Brig. Gen. Charles R. Jiggetts

BRIG. GEN. CHARLES B. JIGGETS - Stationed in Hawaii, General Jiggetts is director, communications and data processing in the Pacific Command Camp in that state, where he has been since 1979.

His current position puts him in command of managing military communications and data processing staff activities requiring coordinated Air Force, Navy, Army and Marine Corps operations throughout the Pacific Command area.

BORN IN Henderson, N.C. in 1926, Gen. Jiggetts received his undergraduate degree from Howard Univ. in political science in 1950 and completed courses in the Air Command and Staff College in 1963. He also attended the Air War College in 1970 and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in 1972.

Like the other generals, General Jiggets served in the Vietnam

Brig. Gen. Archer Durham

GEN. ARCHER DURHAM - Born June 3, 1952, General Durham is currently the commander of the 76th Airlift Division, Military Airlift Commander of Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland. His command includes the 1776th air base wing. the 89th military airlift wing and the Makolm Grow U.S. Air Force Medical Center at Andrews.

In addition, Gen. Durham oversees the U.S. Air Force Band and the U.S. Air Force Honor Guard at Bolling Air Force Base in Washington, D.C.

A native of California, General Durham attended high school in Pasadena before travelling to Utah to receive a B.S. degree in political science from Utah State

Brig. Gen. James T. Broddie, Jr.

Brig. Gen. James T. Boddie Jr.,: The deputy director for operations at the National Command Center in Washington, D.C., Boddie was born Oct. 18, 1931 in Baltimore, Md., and graduated from Douglass High School in 1949.

After receiving his undergraduate degree from Howard University in Washington, D.C. Gen. Boddie attended the Academic Instructors School and Squadron Center in Alabama, and later the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in D.C.

-lop Rank

By Antoinette de Silva

electronics requirements officer with the Seventh Air Force in Tan Son Nhut in the Republic of Vietnam for one year before returning to the states in 1967 as a joint communications officer

Univ. in 1960. He followed that degree with a Master of Science degree in International affairs from George Washington Univ. in Washington, D.C. in 1975, and received military training at the Squadron Officer School at

In 1961, General Boddie

returned to the Air Force Reserves

Officers' Training Program as a commandant of cadets at Tuskegee Institute, where he also taught military aspects of world political geography and international relations to senior

He volunteered for combat duty in Southeast Asia and was assigned to the 559th tactical

Fighter Squadron in Cam Ranh

Bay Air Base in the Republic of Vietnam in 1966. Primarily a operations and scheduling officer,

General Boddie also flew 201-F-4 combat missions, including 57

missions over Vietnam.

Maj. Gen. Titus Hall

MAJOR GEN. TITUS HALL, deputy for reconnaissance and electronic warfare systems in Ohio, was promoted in 1978.

A graduate of the Univ. USC, 1971. He flew combat missions in Vietnam for over a year.

After the war, General Hall became chief avionics engineer for the B-1 strategic manned bomber at Wright Patterson Air Force-Base in Ohio, and, after the design and test of the B-1 avionics suite, became systems program director of the division's Avionics program office.

Born May 8, 1928 in Texas, he received his undergraduate degree in electronical engineering from Tuskegee Institute in 1952, and was a distinguished graduate of the ROTC program.

He began active duty with the Air Force in 1952, and in 1953, was assigned a communications intelligence operations officer with the U.S. Air Force Security Service in Japan.

Brig. Gen. Avon James BRIG. GEN. AVON JAMES is currently director of computer resources at the Office of the Comptroller of the Air Force, Headquarters, U.S. Air Force, Washington, D.C., Gen. James is overall management of the Air Force's data processing program.

Born in Hampton, Virginia, in 1930, he attended schools in Baltimore, Maryland, where he graduated from Douglass High School in 1947.

He earned a Masters degree in 1951 from Morgan State University.

General James was an enlistee in the Air Force and first served as weather observer with the air weather service before he decided to enter officer candidate school. Commissioned as a second lieutenant in June of 1953, Gen. James attended Personnel Officer School, and was then assigned to the 81st Fighter Wing, Royal Air Force Station, in England.

Randolph

BERNARD RANDOLPH - Brig. Gen. Bernard Randolph is vice commander of Warner Robins Air Logistics Center, at Robins Air Force Base in Georgia, where he has been since July, 1980.

Gen. Randolph began his military career in 1959, when he completed Squadron Officer School. He completed Air Command and Staff graduate. He was also a War College (1969) and also received a Masters degree in

He was appointed deputy for space defense systems at Space Division headquarters in Los Angeles in 1978. He managed a program to design and develop the U.S. anti-satellite system, including supporting surveillance, command and control, and survivability aspects.

Brig. Gen. Bernard

Promoted to general in 1980, College as a distinguished distinguished graduate of the Air Business Administration from Auburn Univ. in Alabama in 1969.

You loved it as a kid.

That special fruity taste...kids today love it as much as you did.

That's a good reason to serve Kool-Aid Brand Unsweetened Soft Drink

Mix instead of soda. Vitamin C is another. And with your sugar, Kool-Aid is Kool-And one-third the price of soda*