co - chairperson; Leides W. Gambrill, secretary; Zelma C. Douglass, treasurer, and C. Earl Anderson, business manager.

Hilda Smith Randall from Detroit, Mich. was the guest of her sister Anita Hall. Hilda's escort was William Harris, who came from East Orange, N.J. to be with her.

Hilda was able to spend an enjoyable week with her mother, Mrs. Annie Smith, who is 94 years young. "Miss Annie" as all fondly call her, is doing well and is looking good.

Mrs. Smith attends services at Ames Church every Sunday morning with her daughter, Anita and her beloved son - in - law, Charles Hall. Congratulations to a grand "Young" Lady.

The members of the February and June classes of 1930 who attended the reunion were: C. Earl Anderson, James Allen, Ruth W. Brown, Alberta D. Briggs, Dorothy Butler, Rosa R. Bowles, Alice T. Carroll, J. Mae Carroll, Cora R. Cunningham, Vesta B. Copeland, Laura F. Churchill, Ava J. Chatman, Anne M. Chester, Carolyn S. Carter, Regina L. Dow, Calvin J. Davenport, Beulah W. Darkins, Virginia S. Day, Cheerdale M. Davis, Zelma C. Douglass; Mary B. Frasier, Louise W. Gambrill, Mildred L. Gambrill, Mattie T. Gardner, Beatrice W. Hammond, Anita E. Hall, Lavinia H. Theodore Savage, Levis Sewell, Oscar E. Shorter, Rae P. Scott, Edward Tarter, Milton Turner, Constance Vaiden, David Wright, Edward A. Williams and Alyce K. Young.

The out of town members who attended were: Helen Tabb Ayers, Centerville, Md.; Clementine R. Cannes, St. Louis, Mo.; J. Hughes Carter, Mary C. Francis, Bessie J. Gould, Tennie W. McLendon, all from Washington, D.C.; Alma Woolford, Bronx, N.Y.; John T. Nicholson, Phila., Pa.; Martha C. Greene, Easton, Md., and Thelma H. Johnson, Long Island, N.Y.

Out of town guests attending were: Charles D. Caldwell, Easton, Md.; Vonzalia O. Caldwell, Easton, Md.; Erma and Donald Hall, Washington, D.C. and W. Ayers, Centerville, Md.
