Lambda Kappa Mu marks Founders' Day

LAMBDA KAPPA MU HONOREES — Mrs. Pearl Hall, (far L) and Soror Alma Redden (far R) were the recipients of the Distinguished Service Key—Awards (the sorority's highest honor) during the Iota Chapter's recent Founders' Day celebration. Grand Basileus Venice Harvey (second from L) and Basileus, Iota Chapter Soror Marie Dowell (second from R) look on.

The Iota Chapter, Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority, Inc. celebrated its 44th Founders Day at a luncheon meeting at Blue Crest North recently.

The theme was "Improving the Quality of Life — Meeting Community and National Needs."

Soror Shirley Watkins, Founders' Day chairperson presided.

The banquet room was decorated in the sorority colors of red and white, with a birthday cake on each table.

The invocation was given by Soror Veta Greig. Greetings were extended to sorors and guests by Soror E. Monterey Williams, first anti-basileus of Iota Chapter.

380 sorors, guests and Kopelles (Youth group of the sorority) dined on a delicious baked chicken entree, with complimentary vegetables, while being continuously entertained with music provided by the Haithcock Ensemble.

A solo was rendered by Tiatus Spratley.

The history of Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority was given by Soror Catherine DuFord.

Introduction of the speaker, Congressman Parren Mitchell, was done by Soror Ovella D. Queen.

Congressman Mitchell's inspiring message awakened everyone to ways in which we need to become more forceful and aware of what is happening to our government.

From his remarks, which each person should have been able to relate to, one could evaluate himself and decide how he or she could help "improve the quality of life — meeting community and national needs."

He made the assemblage aware of the crises we will be facing with our new Congress and the fact that at present we are going through a period of redefining the role of the government and the economic system.

He stated that without government every program requiring human survival for black people will be destroyed.

He predicted that in 20 years we will be facing a black American society where the young people have had no taste of higher education because they couldn't afford it, no future black leaders because of the lack of education.

"I am held hostage and so are you . . . every black man, woman and child is a hostage" he said.

Congressman Mitchell admonished that "It is time for us to pull our talents and skills together to fight. If we have the will and commitment we can stop these changes before they start."

Following the guest speaker's remarks, the Kopelles entertained guests singing "Lift Every Voice and Sing." Interwoven with their presentation of The Legacy of Mary McLeod Bethune. The 29 youths, aged 13-18, were also hostesses for the luncheon.

Iota Chapter received the Golden Heritage Membership and Regular Life Membership Award of the NAACP which consists of a certificate and plaque, presented by Enolia McMillan, local NAACP president.

Iota Chapter made monetary contributions to Baltimore's Emergency Fuel Fund, Business Girls' Lodge, AFRO's Clean Block, Cylburn Home for Children, AFRO's Mrs. Santa Project and the Girl Scouts of Central Maryland.

The highest honor given any soror is the Distinguished Service Key. Iota presented this award to Pearl J. Hall and Alma F. Redden for their outstanding contributions to the sorority, as exemplified in their lives, professions, outstanding deeds to scholarship, achievement, sisterhood and service.

Grand Basileus Venice Harvey, presented the awards and citations to the two honorees. National Awards Chair, Elizabeth Lockett, was also present.

Remarks were given by Thelma Addison, Northeastern Regional Director of Lambda Kappa Mu and Basileus Marie Dowell, Iota Chapter. Rachel Thompson delivered the benediction.

On the Founders' Day Committee were Shirley Watkins, chair; Rachel Thompson, co-chair; Thelma Addison, Elaine Alexander, Augusta Amos, L. Olivia Bates, Elizabeth Day, Catherine DeFord, Imogene Douglass, Marie Dowell, Panace Ewell, Hazel Cause, Glennia Hill, Josephine Maxwell, Dorothy Pollard, Ovella Queen, Arabella Ross, Bertha Wooden and Marguerite Yates.

Officers are Marie Dowell, basileus; E. Monterey Williams, first anti-basileus; Elizabeth Day, second anti-basileus; Dorothy C. Smith, recording grammateus; Laura P. Smith, financial grammateus; Lenora Terrell, corresponding grammateus; Marguerite Yates, tamiochus; Iota Wroten, parliamentarian and Elaine Alexander, epistoleus.

Flair Studio expands to agency status

Willa Bland

Flair Studio has just become a one stop fashion market. For years, people have been talking about Flair Studio and all its working parts; self improvement for women and girls, ballet for children, adult dance, exotic professional models and the super looks of its classy fashion shows.

Recently licensed as Maryland's only Black owned Modeling Agency, Flair Studio has branched out into the business of developing and marketing models for the far reaching fashion show, hostess and demonstration market.

It joins other fashion giants such as Barbizon, Faces and Patricia Stevens with its agency status.

Flair Studio and its subsidiaries, Flair Studio of Dance and its new star, Flair Modeling Agency is co-directed by the fashion setting family team of Willia and Andrea Bland.

Since the founding of the Studio in 1969, it has enjoyed a reputation for creativity and quality, becoming in the process an experienced community institution.

Among its many successes have been the benefit Orchard Street fashion show, the all teen Back To School fashion show, the only area professional fashion show for teenagers, now in its fourth year and direction of the Provident Hospital Auxiliary's all designer fashion show, for the past nine years.

Willa Bland is also consultan. to the Urban Services "Miss Inner City Pageant." Gwen Kellam, professional model and instructor at the Studio, manages the Studio's program for girls at the Staton Community Center in Annapolis.

Quianna Cooke, home economics teacher at Harlem Park Junior High School, uses her expertise as a Flair Studio model in her work with the school's charm and self improvement class for the students.

Other staff members include Anthony Edgerton, Dance Director, Frances Stevenson, Dance Assistant, Carolyn White, Instructor, Alein White, Instructor and Educational Planner, Janice Moses, Public Relations and Shawan Patterson, Marketing and Development.

George W. Carver Day Program

Despite the very, very cold weather on Sunday, Jan. 11, Alpha Alpha Sigma Chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority and their friends braved the cold and gathered at Heritage United Church of Christ to attend an outstanding program commemorating George Washington Carver.

The program was chaired by Soror Dr. Brenda Black, who had obtained the Paul Robeson Drama Club and the Glee Club of her school, Walbrook Senior High, to perform.

Mrs. Cheryl Pasteur, teacher of the Drama Club, gave an original presentation about Carver. The Male Glee Club was directed by William "Bill" Cummings.

Soror Lesley Hammock, a student of Oberlin College, rendered several beautiful spirituals that were favorites of Dr. Carver's.

Milton Blecher, principal of Carver Vocational School praised the sorors for their endeavor to remember such a great man and informed the audience of Carver's many accomplishments.

Among the highlights was a message from Jesse Herring, a Tuskegee alumni, who encouraged the group and gave information about the Institute.

Basileus Alice Sue Lee thanked the audience and explained the Proclamation that had been granted by Congress during Presicent Lyndon Johnson's administration making January 5 George Washington Carver Day.

More Partyline

Kemps mark silver year

Recently Mr. and Mrs. James Kemp celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary, when their three daughters Karen, Yvette and Dianne hosted a 25th Anniversary Surprise Party in their parents honor at the Lantern Room on Harford Rd.

The affair was an overwhelming surprise to the couple and, according to them, one of those momentous occasions they'll always treasure.

Daughter Diane stated of the occasion, "I personally enjoyed organizing such a joyous affair and theres no other couple like my mother and father more deserving of such love and recognition."

James Kemp is a General Motors Employee. His wife, Elizabeth, is supervisor in the Baltimore office of the Comptroller, State Office Building.

Special highlight of the evening, in addition to the dining and laughter and well wishes of friends of the who attended, was an original poem, by Diane, which extolled the virtues of her parents and which spelled out the love and respect that their children have for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp are members of Mt. Hebron Church.

Their daughters are all leading constructives lives. Diane is an undergraduate at the University of Baltimore, pursuing a B.A. degree in Business Administration.

Karen is a graduate of Morgan U with a B.A. in Mental Health and a Child Care Specialist and Yvette is a Western High School junior enrolled in the special College Prep program.

Parkers mark golden year

Recently the elaborate decorations of the Monticello Road home of the Judson (Delores) Kerr provided the perfect setting when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin W. (Mary) Parker marked their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Before family and friends the Parkers renewed their wedding vows. The impressive ceremony was conducted by his pastor, the Rev. George Allen, pastor of St. Paul United Methodist Church.

For the affair, Mrs. Parker, the former Mary Hall, was radiant in two piece floor length gown in a soft shade of pink. A matching corsage and rhinestone and silver accessories completed her attractive ensemble.

Highlight of the event were toasts to the honorees by their children, family and friends. There was special music by Syeeda Gantt, and a monetary gift by the Parker children. An elaborate catered repast followed.

The anniversary observance was given by the four Parker children: Mrs. Delores Parker Kerr, budget analyst for the Department of the Army at Fort Meade; Calvin Parker Jr. speech therapist in the Baltimore schools; Reginald, a realtor and college instructor. The other daughter is Miss Jean Parker.

Other members of the family present were Judson and David Kerr, husband and son, respectively, of Mrs. Delores Parker; Mrs. Calvin (Anita) Parker Jr. and children, Kim, Calvin III, and Mary Beth.

Among other guests were Messers and Mesdames Hugh Cooper, Charles Hall, Morsell Hines, Luther Locke, Leroy Scott, William Clark, James Cole, Thomas Gray, Arthur Creigler and Harry Peaker.

Also the Rev. George Allen, Judge and Mrs. Milton Allen, Mesdames Frances Bibbs, Mary Colclick, Jeannette Campbell and Gloria Gantt.
